PLATTSMOUTH is still in the notion of having a gas well. If they can't strike it any other way we would suggest that they cage the editor of the Journal, and set him going, and if he don't furnish enough gas for the whole town the mule is yours.—Louisville Observer.

SAFE, permanent and complete are the cures of bilious and intermitten diseases, made by Prickly Ash Bitters. Dyspepsia, general debility, habitual constipation, liver and kidney complaints are speedily eradicated from the system. It disinfects, cleanses and eliminates all malaria. Health and vigor are obtained more rapidly and permanently by the use of this great natural antidote than by any other remedy heretofore known. As a blood purifier and tonic it brings health, renewed energy and vitality to a worn and diseased body. 7-mil

"Do not forget," says the Boston Herald (mugwump), "that the surplus revenue this year, after paying the full requirement of the sinking fund, will be $100,000,000." It would be well to bear in mind, also, the significant fact that but for the sagacious and economical way in which the republican party managed the affairs of the government for so many years, we should not have any surplus, but, on the contrary, should be paying out over $100,000,000 more in interest on the public debt than we have to pay under the present conditions.—Ec.

COUNTY LOCALS.

WEEPING WATER.

From the Republican.
W. Epperson talks of building on the south side.

James Kennedy has sold his residence to S. V. Gerard.

If Plattsmouth don't pave it will not be the fault of her papers.

Geo. A. Ashmun and family left Monday morning for a few days visit to Ulysses and Lincoln.

Sylvester Mathews last week sold his residence property on the south side to C. H. Breaks. Consideration $850.00.

Mrs. Will Marshall and mother left last Thursday for the latter home in Hamilton county. Will is bacheling it, and says there is no fun in it at all.

Last week one day Jno. Davis and another young man killed an enormous sized badger on the farm of W. A. Davis south of town a mile and a half. The animal fought like a "badger" for his life, but with a pitchfork, spade and a hatchet the fates were against him and he had to succumb.

LOUISVILLE.

From the Observer.
Strawberries are ripening on the bottom near the river.

Our city board did a noble act by purchasing lots for a cemetery adjacent to the city.

Jno. Shelhorn of Manley, who by the way is one of the best farmers in Cass county, was in town yesterday.

D. W. Greenslade and A. U. Mayfield, of Elmwood, passed through town Tuesday evening on their way home from Omaha.

Mr. Jno. Bringman has purchased a lot on Main street and will soon erect a neat little building on it, which he will use as a shoe shop.

Mrs. C. Schlater returned Monday from Glenwood, Iowa, where she was summoned to attend the funeral of her cousin, Dr. Donelin.

WABASH.

From the Item.
George Reichart and Lucy Johnson of Louisville were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lehman Sunday.

Several roofs have been painted in town and the evening air is laden with the perfume of coal tar.

One day last week Tay Richards ploughed up a wolf's den and killed one old and five young wolves.

The farmers have been very busy this week planting corn, and a great deal of grain has been put in the ground.

Last Saturday a little son of Paul Marshall, who lives near Elmwood, fell from a horse and fractured a finger bone.

ELMWOOD.

From the Echo.
John Elliott has moved his family into his fine house that has just been completed over on West hill.

Miss Mable Mayfield, of Omaha, was visiting the Echo family this week, returning home yesterday, accompanied by the editor's wife, who will visit there a few days.

H. P. Willcockson's little son Tom fell from a fence last Sunday and dislocated his shoulder and broke some of the tendons that support the shoulder. Dr. Hobbs was called and replaced the shoulder.

LYNN.

Lynn buys corn and has 20,000 bu. now bought.

We expect the cars to run into our town by the 1st, of June.

Small grain looks very well as we are having plenty of rain now.

If this don't find the waste basket, I will try my hand at writing again.

Farmers are nearly all through planting corn, and it is coming up good since our fine rain.

Lynn needs a post office, which we expect to get, in time. We have to get our mail at Factoryville.

G. N. Larue will build a large blacksmith shop; and Bowers will build a shoe shop and store.

G. A. Rose & Co. have a new store here, and part of their goods are now in, and other stores to be built.

There is a great many people in the county, who do not know there is such a place as Lynn; but there is. It is located on the Weeping Water on the M. P. R. R. now being built about thirteen miles north west of Nebraska City, and we expect to make a fine town.
Lynn, May 16, 1887. JAKE.

THREE GROVES.

