

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the Ivory." They are not, but like all counterfeits, they lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for Ivory Soap and insist upon having it. 'Tis sold everywhere.

From Mondays Daily

We are glad to note an improvement in J. V. Weckbach's health. He will start Wednesday for Colfax Springs, Iowa, where we trust he may receive permanent benefits.

Fifty, or thereabouts, of Plattsmouth's fairest misses and most gallant gents, hid themselves away to "Fitzgerald's Forty" Saturday night for a moonlight picnic. A royal time was had by the merry young people, as the night was one of the most delightful of the season. Games of all kinds were indulged in and suitable refreshments were partaken of consisting of choice fruits.

Saturday afternoon a delightful Kensington tea was served at the pleasant home of Mrs. S. H. Atwood by the ladies of the P. E. O. society, in honor of Mrs. D. A. Campbell, who will depart for Lincoln in a few days. The parlors were artistically decked and draped with the society's colors, while the table was daintily with the china, flowers and tempting viands. Mrs. Campbell will be greatly missed in social circles, where she is a favorite.

An Incendiary Fire.

Last night about 1 o'clock the house owned and occupied by Mr. Ed Dillaha located one half mile north of the power house in Mercertown was burned down. Mr. Dillaha is the fireman at the power house and was engaged at his work when he noticed the fire, but before he could reach the building it was completely enveloped in flames. Mrs. Dillaha was not at home so that all their household effects upon which there was not a dollar's insurance was a total loss. It is a severe blow to Mr. Dillaha, who is an industrious citizen and who had nothing outside of his household effects, which are now swept away.

The wind was blowing very hard from the south east and when first discovered the fire had just begun burning at that corner. Near by was discovered their coal oil jug empty though it had been left full in the wood shed the day before. There was no fire in the house and had been none for several days, it was clearly the work of some incarnate fiend whose life should be a burden to him. It is not known whether robbery or cool calculating villainy was the object of the incendiaries. The good people of Mercertown should keep a keen lookout for suspicious parties, and if possible stop this business before it goes any farther.

Died.

John Bringman, late of Louisville, died at an early hour Saturday morning, of consumption, at the insane asylum, where he had but recently been taken for treatment. John Jackman, his son-in-law, went up and brought the body of deceased to Plattsmouth on the flyer and then took the Schuyler train for Louisville. The funeral took place yesterday at Riverview cemetery near the village. Mr. Bringman came to Nebraska in the fifties and was widely known and respected. He leaves a widow and two sons and two daughters to mourn his loss. He had been very feeble for some time and his death was in a measure not unexpected.

Lem. Cooper returned last evening from a pleasant sojourn in Atchison.

Mrs. Lew Myers returned home Saturday, her mother being much improved.

Mrs. E. E. Hilton returned home this morning after a visit among friends at Wymore.

Mayor Richey, W. H. Pickens and Wm. Webber were in South Omaha yesterday.

Fred Bates and Sam Carrigan with their wives started for the Grand Island reunion this morning.

Judge Chapman went to Colfax Springs yesterday morning to recruit up. He will attend a reunion of his old regiment at Des Moines before he returns home.

The genial Col. Greusel visited his son E. S. over Sunday and left this morning for Des Moines, where he will address his old comrades at a reunion of the "Hornets Nest Brigade."

THE UNWASHED

And Silk Stocking Crowd Elect Delegates to Wash--The Proceedings.

THE HERALD has all along counseled moderation, and has endeavored to get the "silk stockings" and the "unwashed" to dwell together in true Damon and Pythias fashion and with a heavy heart we are compelled to admit that success has not been achieved. Field Marshal Kroehler and Col. Peter E. Ruffner with a zeal worthy of a better cause sounded the tocsin of war from the hilltops that no "silk stockings" need apply in the second ward; the challenge was taken up and carried to the camp of the "silks" who were wrought exceeding wrathly. It was realized that something desperate must be done or Broehler would become the chief of a little Tammany of his own that might do great and lasting damage to the party of reform (?).

The "silks" under command of Hon. J. M. Patterson, the Stephen A. Douglas of Nebraska, with Hon. F. E. White and B. S. Ramsey as lieutenants marched down from the railroad camps with a hundred graders armed (with ballots) for the fray and the "unwashed" were taken by storm; they retreated in great disorder at the mere sight of the Sarpy county cohorts.

The Third ward under the careful management of David McEntee the embryo "John Kelly" of Plattsmouth, seemed to belong to the Gering faction but David was equal to the emergency and by a close shave pulled his ticket through by a majority of one. The Fourth ward people read the HERALD, and as result sweet peace and harmony prevailed, the office hungry horde of "silks" were routed body and breeches by the rank and file. Gering carried the ward and was feeling jubilant over it. The fifth appeared to have went by default to Gering.

