FRIDAY JULY 8, 1910.

Omaha has had two automobiles fatalities within two weeks the latest being the death of a newsboy, who was struck by a car and the driver sped on without stopping to learn the result.

The financial statement of the government for the year just ended shows a total deficit of about twenty-five millions, in round numbers, which is very small considering the drain on the treasury made by the Panama canal. The deficit one year ago was $118,705,000.

From many of the large cities of the country comes the announcement that the pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight will not be allowed to go on exhibition. This will be "gloom" for the fellows who paid a couple hundred thousand dollars for the privilege of exhibiting the pictures.

Last Monday was the first Fourth of July we have had under the anti-dynamite law—a law prohibiting the use of giant fire-crackers—and so far as learned there were few casualties. It was the nearest to a sane Fourth we have ever had, and the result is such that should make us favor feel that the anti-dynamite law is a good measure.

Now that the negro has again shown his supremacy in the prize ring, it is probable that he will be allowed to retain it uncontested. To some, who have a prejudice against the black race, this will be somewhat galling, but to the majority of people it makes little difference whether the championship rests with a white man or a black.

William Jennings Bryan is out with a loud pronouncement in which he insists that the great issue in Nebraska at the coming campaign must be county option. He will not consent to its being set aside for any other issue. He says he is not a candidate for any office, but does not say he will not run for the United States senatorship.

As a result of Johnson "licking" Jeffries race riots have been reported from many sections of the country. These riots have not been altogether due to negro "chestiness," but of course have to some extent. To the average colored man an instance of superiority of black over white naturally causes him to swell up to an abnormal degree.

A Spokane pastor has inaugurated Father's Day in his church. Thanks! There is no denying that while Father has his hands full in doing his level best for Mother and the Kids, he may be a long time dead before peans of praise are sounded to his memory. It will certainly not do anyone else any harm to give Father the glad hand once in a while.—Kearney Hub.

Congressman Kinkaid has returned from Washington to his home at O'Neill, and will spend part of the summer and fall visiting different sections of his district looking after things political and learning of the needs of his constituents as they relate to departmental work at Washington. Judge Kinkaid has proven himself very obliging in looking after pensions and other work of like nature, and this in part accounts for his popularity.

Reports from 437 western bankers show that farmers doing business with them have drawn out fifteen million dollars and invested the sum in automobiles. Apropos to this is a statement that a Kansas City bank holds fifty mortgages on farms for money that went into motor cars, but the Kansas City Star has made an investigation of this statement and finds it untrue. The fact is that in practically all cases the western farmer who buys an automobile has the cash in the bank to pay for it; he does not need mortgage his land. There are perhaps a few exceptions, but very few. The western farmer is nearer a plutocrat than is the business man of the smaller western towns.

Democratic County Convention Call.
Pursuant to the call issued by the State Democratic Committee a mass convention of Lincoln County Democrats is hereby called to meet at the county court house in North Platte, on Saturday, July 9, 1910, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of selecting nine delegates to the Democratic State Convention to be held at Grand Island on July 26, 1910, and for the purpose of electing a county central committee and for such other business as may come before the convention. It is desired that every precinct be represented.
Dated this 2nd day of July, 1910, at North Platte, Nebraska.
WILLIAM BEATTY, Chairman.

Dr. J. W. Morris, Methodist pastor at Gothenburg, spent Wednesday with friends in town.

Weddings This Week.

Loy E. Ebright and Miss Eva Compton were united in marriage at noon Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Ginn, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. S. Porter in the presence of relatives and intimate friends.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, and later the couple went to the Ebright ranch, south of town, where they will reside. The bride has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Ginn for seven years, attending the city schools, and later teaching in the Bostwick district. She is a very bright and amiable young woman. The groom is a well known young man who passed the greater part of his life in or near the city and is industrious, progressive and of highly esteemed.

Wednesday forenoon Chas. O. Fredericy and Miss May Echleberry were married at the bride's home on west Sixth street, Rev. Porter officiating in the presence of a number of guests composed of relatives and close friends. Following the ceremony a wedding meal was served, and later the couple left on a wedding trip to Holton, Kan., the former home of the groom. The bride has made her home in this city for several years, and by her sweet and pleasant ways has won the friendship of many. Mr. Fredericy has been a trusted employ of the Vienna cafe for a number of years, and is a popular young man.

Christian Church.

Choir practice Friday evening.
"The Model Christian Endeavor Society" is the C. E. topic for Sunday evening. Let all members be present on time.

The Bible School has selected Aug. 21st as its annual "Rally Day" and the aim for this year is to have not less than 200 present.

All members of the church are urged to be present next Sunday morning. The sermon on "What we do" will be for you. Evening subject, "The Four-fold Gospel." Strangers and friends are cordially invited.

