"The Winter Tale"

On Friday evening of next week Chas. B. Hanford supported by Miss Drofna and a company of thirty will present "The Winter's Tale." This play is written in Shakespeare's best vein, and there is so much thought, character, humor and philosophy in it that an audience is certainly entertained. In the dual role of Leontes, King of Sicily, and Antolycus, the rogue, Mr. Hanford appears to best advantage, and the same may be said of Miss Drofna who takes the dual characters of Hermione the queen, and Perdita, the daughter of Hermione. The production is certain to please, and it is believed there will be a large and appreciative audience present.
