

PARASOLS AND UMBRELLAS

Many people believe that it is a sign of misfortune to put up an umbrella or parasol in the house.

Be this as it may, it is even a worse misfortune to put up many of them out of doors because they do not properly answer the purposes for which they are intended.

We have an attractive stock of umbrellas and parasols which will not only give satisfaction from the standpoint of utility but add an air of distinction and refinement to your appearance.

You will realize how carefully our stock has been selected as soon as you see the goods, and the prices are no greater than those asked by others for the ordinary.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Zauler seventeen miles southwest of the city, on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock occurred the wedding of their daughter Jennie to Alfred Leth. To the music of the wedding march played by the groom's sister, the couple appeared in the parlor and in the presence of about thirty relatives and friends, Rev. C. B. Hartman in the services of the Lutheran church pronounced them husband and wife. The bride was attired in a beautiful blue taffeta and wore the bridal veil. The groom wore the conventional black.

After the ceremony a delicious supper was served to which every one paid due tribute of respect. The contracting parties are both well and favorably known in our city and vicinity. The bride has spent her life in the home where she was married and has many friends. The groom came here a few years ago but has a home ready for his bride, a mistress about five miles north and east of the Zauler home. May many and rich blessings attend this promising union.

C. E. Convention.

The first annual convention of the 11th District of the Christian Endeavor Union was entertained by the C. E. Societies of the Presbyterian and Christian churches last Tuesday and Wednesday. The sessions were all held at the Presbyterian church.

The number of visiting delegates was not as large as hoped for, nor the general attendance as large as the character of the services warranted.

While there was some disappointment on account of the absence of Mr. Lehman on account of sickness yet Mr. Salisbury, the Ex-President of the State C. E. Union ably filled his place. The addresses of the convention were of a high order, full of inspiration and suggestion, the devotional spirit was dominant, the conferences were of a most practical nature. The addresses were given by L. J. Zook, of Cozad, E. M. Pardu, of Overton and J. H. Salisbury, of Auburn and more than met the expectations of the bearers. The special music was thoroughly appreciated by all. One of the enjoyable features of the convention was the reception given the visitors by the local societies on Tuesday evening following the regular session.

The convention goes to Cozad next year. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Miss Anna Gunn, Cozad, Pres.; Miss Laura Irish, Cozad, V. Pres.; Carl F. Ginn, Overton, Sec. and Treas.; Miss Della Morrison, Kearney, Missionary Supt.; O. W. Bernard, Ravenna, Christian Citizenship Supt.; Gibbon, Junior Supt.

Boost for Agricultural School.

Another meeting having in view the securing of the state agricultural school for North Platte, was held at the court house last evening. The attendance was much larger than at the previous meeting, yet a number of our leading business men were conspicuously absent. Plans for the campaign were further discussed, and a finance committee composed of Messrs. Weingand, Dixon and Langford was appointed. Subscriptions were taken from those present, and about one-third the sum required was subscribed. Today the committee is soliciting amounts from business men not present at last night's meeting. This fund will be used in sending a committee to Lincoln to interview the board of lands and buildings—who has the selection of the site—and to send committees to various counties in western Nebraska to get endorsements and recommendations that the school be located on the state experimental sub-station near this city. Considerable enthusiasm was evinced at last evening's meeting and it is hoped that everybody will ginger up and boost for North Platte as the most suitable location.

The board of lands and buildings will visit the several towns which are applicants for the location, and the general committee will make arrangements to give the board the proper reception when they came to North Platte. The date when the board will visit the several towns is not now known.

In Memoriam.

Etta Cohagen, whose death occurred Monday morning and the funeral held yesterday afternoon, was born in North Platte, April 19, 1888, and was taken ill on her twenty-third birthday with acute kidney trouble which also affected the action of the heart. For eleven days her suffering was intense, and though everything possible was done by relatives, friends and physicians, the ruthless hand of death could not be staid, and death came as a relief on the morning of May 1st.

The deceased was a young woman of more ordinary business ability, having filled positions with Mrs. Armstrong, Schrieber's market, Greeson's grocery and LeMaster's garage. She also looked after the accounts of her father. She was also identified with the Degree of Honor and the Royal Neighbors, having occupied official positions in both. She was well known to our people, and enjoyed the confidence and good will of all. Early in life she united with the Lutheran church.

In the death of this daughter and sister the parents and children have lost one who will ever be missed, whose goodness and kindness will ever be cherished.

Bids for Our Federal Building.

Bids were opened at the treasury department at Washington Tuesday for the construction of the North Platte federal building. There were eight bids filed, the prices ranging from $78,000 for limestone to $101,000 for sandstone. The lowest bid was filed by an Omaha contractor. It will probably be a week or two before the contract is awarded. Later—The Omaha News says the contract was awarded to the Omaha party for $78,000.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thus publicly express our sincere thanks to friends and neighbors for the kindly assistance during the illness and at the funeral of our daughter, and to the D. of H., Woodmen, W. R. C., and Elks for the beautiful flowers. These friends proved their true friendship in our darkest hours, and we are very grateful to them.
