ITCHING SCALP HUMOR.

Suffered Tortures Until Cured by Cuticura—Scratched Day and Night.

"My scalp was covered with little pimples and I suffered tortures from the itching. I was scratching all day and night, and I could get no rest. I washed my head with hot water and Cuticura Soap and then applied the Cuticura Ointment as a dressing. One box of the ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap cured me. Now my head is entirely clear and my hair is growing splendidly. I have used Cuticura Soap ever since, and shall never be without it. (Signed) Ada C. Smith, 309 Grand street, Jersey City, N. J."

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Grateful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations.—Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will Be Interested.

When a physician tells a woman, suffering from ovarian or womb trouble, that an operation is necessary it, of course, frightens her.

The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart. As one woman expressed it, when told by her physician that she must undergo an operation, she felt that her death knell had sounded.

Our hospitals are full of women who are there for ovarian or womb operations!

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after the doctors had said an operation must be performed. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help.

The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have escaped serious operations.

Margrite Ryan, Treasurer of St. Andrew's Society, Hotel English, Indianapolis, Ind., writes of her cure as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I cannot find words to express my thanks for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. The doctor said I could not get well unless I had an operation for ovarian and female troubles. I knew I could not stand the strain of an operation and made up my mind I would be an invalid for life.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

The time will come when no man will be allowed to say that the world owes him a living, since the world owes him nothing that he should not pay for; it owes a living only to cripples, invalids, and all others who cannot, through some misfortune, help themselves.

The pavement before the door of the Church of San Carlo de Borromeo, in Monterey, Mexico, is a curious memento of the whaling industry of that town. The round, mushroom-like objects in the pavement are the vertebrae of whales. This is one of the churches founded by the Spanish missionary fathers in the sixteenth century.

GRATIFYING PRAISE.

Letter from Marcus Mayer, the Great Patron of Music and the Drama. Marcus R. Mayer, who brought to America Mme. Patti, Duse, Salvini, Coquelin and other famous singers and actors, writes:

Gentlemen: I wish as many suffering men and women as I can reach to know the excellence of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was greatly benefited by this remedy and know it cured several who had kidney trouble so badly they were agonized with pain in the back, head and loins, rheumatic attacks and urinary disorders. I am glad to recommend such a deserving remedy. (Signed) MARCUS R. MAYER. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

WEARING OUT HER WELCOME.

Lack of Consideration May Even Do It in Advance.

"I think that the house is now in almost perfect order," said Mrs. Arliss, as she tied back the freshly laundered curtains in the guest-room. "It has hurried us some to get through the house-cleaning so early, but it is nice to have it all done before your friend comes."

"O mother!" exclaimed Amy, who had just been downstairs to answer the postman's ring. "Here's a letter from Marian, and she isn't coming to-morrow, after all. She has to stay in town another week for an extra meeting of the club she belongs to. You know she's the president of it. I am dreadfully sorry that you have worked so hard to be ready for her."

"Well, it's good to have the work done, anyway," sighed Mrs. Arliss. "And if Marian isn't coming for another week it will give us more time to make some plans for her pleasure. Shouldn't you like to give an afternoon tea on the lawn while she is here?"

"That would be lovely," rejoined Amy, and she began at once to busy herself with an invitation list. She was just about to send out the two dozen notes she had written when a second letter from Marian conveyed the information that her coming would be delayed four or five days more, on account of the making of a new gown which she had suddenly decided was necessary in her summer outfit.

Amy tore up the notes, and discussed with her mother a later date for the tea, and another set of notes was soon written.

"I hardly dare send them," she said. "I think you are perfectly safe in letting them go," returned Mrs. Arliss, "for we invited Marian for two weeks in May, and it's already the middle of the month. My Aunt Julia will probably occupy the guest-room during June. As she likes a quiet house, I thought it would be nice to have Marian's visit over before she comes."

Along with the acceptances for the tea came a hasty line from Marian. "I am so sorry, Amy, dear," she wrote, "to put you off again. It's just a shame, but Luella Rice is going to have a lawn party Tuesday, and she won't hear of my being away then. A day or two won't make any difference to you, will it?"

