Taft Triumphs.

The Omaha Bee's staff correspondent sends the following from Washington:

With every important pledge of the republican party's platform redeemed by legislation, with a list of laws for the relief of the people and the betterment of social conditions unequalled by any congress in history, the first regular and second session of the Sixty-first congress ended Saturday night. It is regarded on all hands as having been most important in its every aspect and really revolutionary in many. The revolt in the house, which culminated in the virtual overturning of the speaker as the autocrat of that body, was the most sensational phase of the session, and in a large way overshadowed its actual accomplishment. But the congress, under inspiration and guidance of President Taft, has achieved results that must be for the good of the people of the United States.

President Taft set his heart upon the accomplishment of a definite legislative program and he has achieved it. The new railroad law, most comprehensive and sweeping in its provisions, even called drastic in its regulations; the postal saving bill, the commerce court, the tariff court, the admission of two new states—Arizona and New Mexico—but the high spots in the record. The president has fully established himself as an energetic and capable leader of legislation, as well as an executive of firmness and ability. He stands before the American people today stronger and more completely established in his office than even his most ardent advocates had expected.

More Facts About Nebraska.

Nebraska was admitted into the union on March 1, 1867. On that date the state contained less than 100,000 inhabitants and these were confined to a comparatively narrow strip bordering on the Missouri river. Then the territory now known as Nebraska was known as "The Great American Desert." Today Nebraska has 1,250,000 inhabitants, the "Great American Desert" is a fast fading memory, and nowhere in all the world is presented such a spectacle of prosperity and development as that presented by the giant young state carved out of the heart of the "desert." In the short space of forty-three years there has been built within the confines of Nebraska an agricultural and industrial empire that is at once the wonder and the admiration of the world.

One hundred and sixty thousand farms.

Four thousand industrial plants.

Six thousand miles of railroad.

The third largest packing center in the world.

The second largest smelter in the world.

The largest creamery in the world.

The largest permanent school fund of any state in the union.

The seventh largest state university.

These are some of the big things possessed by Nebraska—a state less than a half century old, and which less than a half-century ago was designated upon the maps of the world as "The Great American Desert."

The total agricultural, dairy and industrial products of Nebraska in 1909 were worth $850,000,000. If loaded into standard freight cars the products of Nebraska in 1909 would make a freight train over 10,000 miles long. No one state or territory in the union produced enough gold to buy the egg crop of Nebraska in the same year.

The total gold and silver output of the nation in 1909 would scarcely pay for the butter, egg and poultry output of Nebraska in the same year.

The total tobacco crop of the nation in 1909 lacked $22,000,000 of being worth as much as Nebraska's 1909 corn crop.

Nebraska's 1909 crop of corn, wheat, oats and hay was worth $32,000,000 more than Pennsylvania's 1909 crop of anthracite coal.

The nation's output of crude petroleum in 1909 was worth $97,000,000. Nebraska's 1909 corn crop was worth a million dollars more.

Fifteen years ago dairying was practically unknown in Nebraska. A few little creameries were scattered here and there, but they afforded no inducements to the farmers to engage in the dairy industry. With the development of modern methods Nebraska steps into the front rank of dairying states. In 1909 there were over 22,500 hand separators in Nebraska, separating the milk from 540,000 milch cows. From the cream thus separated was manufactured upwards of 50,000,000 pounds of the finest butter in the world.

Nebraska is the greatest alfalfa field in the world.

To the homesicker Nebraskans offers unparalleled advantages and opportunities. Fertile farm lands in the west-central and northwestern parts of the state may be bought for from $20 to $50 an acre, on the most liberal terms of payment. Land in the older settled parts of the state sells for more, of course, but it is a bargain at any price. This land will raise corn, wheat, oats, rye, barley, alfalfa, potatoes, sugar beets—or any other crop that can be raised in the temperature zone—and produce an average yield greater than the average yield of the United States.

Nebraska waits with a welcome for all who come to her to make home within her borders. The best gifts that any state can bestow she waits to bestow upon those who come to her—the finest climate in the world, the finest school system in the world, the most prosperous and the happiest people in the world to associate with, a future that is as unbounded as space, and possibilities that the mind of finite man can not measure.

"And Nathaniel said unto him, 'Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?' and Philip saith unto him, 'Come and see!'"

To every one that doubteth, to every one that desires to know, Nebraska says, "Come and see!"—Issued by the Nebraska Bureau of Labor and Statistics.

Marvelous Discoveries
mark wonderful progress of the age. Air flights on heavy machines, telegrams without wires, terrible war inventions to kill men, and that wonder of wonders Dr. King's New Discovery—to save life when threatened by coughs, colds, lagriplets, asthma, cropp, bronchitis, hemorrhages, hay fever and whooping cough or lung trouble. For all bronchial affections it has no equal. It relieves instantly. Its the surest cure. James M. Black of Asheville, N.C. R.R. No. 4, writes it cured him of an obstinate cough after all other remedies failed. 50c. and $1.00. A trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Stone Drug Co.
