First Annual Ball.
The first annual ball given by Center lodge of the Boilermakers' Helpers at Lloyd's opera house Friday evening was well attended and proved a most pleasant affair. Music was furnished for the occasion by Cunningham's orchestra and was fully up to the standard. The committee having the dance in charge worked faithfully to make the dance a success and that they succeeded will be admitted by all who attended, the general opinion being that it was one of the most pleasant social functions of the season.

"The Denver Express."
The play achieved one of the hits of last season. It contains liberal portions of rattling comedy and dramatic "thrills." It is built up of the materials that appeal to the theatre goers who admire the simpler virtues. The villain can always be relied upon to merit the honest hatred of his audience and the comic gentleman has an iron bound contract with the author that he be given an opportunity to furnish a laugh every thirty seconds. "The Denver Express" admits of novel scenic effects and the company presenting it has a well established reputation for effective work. At the opera house Thursday evening, Oct. 23d.

Coal Trust Signed Death Warrant.
A Washington dispatch says: Anti-trust legislation and anti-railroad legislation has been advanced ten years. This is the opinion expressed by such veterans of public life as Senator George G. Vest and Matthew Stanley Quay. Both are conservative and worldly wise, and both have had a long experience with matters legislative. This opinion which they have expressed more or less publicly, is shared by President Roosevelt, and in fact, by almost every public man in Washington.

Members of the inter-state commerce commission believe that the government regulation for which they stand, and for which, in larger measure, they have worked assiduously, will be now vastly easier to secure from congress. Political economists with a leaning toward socialism say that they have gained much in this demonstration of the necessity for a stronger government control, and government ownership of monopolies, particularly the railroad companies.

Public attention has been centered upon one trust, and the general public has been compelled to witness a spectacle of arrogance and sordid greed such as no one believed possible.

The selfishness and power of the trust has been brought home to each citizen, and it has been made plain to everyone that there is no security for individual liberty unless these great industrial monsters are chained.

Roosevelt is not blind to the opportunity presented. He is no new convert to the doctrine that the trust must be cured; but he knows that there are times when public sentiment is awake and ready for action, and he believes that this winter is one of those favorable junctures.

Congress will hear from him this winter on the subject of this and other trusts, and it may be predicted with safety that the matter will not be dropped until there have been results. If necessary, there will be an extra session of congress to consider this one line of legislation.

The coal trust has killed the goose of public complaisance which has laid the golden egg.

BETWEEN THE RIVERS.

Several young people enjoyed a social dance at the Harris residence last Friday night.

Mrs. Henry Weil is rapidly recovering from her recent illness.

Mrs. J. C. Gyger of Hershey and sister from up the line were North Platte visitors on Friday of last week.

Grant Bare recently finished putting in thirty-five acres of fall wheat for J. G. Pecken near Nichols.

Miss Gertie Jeffers has resumed charge of her school at Nichols after attending the funeral of her mother who died and was buried at North Platte the first of last week.

The potato harvest is about completed in the valley for this season. The crop is the best for several years previous.

Chas. Toillion finished picking the apples in his orchard one day last week which amounted to better than one hundred and fifty bushels.

The fine weather for the past week has been the means of putting a large tonnage of beets and baled hay on the market.

The entertainment given by the Junior League in the school house about a week ago was well attended and a fine program rendered to the satisfaction of all present. After the entertainment refreshments were served to which ample justice was done. The social had been postponed once owing to the rainy weather.

The highways leading to the different stations in the valley are lined with teams hauling baled hay and sugar beets to them at the present time.

Chas. Gummere sold Tom Ireland, of Moorefield, a horse the other day which he delivered at the county seat.

Henry Fulk and family of Hershey were at the county seat on business last Saturday.

B. R. Fletcher will have a public dipping vat for stock put in at the Hershey stock yards this week where parties can dip their stock at a very small expense.

O. H. Eyerly purchased a span of bay mares three and four years of age, weight about 1,500 pounds each of Maurice Fowler at North Platte one day last week. Consideration two hundred and twenty-five dollars.

C. S. Trovillo informed the writer lately that he sent to Rose Hill, New York, last spring for three bushels of Early Fortune potatoes, which he planted and recently harvested fifty bushels from the three bushels.

Messrs. Wm. H. Sullivan, D. M. Leydold, Frank Hencke, Chas. Toillion, Albert McConnell, Chas. Gummere and A. W. Arnett, transacted business at the county seat on Saturday of last week.

A man residing in this vicinity stated to the writer only the other day that he would pay three cents per bushel and board for husking corn this fall.

We are told by a party who knows that it will not damage sugar beets to freeze if they remain in that condition until they are delivered at the factory, but it does damage them to freeze and thaw previous to that.

The highways are in good condition again and considerable travel is in progress.

Out of Death's Jaws.

"When death seemed very near from a severe stomach and liver trouble, that I had suffered for years," writes P. Muse, Durham, N. C., "Dr. King's New Life Pills saved my life and gave perfect health." Best pills on earth and only 25c at A. F. Streit's Drug Store.

T. C. PATTERSON, Manager, North Platte, Neb.

News has been received of the death of Major Bonesteel, who was stationed at Fort Sidney from 1884 to 1895. The Major died at sea from cholera and his remains were cremated at Nagasaki, Japan, and shipped to the family at Plattsburg, N. Y.

The village board of Sidney is considering a proposition made by the Union Pacific company to furnish arc lights for the streets and incandescent lights for residences. The company expects to install a plant in the immediate future for its shops and yards at Sidney and will furnish lights for the town if such is desired.

The creditors of J. S. Romine have asked for an injunction to restrain Attorneys W. P. Miles and J. L. McIntosh of Sidney, from turning the notes and money, aggregating more than $26,000, over to any one but the marshal for the district of Nebraska, whom they ask shall be appointed receiver of the affairs of the bankrupt. According to a petition filed in Judge Munger's court Romine received from his nephew and from other persons notes to the amount of $25,000 and had $1,600 on his person when captured in Massachusetts, all of which he placed in the hands of Miles and McIntosh, his attorneys.
