TRICTING AN ISSUE.

LATE CENSUS SHOWS

With Reapportionment of the State Western Section Will Gain in Representation.

The Lincoln correspondent of the Omaha Herald says:

The redistricting of the state with reference to the representation of the various parts of the state in the legislature becomes a live subject with the publication of the census of 1910, showing a population of 1,192,214 in Nebraska.

Owing to the fact that population in this state has moved to the west and north, so far as the farming popucused of combining to squeeze out lation is concerned, while the centers of population in the east have drawn Louis D. Brandels, who says he can from the surrounding country much of its population, the shifting of power promises to be quite considerable.

The west has been building up for twenty years, has been taking what it could get from the legislature. The redistricting will correct these de-Maryland is 1,294,450 according to the fects and will reduce the counties that have had too many representatives to their proper basis.

In the Third congressional district, are now sent, at least twenty and possibly twenty-one could be sent here-

The Fifth district is practically stationary, the Second district gains at least five members.

The gains of the Sixth, Third and Second districts must come out of the First and Fourth districts.

The basis of representation in the senate is more striking than in the lower house, as shown by the returns from the 1910 cersus. The proper basis of redistricting for senate will be that of one senator for every 36,-128 of population. This will retain the same number of members thirtythree, that there are now in the senate.

The western and northern parts of the state have shown great gains. These are the only parts of the state that will gain with the possible exception of Douglas county, which will probably gain one member in the senate and possibly two.

WOULD CHANGE LAWS. Junkin Would Make a New Rule for

MRS. EDDY IS DEAD Incorporations. Secretary of State Junkin has prepared several recommendations to be submitted to the coming legislature regarding a change in laws which affect his department as well as the board of educational lands and funds. He recommends that the law relating to the filing of articles of incorpora tion be changed so that the fee charg ed shall be based on the "authorized capital stock. As the law is now neither the authorized or the paid up capital stock is mentioned, so the le gal department of state held that the law should be interpreted to be the "paid up" capital stock. Until 1907 the law provided the fee to be based on the "authorized" capital stock and when the fee was increased, by a cler-Ical error, the word "authorized" was omitted, so Mr. Junkin says.

In discussing the annual occupation tax, which is collected under a law enacted last winter, the secretary rec ommends that the fee be a per centum based upon the "paid up" and "subscribed" capital stock of the corporation. Foreign corporations doing business in Nebraska he recommends be required to pay only upon such proproperty located or used in this state bears to the total amount of their property and capital outside the state.

Mr. Junkin joins with other members of the board of educational lands and funds in recommending that the law providing for investments be amended so that state bonds held by thus secured be reinvested in municipal and school bonds of the state. These state bonds pay the state between 3 and 3½ per cent, while the the state from 4 to 416 per cent and of interest that has to be paid by those who issue them. During the last year the board has refused to take over $1,000,000 of these local securities because of a lack of funds. The money invested in state bonds is between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. Mr. Junkin says the issuing of tags to automobile owners, registering the machines and notifying the owners has become such a task that it requires the time of one clerk and, ed appropriation for his office to pay for an extra clerk. Four years ago there were registered 1,087 automobiles and now the registrations number more than 15,000. The new registrations, outside of the renewals, average about 5,000 a year.