"What about the lawn party Tuesday?" asked Amy, after reading the note to her mother. "I wrote to her that I was asking my girl friends to afternoon tea to meet her. Now they will all come, and she won't be here to meet them. Don't you think she would come if I'd write her a special delivery note and make her understand how anxious I am?"

"You might try."

"Will arrive Tuesday on noon train," was the telegraphic answer to the letter.

Amy, having put the finishing touches to the ferns and lilies on the tea table, Tuesday, was about to go to the station to meet Marian when a messenger boy from the telegraph office rang the door bell.

"So sorry missed the train. Will come some day next week," were the words that greeted her astonished eyes when she tore open the telegram.

Aunt Julia was comfortably established in the guest room before the day had brought a note from Marian with the news that she would arrive that evening.

"I suppose it's inhospitable," remarked Amy, as she and her mother arranged a cot-bed in her own little room, "but I don't feel a bit glad that Marian is coming."

"She has rather worn out her welcome in advance, but we will try to be glad, dear."—Youth's Home Companion.

He Wanted a Rebate.

Squire Haykorn was a close-fisted old gentleman who seldom wasted any money in traveling about the country for the purpose of enjoying himself, but he had heard a great deal concerning the beauties of a trip down the St. Lawrence River, and having made a number of lucky trades one summer, he determined to make the journey, if it did not cost too much.

With this end in view, he went to a ticket office and inquired as to the price of a round trip, going by boat and returning by rail.

The agent told him, "Shall I see the Thousand Islands?" "Yes, sir."

"Well, I'll take it," said the squire. He bought his ticket and went away.

About two weeks later he put in an appearance at the ticket office again.

"Didn't you tell me," he asked, "that I made that trip down the St. Lawrence River I'd see the Thousand Islands?" "Certainly," answered the ticket agent.

"Well, I hadn't anything else to do, and I put in my time counting 'em. All I saw was a little over three hundred. I want two-thirds of my money back."

CONSTIPATION AND STOMACH TROUBLE CAN BE CURED

J. S. Janssen, President of the Milwaukee Retail Druggists' Association, Talks on the Dangers of Constipation and Stomach Trouble.

"Have you noticed the large number of cases of typhoid fever lately?" said Mr. J. S. Janssen to a Daily News representative. "To my notice typhoid fever, malarial fever, appendicitis and many kindred complaints are the result of constipation, which in many cases is allowed by the patient to run along without proper treatment. You will remember when you were a child and the doctor was called, his first prescription was a dose of castor oil. All physicians know the value of having the bowels thoroughly opened. People, when they grow up, allow constipation to become chronic through lack of attention. Constipation is the failure of the bowels to carry off the undigested food, which collects in the alimentary canal and there decays, generating poisonous disease germs. These germs find their way into the blood by means of which they are carried to every tissue. The fever thus created affects not only the lungs, kidneys, stomach, heart and nervous system, but in fact any organ of the body capable of breaking down as a result. The blood becomes thin and watery. The sufferer loses in flesh and strength. Castor oil and pills will not cure an affliction like this. Something more than a laxative is needed. There are many physices on the market and we sell a great many, having probably the most popular store of the kind in the city. I do not often talk about manufactured medicine, but the high esteem in which Mull's Grape Tonic is held by the drug and medical fraternities has impressed me and I know from actual experience right here in our store that Mull's Grape Tonic cures constipation and stomach trouble positively and permanently."

"Grape Tonic is not a physic, but it immediately clears the bowels of the decaying food because of the peculiarly strengthening effects it exerts over the organs of the digestive system. As a tonic it is superior to the nauseating cod liver oil compound. It builds flesh faster and creates strength quicker than any other preparation known to medical science. The ingredients are positively harmless, made mainly from crushed grapes and fruits. Although a full bottle might be taken at once, no inconvenience would result. I only wish that people paid more attention to these little details, which in themselves in the beginning are of so slight importance, but which grow in magnitude until the most serious trouble and some deadly disease fastens itself on the constitution. There is really nothing easier to take than Mull's Grape Tonic. I hope you, through the influence of your paper, can bring the readers to a sense of the gravity of allowing constipation to become chronic."
