CITY BRIEFS.

From Friday's Daily.

The latest dodge is reported from Tucson, Arizona where Americanized Turks are going round selling American manufactured trinkets from the Holy Land.

Robt. Livingston and Frank Burgess are receiving the congratulations of all their friends and acquaintances in the city today on account of their successful medical examinations in Omaha last night. We trust the boys will meet with the same success in every enterprise they undertake through life.

"I should like to have a coin that bears the date of my birth," said a maiden lady of uncertain age to a male acquaintance; "do you think you can get me one?" "I'm afraid not," he replied, doubtfully. "These old coins are rare, and only to be found in valuable collections."

Fred Patterson, postmaster of Rock Bluffs, is preparing a petition to be forwarded to the postmaster general at Washington, with the object of making route 34, 119 (which includes Rock Bluffs, Murray and Eight Mile,) a daily route. Hitherto the mail has been delivered in these places tri-weekly.

Judge Sullivan says it is useless to talk about prohibition being a failure in Kansas, for he was there two weeks and resorted to every device his imaginations would invent to get a drink (just to test the law you know,) and he could not procure a drop. He is thoroughly convinced that prohibition does prohibit in Kansas.

I ain't able to get a job to do of any kind," said an individual yesterday, addressing Fred Lockwood. "I'll give you a dollar if you'll go and put a pig in my pen." "All right, where's the pig?" "Oh, I'll find the pen and you find the pig," saluted the ears of the disgusted listener as he turned on his heel in search of something more profitable.

W. B. Putnam, who resided in this city about three years ago, and was Assistant Chief Engineer of the B. & M., has been in the city for the past few days renewing old acquaintanceship. He is at present employed on the Santa Fe railroad and has charge of the right-of-way and bridges on that road. "Put," as he is familiarly called, was the gentleman who superintended the building of the shops in the yards.

Corra M. Eikenbary, niece of Sheriff Eikenbary, was married last Wednesday to Thos. W. Swan, both of Liberty precinct, near Murray. Rev. J. R. Murray performed the ceremony. The happy couple gave a reception to about sixty of their friends at the home of the groom's parents last night. Thos. Swan has lived in the present locality, where he was born, for the past twenty-five years. May the Swan shield his fair Corinna with the wing of devotion, as he carries her safely over the river of life. May no ripple or boisterous wave of adversity impede their voyage of contentment, and may the loving embrace still continue till one or the other reaches that "bourne from which no traveler returns."

From Saturday's Daily. H. Morris and wife, who have been in the city for the past month on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Elson, return to their home in San Antonio, Texas, tonight. Mrs. Morris is Mrs. Elson's sister. Mr. Nachbauer, from Ohio, a gentleman who has had considerable experience in canning fruit and vegetables, has taken up his residence in this city, having been appointed superintendent of the Plattsmouth Canning Works. Sheriff Eikenbary made a sale at the court house this afternoon to satisfy a judgment of a tax lien in favor of A. E. Alexander, in the case of Alexander vs. Lambson. The lots sold were 4, 7, 8 in block 76, in the city of Plattsmouth.

A piece of black crape and the notice, "Will not be in today on account of sickness," is placed on Dr. Marshall's office door this morning. The reason is the loss of his darling child "Puss," aged two years and eleven months, who died yesterday afternoon.

If there is anything more embarrassing to a reporter than sitting between misery and grief in a poorhouse hearth going to an inquest, it is to have mud on the right of him, mud on the left of him, and five pretty, laughing school girls' linked arm in arm blocking up the sidewalk.

"Yes," said Mr. Tawmus, who is a very swell young man, "that rude song of Roland Reed's is a nuisance. The pesky thing gets to running in your head and the first thing you know you're walking along the street singing, 'I'm a dude, ha, ha, ha,' and folks are laughing at you."—Boston Post.

J. W. Hatt & Co. suffered the loss of a portion of a pig about three weeks ago, from their slaughter house at the end of Chicago avenue. The same parties returned last Thursday night, killed another pig, strung him up, and cut off the hind quarters and greater part of the body. The next time they visit they are "going the whole hog or none."

A gentleman of this city has a novel and cheap way of feeding his dog. All it exists on is water. He makes a quart of mush in a vessel, pours it out, then fills the vessel with water. A small quantity of mush is in the bottom of the can, and in the dogs eagerness to reach that he drinks the water, then his stomach is too full to eat the mush. The performance is repeated at certain intervals through the day.

The street commissioners have been busy for the past week in removing large quantities of earth from the north side of Main street above Seventh. We would suggest that the same operation be performed on the opposite side. If that was done there would be an uninterrupted view from the depot to the top of the hill. As it is at present the sidewalk from the corner of Seventh makes a curve around to Eighth street, and is so near the bank that the late rains have washed the clay down, forming a disagreeable, sticky substance difficult to wade through.

