Appointed Special Agent.

Errett O. Fuller, who for a number of years has been clerk of the local United States land office, received notice this morning of his appointment as special agent of the U. S. general land office, a position with a very good salary attached. The appointment comes as a reward of meritorious work, and not by reason of any political "pull". His record as a clerk has been excellent, and all his North Platte friends will be glad to learn of his advancement.

At this time his headquarters have not been designated, but they will probably be North Platte.

E. A. Stone Gets Light Fine.

Several weeks ago it was mentioned in these columns that E. A. Stone had been arrested at Hershey on the charge of wife desertion and taken back to LaPorte, Ind., for trial. From a paper of that place it is learned that Stone was assessed a fine of $10 and costs and disfranchised for three years. His attorney at once entered a motion for a new trial. While on the stand as a witness, Stone told the story of his life. The strange part of the tale, which was later admitted by his wife, was that a man named Knott, who lived with them for seven years was a former husband of Mrs. Stone, who, by the way had been married three times before she made a matrimonial alliance with Stone. It was only a year ago that Stone learned that Knott was an ex-husband of his wife, and it was then that he decided to leave her. Mrs. Stone while on the witness stand admitted that Knott, who posed as her brother, was really her second husband, and that she was the mother of his eight children but she denied that there had been anything wrong, even tho he had lived in the house for seven years.

High Assessment.

EDITOR TRIBUNE.—There is great complaint among the real estate owners of the high valuation the assessor has placed upon real estate, but he is not entirely to blame for he must place the value at what property sells for and not what he thinks it is worth. A tidal boom has swept over the city the past two years and some realty sold at more than double its value and this fact put a fictitious value on all other realty; but ebb tide has returned and the real estate has settled back to its former value. However, if there is not concerted action real estate owners will have to pay at least thirty per cent more than they really ought to.

The way to meet the case is for the real estate owners to form a league and post up on facts and when the county commissioner meet as a board of equalization send an authorized committee of the league to the board and show them the injustice of the high valuations and there is no doubt but the commissioners will reduce the valuations. The present valuation was raised ten per cent by the state board, and real estate has not increased more than ten per cent in the last four years.

Real estate owners should hold a mass meeting at the court house and organize a league to look after their interests, and appoint committees in each ward who will look up real estate assessing in other cities so as to make a good case before the commissioners. That will be the correct way to get justice.

Fine Concert.

The cornet band, under the leadership of Cal. Lowell, gave a concert last evening at the intersection of Dewey and Sixth streets before a large and appreciative audience. The program consisted of six or eight numbers, every one of which was well rendered; in fact there was not one in a hundred knew that North Platte had such an organization, and therefore there was considerable surprise and gratification at the quality of the music rendered.

This organization should be encouraged by the financial support of our people, and if this support is given, the band will gladly render a series of open air concerts during the summer months. These concerts, we are certain, will prove pleasing to all our people. Leader Lowell will find The Tribune ready to drop a few simoleons into the hat when it is passed around, and we know that other citizens stand ready to do the same.

Sure Cure for Hog Cholera.

"A cure for hog cholera has at last been found, provided the animal be treated soon enough," said Dr. A. T. Peters, of Lincoln, head of the department of animal pathology of the University of Nebraska.

"The hog cholera scourge has heretofore resisted the efforts of veterinarians," said Dr. Peters. "We have been proceeding on the theory that the cholera germ was discovered and treatment has been given in the form of injections of a germ culture, which was not a cure. In every new case has it proved efficacious. The discovery of Dr. N. Dorsett of the biochemic department of the bureau of animal industry, Washington, appears to have solved the problem. Tried in thirty or forty herds throughout Iowa, where experiments have recently been made it has cured well established cases of the disease. This must be combined with the injection of the serum of an animal already immune. The production of a vaccine by means of infected blood instead of artificial culture of the germ is the basis of the cure.—Omaha Bee.

Mrs. Fiske's Play.

"Rosmersholm," Mrs. Fiske's new offering for this season, which she and the Manhattan company will present at the opera house June 11th is, like nearly all of the plays of Ibsen, universal in its truth to human nature. While the scene is laid in Norway, there is nothing peculiar to Scandinavia in its story, and were it not for the proper names used, this might be a "slice of life" in our own land or anywhere. The same battle between conservatism and liberalism is going on the world over, and who knows how many lovers there have been like Rosmer's and Rebecca's, where the stronger will on the threshold of accomplished purpose succumbed to and was ennobled by the gentler nature. Ibsen is almost alone among modern playwrights in creating, not stage puppets, but real figures, to whom the actor gives life and whose every action is the logical outcome of their nature and environment. Than, too, he distills from the life we know the very essence of the dramatic that in the brief limit of a play has extraordinary strength.