The farmers are generally getting a fair stand of corn the first planting.

Miss Effie Worley has charge of a three month's school out in the Center Valley precinct.

The fruit bloom has blasted to a great extent and is falling off, caused probably by the late frosts.

Miss Belle Fitch who has a school down on the Weeping Water was up to Rock Bluffs Sunday visiting her folks.

Byron E. Young went west one day last week to look after his land interest situated in Key-a-Pakee county.

John Correll (better known as "Little" John Correll) has built a house on the southeast side of his father's place, this spring.

Rev. Branston has been holding a protracted meeting down at Rock Bluffs the last week. With what success he is meeting with we have not been informed.

Mrs. Edward Wiley has been quite ill the last five or six weeks, having been confined to her bed most of that time. She is now beginning to improve a little, so we hear.

The Rock Creek folks say they have a flourishing Sunday school at their church on Rock creek with Mr. Curtis as Supt. and Miss Brownson Sec'y. The hour of meeting is 10 a. m.

A short visit to Mr. Shrader's fishponds last week revealed the fact that Mr. Shrader has a very large number of fish in his ponds and is filling orders continually to those who are stocking ponds.

It is very seldom we meddle with other people's business through the press, but some of these days in writing up items we are going to mention something about the bridges between here and Rock Bluffs being so holy if the supervisor down don't stop them.

REPORTER.

Three Groves, May 22, '87.

MURRAY.

The farmers are about done planting corn in this locality.

Cut worms are doing considerable damage in this part of the county to corn and garden vegetables.

Small grain is not doing very well for some cause. Oats especially seems to be short.

A fishing party went up to the mouth of Four Mile creek, on the Platte, last Saturday. Those from this place were J. W. Berger, Andrew Johnson and Von Bogardus. We also had the pleasure of seeing Wm. Murray and Silas Long and family there. Mr. Long caught a very nice cat-fish, about 18 or 20 inches long. Von Bogardus caught one that weighed six and a half pounds dressed and two smaller ones. J. W. Berger caught a cray-fish two and a half inches long, but Andrew Johnson came out with fisherman's luck. Sitting on the end of a log watching a young lady riding across a bridge he got excited and fell off into the river. When he got out after looking all around and not seeing anything of the young lady who caused him so much trouble, he said "By gosh it is a hard thing to be baptised before a man has received the faith; still, he said I believe." I asked him what he did believe. He said "that she was the prettiest girl in the county." John Berger said so far as he was concerned he did not care anything for fish, but he hated to go home with nothing and tell them that he only caught a crawfish.

ROVING BOY.

GREENWOOD.
John Cagney is on the sick list.
Ben Gardner has purchased J. S. Carnes' dray.
Will Holland visited Omaha last week, presumably on business.
Mrs. J. E. Rallick, of Ashland, visited Mrs. E. Howell one day last week.
McMahon's best girl was visiting him the past week. She lives in Louisville, we are informed.
J. S. Carnes and Isaac Jenkins will leave for Broken Bow, Custer county, this week and will engage in the livery business there.
J. V. Carnes has purchased the interest of Dick Bowman, his former partner, in the livery business and has added seven new rigs to his livery the past week.

There was a large drove of Oregon horses here the past week and the farmers availed themselves of the opportunity of getting a good pony for a little money.

The board of trustees of the village of Greenwood have purchased the Greenwood cemetery of E. A. Ryder for $500 and will at once proceed to fence and ornament the same.

Dick Bowman, formerly of this place but now of Custer County, has been in town the past two weeks looking after unsettled business affairs. He will return home Tuesday.

The middle aged business man who has combination post box No. 37, who advertised in the Hawkeye of last week for some lady who is his equal to engage as his partner in life, is a man of sterling qualities, that is to say a man of function and we presume wants the party answering his communication to possess the same qualities.

Two lively runaways occurred on Monday of this week, one resulted in mashed fingers for R. W. Cunningham, and when the pony and sulky were found they were seven miles north of town but not much of the sulky was left. The other was H. Perry's dray team which was brought to a stand-still on Second street by the wagon tongue running into a mud-hole.