From Monday's Daily. Dr. Marshall's child was buried yesterday afternoon.

J. M. Robins, of Weeping Water, is in the city today.

On account of the storm the telegraph wires have broke down in all directions. We are happy to hear that McElwain and Dr. Jno. Black are slightly improving.

Four new signal flags have been received by the signal department of this city from Washington.

L. M. Kerney, of Carson, Iowa, arrived in this city Saturday evening on a visit to his sisters, Misses Gerty and Bernie Kerney.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Marshall wish to return their thanks to their kind friends during the illness and death of their little daughter "Pussy"

A telephone wire, which hung suspended across Eighth street about two feet from the ground, was the cause of two or three serious falls last night.

Steve Buzzle is deserving of credit for the speedy manner in which he is performing the dangerous task of again putting the telephone wire in working order.

We are pleased to say that Robt. R. Livingston has been taken in as a partner with his father and brother, and will practice his profession in this city. The name of the new firm is Dr. R. R. Livingston & Sons.

A messenger on horseback came in town yesterday for Dr. Hall to proceed to the home of John Baker, a farmer living about six miles west of town. The messenger said that John Baker's son, aged 21, was not expected to live.

right the only place Plattsmouth. The telegraph to was Pacific Junction. That was uncertain. Traffic was delayed a great deal as train dispatchers would not forward trains until they heard from intermediate points.

It was delightful walking around the city last Saturday night. The sidewalks were so slippery that it gave a person the constant pleasure of going through the steps of a quadrille to the music of the dripping rain, which froze as it fell on the numerous extended umbrellas, giving them the white frosted appearance of the top of a wedding cake. Occasionally a person would twist their spinal column into the shape of a figure 8 as they tried to recover from a sudden fall. A grasp at a fence would not aid the recovery to an erect position, for they were also thickly coated with ice, causing a humorous illustration of the futility of the reliance on earthly expectations.

From Tuesday's Daily.

They had a span of horses for switching in the yards this afternoon.

The A. O. U. W. sociable is postponed until Thursday, April 5th, by order of committee.

D. E. Thompson, of Lincoln, Supt. eastern division of the B. & M., is in the city today attending to the dissatisfaction among the switchmen.

The case of Schnellbacher vs. Jones, in which Schnellbacher claims a certain amount for work done, was being argued before Judge Russell this afternoon.

The ladies of the Catholic church have completed all arrangements for their fair, and by request will serve dinner between 12 and 2 o'clock next Tuesday, in Fitzgerald's hall.

A case was being tried yesterday afternoon before Judge Russell of Cutright & Sherman vs. Commercial Bank of Weeping Water, garnishees. The case will be decided at 1 P. M. tomorrow. Col. Vanatta for plaintiff and Hartigan for defendant.

Some of the amusing, although distressing incidents of the late slippery weather, was the rapid transition some persons made while passing from the obverse to the reverse in their eagerness to blur the edge of the point where the Darwinian theory ceases to exist.

The following, which is called the telegraph pole problem, may interest some of our readers: How many feet board measure is there in a piece of timber 8 inches square at the bottom, tapering true on all sides to 4 inches square at the top, at 24 feet length. Some think 72 feet, and some think 80 feet. Some think neither is correct.

Billy Carr of Cedar Creek came in today, recovered his team, and paid Mike O'Rourke's fine. The other six Mecca pilgrims who participated in last Sunday's funeral procession preferred to remain in jail and serve out their fine. If the fine and costs against the men had amounted to about five dollars they would all have paid it, as it is the county will pay for their support for about eleven days at the rate of $1.50 per day.

From Wednesday's Daily.

Mr. McElwain is slowly improving in health.

Miss Evalyn Wise was a passenger to Omaha this morning.

Mrs. J. D. Simpson went to Nebraska City this morning to visit relatives.

John Becker, who has been sick for the past ten days is reported better today. Bert Wheeler, who has been visiting Byron Drow left this morning for his home in Omaha.

There has not been much change in the condition of health of Dr. John Black for the past few days.

Dan O'Rourke, came in from Missouri Valley, Iowa, last night. He will remain here about a week.

Regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. S. A. Davis.

The engineers are sick, the firemen are sick, the switchmen are sick and the B. & M. is sick. They are all out except the B. & M. and they can't go out, although they are out—lots of money.

The action of Sherman & Outright in the county court against the Commercial bank of Weeping Water as garnishee of James M. Cole, tried a few days ago, resulted in a decision for judgment for the defendant, costs taxed to plaintiff.