The "Wide Awake" class was pleasantly entertained by its president Mrs. J. H. Morrow, last Tuesday evening. This class is making a splendid record, the average attendance last quarter was over twenty-five.

The ladies aid society plan a social and beazar for July 28th.

The Bible School was the only religious organization represented in the parade the 4th. They had the two floats, one for the primary and one for the junior departments. They were awarded $10.00 by the committee and they appreciate the action very much.

A Deafened Conscience.

The secretary of the Kansas State Historical society tells a story about an early day Kansas justice of the peace who was nameless here:
"This J. P." said the secretary, "would marry a couple one day as justice of the peace and divorce them the next as notary public."

One time as the story ran, a man surrendered himself to this J. P.
"An' phwat's the matter?" asked the judge.

"I killed a man out here on the prairie in a fight," was the reply. "I want to give myself up."

"You did kill him, sor?" asked the J. P.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Who saw you?" asked the J. P.

"Nobody."

"An' nobody saw you kill 'im?"

"No, sir. Just we two were there."

"An' you're shure nobody saw you?"

reiterated the J. P.

"Of course I'm shure," was the reply.

"Thin you're discharged," said the J. P., bringing his fist down on the table. "You're discharged. You can't 'criminate yourself. Fifty dollars, please!"—Kansas City Journal.

Trouble For Hubby.

At a recent tea party where the fare provided could not by any means be termed palatable a guessing game was instituted, and the lady who won it was asked to say what she would have as a prize. She greatly flattered her young hostess by requesting a slice of the cake with which some of them had desperately struggled at tea time.

"Why did you ask for that stuff?" a disappointed and still hungry youth asked her. "You know very well it isn't fit to eat."

"I have a definite purpose in view," answered the young lady, carefully placing the piece of cake where there would be no possibility of her forgetting it. "I mean to make my husband eat it—if necessary, to force it down his throat crumb by crumb—and thus convince him that somewhere in the wide, wide world there is an even worse cook than he imagines his inexperienced young wife to be."—Pearson's Weekly.

Success.

The flower of true success may be gathered only by discerning persons who want it more than they want any other thing and who seek it through all the days of all the years. It has no imitation, is of but one variety and may not be pressed and dried between the leaves of any book, even the Bible. Its name is character. It is not a rare flower, accessible to only the few, but it is modest, of quiet mien and hue and is often hidden by the foliage and gorgeous blossoms of more spectacular plants, so that the merely casual eyes of those who hurry along the life path seem to miss it altogether. It grows indoors and out, in all seasons and weathers, and may be plucked by the black hands of the miser as well as by the hands of those whose time is given to less rugged and daintier tasks. The man who gathers character gathers success, no matter how he may be rated by the commercial agencies.—Richard Wightman in Metropolitan Magazine.

Locked In With a Maniac.

The writer was once closeted with a patient whom he had no suspicion of being mad until the latter got out of bed, turned the key of the door and preferred a mild request to the writer to have his throat cut, handing him at the same time an open pocketknife, which he produced from underneath his pillow. I objected to the knife as being too small for the purpose and begged to be allowed to go for my case of gutting knives, with which, I explained, the operation could be performed with greater neatness and dispatch. He unlocked the door at once, binding me over to secrecy and urging me to lose no time in returning. I drove home, reported the case to the authorities and came back with assistance. He was secured with great difficulty and sent to the asylum.—London Tit-Bits.

African Snakes.

The African cobra is regarded somewhat reverently by the natives of that country, who once a year kill a cobra de capello and hang its skin to the branch of a tree, tall downward. Then all the children born during the last year are brought out and made to touch the skin. This, the parents think, puts them under the serpent's protection. The cobra de capello divides with the horned viper of Africa the questionable honor of being the "worm of the Nile," to whose venomous tooth Cleopatra's death was due. The Kafirs use the venom of this snake's cousin, the puff adder, to poison their arrows, and when they have any small quantity left they swallow it, having a theory that it will protect them from the bad effects of future bites. The Snake tribe of the Punjab say that the bites of snakes do not hurt them, and if they find a dead serpent they dress it in clothes and give it a superb funeral.

Rain and the Scot.

Dr. John Watson (an Maclaren) says: "Never ask a Scotchman if it is raining. I have never heard a Scot admit that the rain is falling. What I have heard him say is that if it goes on as it is now it will turn out wet."

Mutual Surprise.

She—When I married you I had no idea that you would stay away from home so much. He—Well, neither had I.—Life.

Sarcastic.

Husband—After all, civilization has its drawbacks. People in the savage state seldom get ill. Wife (sweetly)—I wonder if that's the reason you're so healthy.
