The Prince and Miss Pulitzer. At Prince Edward Island yesterday the wedding of Miss Penelope Pulitzer, the daughter of the late Mrs. John Jacob Pulitzer, to Mr. Paul C. Ingersoll, elder son of Mr. Walter McElroy Ingersoll, was celebrated. The marriage was performed by the Rev. Dr. W. H. Van Dyke, rector of St. Paul’s church, Newport, R. I., in the presence of the parents of the bride and groom and many other prominent guests.

The bride was of the type of bridegroom so often depicted in the literature of the Middle Ages. She was a charming figure, with a delicate, graceful form, and an air of refinement and elegance. Her dress was of a soft white satin, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, which were arranged in a tasteful manner.

The groom was equally well-dressed, and his appearance added to the general air of elegance and grace of the occasion. The ceremony was conducted with great precision, and was witnessed by many of the most prominent guests.

The wedding was followed by a splendid dinner, which was served in the ballroom of the hotel. The guests included many of the most prominent names in society, and the occasion was a great social event.

The wedding was followed by a splendid dinner, which was served in the ballroom of the hotel. The guests included many of the most prominent names in society, and the occasion was a great social event.