Postmaster C. W. Synder, of Cedar Creek is a prisoner in Omaha charged with embezzling and destroying a letter containing $75. He plead not guilty, and was bound over to the sum of $1,000 to appear before the United States district court.

April 3, being election day, the ladies connected with the Catholic fair have been requested to give a dinner in Fitzgerald's hall, between 12 and 2 on that day. The cost will be 25 cents. As the proceeds are to be devoted to a charitable object the ladies efforts should be appreciated.

Felix Kennedy, who has been employed in the boiler shops of the B. & M., leaves tonight to take up his permanent residence at McCook. Felix is one of those popular young men we hate to lose. He has a great many warm friends in this city who will regret his departure. He has always been respected for his honesty, industry and generosity. Good bye Felix and may prosperity attend you.

It don't seem to make any difference whether a lady is employed in a workshop or an office, a refining influence is always evident among the employes or the surroundings. This is especially noticeable in the transformation of what was once a dirty, musty, official apartment of this city, that was stored full of mouldy-looking ledgers, into a clean, attractive place for transacting business.

Mr. W. L. Tucker called in our office today and showed us his book in which he has kept the condition of the weather for a number of years back, and on the 28th of March for the past four years it has not varied more than three degrees, and one year ago, yesterday, there fell four inches of snow, and the next day five-eighths of an inch of snow fell. The thermometer registers just the same today as it did on the same date last year.

The case of J. M. Schnellbacher vs. Jones & Fitzgerald, tried in county court before a jury yesterday, resulted in a verdict of $40 for the plaintiff. The amount sued for was $175. The case was contested with earnestness and skill and especially inasmuch as the defendants were compelled to make their defense from the plaintiff's books—in other words go into the enemy's camp for ammunition to fight him with.

Mr. Voss the architect is in the city with instructions from Mr. Fitzgerald to meet him here and give him figures on a structure adjoining the opera house. Journal. Mr. Voss may have said so, but it's not so. Mr. Fitzgerald telegraphed from Lincoln for Mr. Voss to meet him at Plattsmouth and as Mr. Fitzgerald did not get any reply to his telegram he did not come. Mr. Voss did, but it was not in connection with any "structure adjoining the opera house." We will inform our readers concerning Mr. Voss's mysterious visits in due time.

Last Sunday will be long remembered by two young ladies of this city. One of them is a school teacher and was guiding the gentle footsteps of the other maiden across the velvety lawn, (it was plush last Sunday) in the direction of the Stull schoolhouse about three miles north of town. After they had transacted their business and counted the surrounding objects, they undertook to survey the country in the direction of Orepolis. They arrived at that classic region safely by four o'clock, waited till seven for the train, and then returned to Plattsmouth. Stanley's trials and tribulations in fording streams on the "Dark Continent" was nothing in comparison to what these ladies had to undergo. The water was icy cold, and in some places very deep, but there was no help for it, "we must get home before dark." "Are there any men around?" "No!" "Well, Jump." Oh! immortal shades of Mary Walker with bloomer costume, why were you not around to assist those ladies in their distress.

meeting held Wednesday evening, March 21, the Rocklin block, which is the headquarters of the association, and room for their worthy paper. The meeting was caused by the severe illness of the T. P. SWITCH, Sec.

The grievance committees of the various lodges of B. & S. T. & B. L. R. R. the "Q." system met at their headquarters Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, March 21, for the purpose of considering and taking steps in regard to the partialities now in existence on that road, between the main line and branch and side-tracks; the meeting being in response to a call from Pres. Rustyrai. There were 105 of the members of the association present. The afternoon, until 5:30, was taken up in speeches, laying out the complaints and questions to be acted upon; speeches were made by Messrs. Frog, Creston, Stoneballast, Plattsmouth, Spike, Burlington, and F. P. Tie, of Minneapolis. At 5:30 the meeting adjourned to meet at 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

Promptly at 7 o'clock p. m., Pres. Rustyrai called the convention to order, and a committee of eight was appointed to draw up resolutions. The committee consisted of Messrs. J. T. Roadbed, Hastings; F. R. Steelrail, Quincy; M. P. Smokestack, Kansas City; F. S. Coupling, Chari on; A. B. Frog, Creston; J. D. Stoneballast, Plattsmouth; G. H. Cowcatcher, Denver, and L. Sidetrack, Chicago. At 9 o'clock the committee presented the following resolutions, which were adopted without alteration:

WHEREAS, It is a grievous fact that there is a wide discrimination on the great "Q." system between the side tracks and branch roads and the main lines, and we, the factors of such side-tracks and branch roads, failing to see a just cause of such discrimination, do hereby

