SOMETHING TO KNOW.

It may be worth something to know that the very best remedy for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This remedy is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centers in the stomach, gently stimulates the liver and kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c and $1 per bottle at Taylor's drug store.

Church Howe has resigned his position as consul-general to Apia, in the Samoan islands, and has been appointed consul to Palermo, Italy. Although the salary is not so large at the latter place, and the perquisites will not amount to near so much, yet in other respects the last appointment is much more desirable. The salary at Apia is $3,000 per year, and at Palermo is $2,000. Another Nebraska man, a Mr. Osborn, of Blair, has been appointed consul-general to Apia.

The bosses of the pop and democratic parties met at Auburn a short time ago and proceeded to parcel out county offices. By the division the pops are to have treasurer, clerk, judge and sheriff, while the democrats are given superintendent, commissioner, surveyor and coroner. Peery, Engles and Lambert are to be renominated for clerk, treasurer and judge, John Berger is to be nominated for sheriff and W. C. Parrott, of Peru, for superintendent. The bosses have not yet fully decided on the candidates for the other offices, but will do so in time to have their selection ratified at the county convention. The delegates will be saved all trouble of making a choice.

A very pleasant affair occurred Monday evening, at the residence of Dr. W. W. Keeling. Mrs. Keeling's class in Sunday school, desiring to show their appreciation of their teacher, got up a surprise party, in honor of Mrs. Keeling's birthday, which was on Sunday. The young folks arranged with Mrs. W. W. Sanders to make ice cream at her residence. About 5 o'clock Mrs. Taylor called around, by previous arrangement with the young folks, and took Mrs. Keeling out riding. While they were away Mrs. Sanders and the children went to Mrs. Keeling's home, and when the latter got back from her ride she found nearly every member of her class present. They arranged the table, called Mrs. Keeling to the dining room, and served ice cream, cake and lemonade. It was a total surprise to Mrs. Keeling, and a very pleasant one.

Nature gave to fond parents a human being. The Almighty breathed the breath of life into this human being and it became a living soul. First a child whose happy prattle about its parents' knees made home a joy. Then a maid whose every art endeared her to those in whose care she was entrusted. Thence she bloomed into fair womanhood, and from that round of life's ladder she stepped into the stern realities of life, with ambition her motor power and "onward" her motto. Bravely she went to carrying out these aspirations, but when but fairly begun her Master said, "Well done, faithful one, come up higher."

Thus the spirit of a wife, daughter and sister upon whom sweet love was bestowed returned to its giver, and its earthly tenement to the elements from which it came.

Mrs. Mollie Lee Clark, daughter of J. W. and Mrs. Lou J. Ponn, was born in Brownville March 20, 1869, where she grew to womanhood. In May, 1893, she was married to Mr. C. M. Clark, of New York. In 1895 they moved to Wardner, Idaho. In January, 1897, she was taken with that dread disease, consumption. A short time ago she expressed a desire to come home to die but failed so fast she could not. Mrs. Ponn then left for her daughter's bedside, arriving there at 8 p. m. July 20th, and Mrs. Clark expired at 10 a. m. July 21st. The remains were embalmed and brought to Brownville, arriving at 3 p. m. July 27th. The funeral services were held at 10 a. m. July 28th, in the M. E. church. Rev. C. H. Gilmore delivering the last sad rites. The remains were then interred in Walnut Grove cemetery.
