We understand there is to be a wedding in about a week.

Rev. J. W. Sapp and wife went to Brownville Monday for a few days' visit.

Attention is directed to the clothing sale Friday and Saturday of next week.

Wm. Snelling went to St. Joe Tuesday to buy new goods, returning Wednesday night.

Harry Hoover and wife have gone to housekeeping on their beautiful farm west of town.

Miss Muriel Barker, who had been at Falls City taking treatment for her eyes, returned home Sunday.

Mrs. Todd of Nehawka and Dr. E. Cap Graves of Peru were guests of Miss Minnie May Thursday.

A. G. Warren has a big job on his hands—that of papering nearly all the upper rooms and all the hallways of the poor house.

In spite of the stormy weather Tuesday, the stock, implements, etc., at the sale of J. H. Argabright and W. R. Davis brought good prices.

Mrs. Jane I. May went to Peru Monday to visit with her granddaughters, Misses Stella and Bessie Washburn, returning Tuesday evening.

We wish to announce that our is ready for your inspection. Come in Saturday and let us show you our line and we will convince you that your money will buy you more and better goods than you thought possible.

JNO. W. RITCHEY

Phone 20

NEMAHA, NEBR.

Our hunters were out Wednesday forenoon but did not get many rabbits.

J. W. Ritchey is sending out a multitude of circulars advertising his pre-winter sale.

We have some of the tabulated statements of the election returns which our readers can secure by calling at this office.

Preaching at the Methodist church at Howe Sunday morning, at Champion at 3 o'clock, and at night at Nemaha, by Rev. G. W. Ayers.

Bob Bucher is going to send for a pair of ferrets, to kill out the rats around town. If they will do the work they will be kept busy for awhile.

Misses Stella and Bessie Washburn came down from Peru Saturday forenoon. Miss Stella returned Sunday morning on the freight and Miss Bessie the next day.

Will Swan returned from Dundy county, Nebr., a few days ago. While there he bought a section of land in that county and will move out there in the spring.

John M. Clark has had a wind mill and large tank put in on his farm south of town, and is fencing lots, making sheds, etc., preparatory to feeding cattle there this winter.

Miss Jessie Simpson of Kearney visited her aunt, Mrs. S. C. Lawrence, from Tuesday until Friday of last week, going from here to Auburn to visit her brother, Henry Simpson.

Roy Heasley, a son of the old gentleman that formerly lived in Nemaha, died in Lincoln Sunday and was brought to Nemaha for burial Tuesday. He was a twin and was about 7 years old.

The first snow of the season came Tuesday. It began snowing before noon but did not snow very hard until the latter part of the afternoon, quitting about 7 o'clock. By the next evening the snow was about all gone.

Mrs. E. S. McCandless of Thurman, Iowa, came to Nemaha last Friday and visited her mother until Monday.

It is probable Nemaha will have some good shows here this winter. Woodward & Allen are corresponding with a number of companies with good prospects of getting dates.

Oyster Supper

Class No. 8 of the Methodist Sunday school will give an oyster supper at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Earle Gilbert, Saturday night, Nov. 24. Everybody is invited to attend.

A letter received from W. E. Wheeldon last Saturday says he is now located at Homer, Nebr., on the Ashland extension, about 13 miles southwest from Sioux City. He writes that it is a nice little town with a good class of people.

Frank Titus is having an addition built on his house. The addition will be 11x26, one story high, built of brick. He will also have the upper story of his house torn down, making it all one story. J. W. Smith will do the work.

I. J. Jarvis and daughter, Miss Eva, have been in Kansas City for several weeks, where Mr. Jarvis has been taking treatment for a cancer on his left hand. He thinks he is cured, and we certainly trust his hopes will prove true.

The heating apparatus recently put in at the poor farm will certainly be a great convenience to the managers, as well as a comfort to all concerned. The commissioners were down Saturday, examined it and accepted it. It is said to give splendid satisfaction.

C. H. Kindig, who has recently taken some prospective land buyers to Canada to view the land, returned to Nemaha Monday evening. He stopped several days at Bruno, Nebr., visiting his wife. He says we are having colder weather here than they were in Canada.