Resolved, That we shall endeavor to induce an abandonment of this discrimination and have one road brought in the same appreciation as another; and

WHEREAS, The discrimination consists largely in the abandonment of the side tracks and branch roads, and the using of a better rail on the main road, and the permitting of empty and freighted cars to remain upon us, so that our bright faces—which are the rails—are obliterated by rust for want of use, and the heavy cars upon us shade us from a view of the sunlit skies by day, and the star-spangled firmament by night, and which vision—applies a joy unappealable, be it

Resolved, That we demand that the volume of traffic on side tracks and branch roads be increased until it be equal to that of the main line in all respects, and

WHEREAS, The company cannot transact business without our aid, we, the side tracks and branch roads do

Resolved, That if a change is not brought about by April 1st, 1888, which shall coincide with our wishes, that at noon of the aforesaid day we shall lock our switches and refuse to further transact company business, at least till our demands are satisfied.

WHEREAS, Being in sympathy with our brethren, the factors of the main line, who are compelled under the present plan to do much more than by right befall them in the transportation of freight, and

WHEREAS, Much of the freight is unlimited as to time, be it

Resolved, That we invite the factors of the main line to cooperate with us in our effort to obtain our just portion of traffic; and that in place of standing unlimited freight upon side tracks, it shall be run out over branch lines and returned for the purpose of keeping things in motion and insuring the lightness of branch railroads.

On motion of Mr. Stoneballast, President Rustyrai and Mr. Frog were authorized to confer with the "Q." authorities and attempt to bring about a change with the proposed force. The meeting then adjourned.

S. T. CATTLEGUARD, Stenographer.

"He is not Dead, but Sleepeth." The following has reference to the district court now in session at Council Bluffs:

"During the afternoon session the case of Carruth vs. the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad was on trial. This is a damage case in which the plaintiff asks $20,000 from the road on account of the death of Frank Carruth. Mr. Carruth was a conductor on the road in 1884, and was running a passenger train into Pacific Junction. His train was backing and a collision was about to take place. He rushed to the rear platform and pulled the bell rope to signal the engineer to stop the train. The rope broke and he fell from the platform and was run over and killed."—Omaha Herald.

Poor Frank! Our belief in spiritualism becomes more confirmed. Instead of Frank Carruth it should have read "George Foster," Frank's brother-in-law, who was killed while a conductor some years ago on a passenger train running between Omaha and Pacific Junction. Mrs. Foster, the plaintiff, is now in Council Bluffs attending the trial.

each other on the ocean coast, and hence without being instinctively blended together, blended and beautified by assimilation alcholic of eternal love.

"The concatenation of circumstances," said Everts, "has not envolved out my pre-eminent position in the administration any element except such as dissociate to a successful aspirant after a more elevated situation; all my strivings for a boom have resulted in a boomerang."

"Most beautiful, accomplished, and charming madame, would your ladyship, by an unmerited condescension, transmit your most obsequious, devoted, and very humble servant that pair of Pyrepen-tists, that he may exasperate the ex-cuses of this nocturnal cylindrical luminary, so that its refulgent brightness and resplendent brilliancy may dazzle the vision of our ocular optics more potentially." He simply wanted the lady to hand him a pair of snuffers across the table.

An exquisite once drove up to the door of a country tavern, and addressed a small boy who came to the door, as follows: "Adolescence, extricate my weary quadruped from the vehicle, stabulate him, tender him a sufficient quantity of nutritious ailment, and after a reasonable length of time has elapsed, and he has ceased transpiring, manipulating his coat menswhile with a whisp of hay, allow him to quench his thirst with a modicum of aqua pura. When the aurora of morn shall have illumed the Eastern horizon, and I am about to resume my peregrinations, I will amply recompense thee for thy hospitality." The boy ran to the door, and bawled out, "Dad, dad, come out here; there's a Dutchman wants to see you."

Treat All Alike.

From Wednesday's Daily. At the last meeting of the city council an ordinance was passed in regard to the volunteer fire department of this city. It was ordered that the chief be paid $100 per annum, the assistant chief $25 per annum and the secretary $50 per annum. This is causing a great deal of dissatisfaction among the rank and file of the department, and they say let the department be a paid department or a volunteer department. They don't want any distinctions to be made only in the case of the secretary, who they say should get paid. A petition to that effect will be handed to the city council next week, and if they don't approve of it the whole of the hose companies and the hook and ladder company will hand in their resignations.

We expect a lively election next week. Prof. and Mrs. Sutton went to Oakland Tuesday night.

The Methodist quarterly meeting was held at this place last Saturday and Sunday. Owing to the inclemency of the weather and the condition of the walks not many were able to attend. Yet, notwithstanding all that it was a good meeting.