DEEDS.—Thursday the 19th day of May, 1887, promptly at 20 minutes past 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the second story of the building known as the Swan-back building on Second street, in the town of Greenwood, Neb., of softening of the brain and spinal meningitis with inflammatory rheumatism attachment, brought on by exposure in the night air and strain on the financial nerve center of the brain, after a lingering illness of two long months, during which time all medical skill available was tried besides gargling oil, railroad remedies, Ayer's cherry pectoral and cod liver oil was freely applied and partaken of, all to no avail, the disease was too deeply seated; The Greenwood Hawkeye. The funeral will take place sometime the present week but we have not as yet been informed of the exact date. FANNY.

AVOCA.

Much sickness prevails but few deaths. Wm. Kear and family are on a visit to Sterling.

J. H. Hale has gone to Wyoming to look for land.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Tefft have gone on a visit to Potter.

Dr. Packard will take his family on a visit to Iowa and Pennsylvania soon.

S. S. Srivver and G. M. Malcolm have gone to put up buildings in Nehawka.

Jacob Opp is proud of a fine new boy, and a fine colt and calf at the same time.

W. H. Betts has been to Seward Co. to look after his farm, and reports everything booming.

Wilkinson & Graham are shipping two cars of hogs and some cattle almost daily to Kansas City and Omaha.

Mike Weir had his collar bone broken last week, but had it promptly attended to by Dr. Packard and is doing well.

Mrs. F. Beatty has woven nearly 200 yards of rag carpet this spring, from all parts of Cass and Otoe Co's., and does excellent work.

W. A. Conley has opened a harness shop complete with a nice stock of goods. W. Chapin is employed on the custom work and is a first-class workman.

FLOWERS AND FLACS.

The Sun Building Carlanded and Festeoned in Honor of its Natal Day.

[Reported for the Baltimore Sun.]
The Sun Iron Building is decorated in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of The Sun. The building had been previously painted in three tints of yellow drab, an entirely new shade, in imitation of whitetera cotta. The highest relieves were given the lightest color except on the lower stories, where all the relief castings of the awning frame and corner lamp were cut with gold. The new incandescent lamp at the corner, with five large burners, the whole giving a light equal to 500 candle power, was lit at night and shed a clear radiance over the beautiful decorations, while the green festoons and variegated natural flowers harmonized perfectly with the semi-neutral tint of the building.

The decorations themselves, placed under the directions of Emmart & Quartley, who also did the painting, are extremely artistic. The most prominent position, at the corner of Baltimore and South streets, is given to a rounded design symbolic of The Sun and its present anniversary. This is hung at the third floor, and represents a golden sunburst surrounding a shield of blue ground, upon which in gold letters is the date "May 17." From the two sides of this shield are floating ribbons of silver, with the inscriptions "1837" and "1887" in scarlet letters, marking red-letter days in the history of this journal. Long festoons of cedar and laurel evergreen are draped gracefully from the center of each third-story window to the awning-bar below, forming a canopy over the entire pavement on the two streets. From the origin of each festoon at the third floor, bunting United States flags are given to the breeze, each of the twenty-one depending from a staff of crimson tipped with gold, and ornamented at the ball with a white silk ribbon, while below each staff hangs a wreath of evergreen.

In each of the windows of the second floor is a large pot with a growing palm, palmetto or japonica plant, twenty-one being used in all. Beneath these and depending over the windows and doorways of the first floor are baskets of blooming petunias, nutmeg and ivy geraniums, verbenas, lobelias and trailing vines.

Between each of the four awning posia are garlands of evergreen, festooned with wreaths of the same, within each of which is a mat composed of lilies, Marchal Neil and pearl roses. In each loop of the garlands at the curb, are three baskets of flowering shrubs, vines and mosses, the center one being hung lower than those on either side. These baskets are sixty in number, and at the corner they are massed, the rod leading from the corner post to the first floor cornice being decorated with four of them. At the corners of the fourth floor evergreen is again looped over the third floor windows, and the highest cornice at the corner of Baltimore and South streets, large flags of the nation are draped in easy folds.

The whole building presents the most chaste and graceful appearance, and is a worthy emblem of the day commemorated.

SAMUEL J. RANDALL has just told a reporter that the low duty on pig iron is letting in so much of the foreign product that the domestic industry suffers. This indicates that Mr. Randall is not going to be less hostile to the schemes of the free traders in the next Congress than he was in the preceding Congress. And that makes the prospect of harmony for the Democracy on this question additionally ominous is the fact, as mentioned by Mr. Randall himself, that the protection strength in the Democratic party in the coming Congress will be fully as great as it was in the last one.—Globe Dem.