But the first, where the doughty Connor wields the scepter, what of it? We understand all would have been loyally had not A. N. Sullivan (the man that discovered Dwyer) told Connor that he had heard it said by prominent democrats that he, Connor, could not go to the convention, Joseph pondered, and the more he thought of it the worse he wanted to go, consequently on Saturday morning at great personal sacrifice he let the markets rest and went to "seeing the boys" and he was a winner with votes to spare; the oily Joe hugged the Dutch with his right arm while he engaged the left in patting the Irish affectionately on the back, Joe is the Calvin Brice of Platts-mouth.

NOTES.

Chris. Wohlfarth was nominated for assessor in the first ward and Dr. Wintersteen in the Fourth.

Joe Connor drew his face down and looked like a man at a funeral in his attempt to appear innocent at the primary. The innocent act is not Joe's speciality.

Mat Gering came running in breathless after the polls had closed in the third, and after some debate was allowed a vote. He discovered when too late however that he had voted a fourth ward ticket which wouldn't count.

In the first ward Capt. Thresher seemed to be bearing the responsibility of a national campaign on his shoulders. While he was out on the street gathering in the unwashed, the silks closed the polls, Thresher returned to vote and was fairly heartbroken when he found he was too late; finally in a loud voice and in an impressively earnest manner he informed the chairman that there were 17 democrats back there in the hall who had not voted; as Thresher was the only man there he brought down the house. He had simply magnified his own importance.

Everywhere it was a free for all, no voters were troubled with questions as to their politics.

C. W. Sherman wanted to go as a delegate so bad, he could taste it, and when success had perched upon the Dwyer banners his smile deepened and broadened into a loud guffaw.

While the vote was being counted in the third Billy Mostin came in, having just voted in the Second, and C. W. Sherman had the polls reopened that the faithful representative Billy might get to vote.

Carpenter Billy Miller says there never was such a rotten primary held in the state of Nebraska as the one in the second ward Saturday night. He says the grading camps full of beer, came down and voted and that even then the hat was stuffed with 25 or 30 ballots. Billy, it is plain to be seen, is disgusted.

Fred Kroehler says this morning, "I say nothing, I just saw wood."

The report that Kroehler had crepe on his rooster is denied by Col. Ruffner.

Joe Connor confidentially told the HERALD reporter that he had 30 more votes down on the street worked up for the First ward but that the boys had all stopped to see the rope walker, and he didn't need them anyway.

To show you about Jim Patterson's persuasive eloquence, he actually had all the Bohemians fighting Kroehler in the second ward on the ground that Kroehler was a prohibitionist. When Kroehler heard of it he said, "Well Pap's a cuckoo and no mistake."

Ed Ruffner's tongue wouldn't go off just right, but his soul was in the fight.

For a new convert to democracy Tom Walling showed wonderful zeal and was noticed several times shedding copious tears for Dwyer. The cause for this sudden love for Dwyer may become apparent later on.

High School Notes.

School opened under a clear sky this morning with a good attendance, far beyond the average for the first day.

Among the pupils are many who attended the Sister's school last year. The manner in which our superintendent dispenses business shows conclusively that he knows how to manage and control a school.

The attendance this morning was as follows:

ROOM.	TEACHERS.	PUPILS.
1	Carrie Greusel	37
2	Miss Safford	32
3	Miss Fulmer	46
4	May Berry	27
5	Prof Halsey and Miss McClelland	52
8	Miss Tucker	26
10	Addie Searle	26
11	Alice Wilson	29
12	Bessie Slonaker	35
13	Miss Hannah	24
15	Maggie Berry	33

Promotions through the day will chage this to some extent.

Misses May and Maggie Berry arrived Saturday evening and were at the building early for the work of the coming year.

Miss Hanna is holding the reins in room 13, the largest room in the building, and by the way, she is one of the best disciplinarians in the schools, attends strictly to her own duties and is a successful teacher.

The manner in which Mr. Halsey takes hold, assures us that we are going to have one of the best High schools in the state. He is no novice in the school room.

Miss McClelland has the responsible position of assistant principle. She is one of our new teachers and one who has had much experience in the school room. Our schools are fortunate to obtain teachers of ability and we predict success to Miss McClelland.

Miss Bessie Slonaker's smiling countenance was visible today. She is one of our most pleasant teachers, always smiling and cheerful.

Miss Vallery and Miss Kearny are among the missing and they are missed indeed. They were two of our best teachers and we wish them success in their new positions as principals of ward buildings.

Miss Berta Hyers is one of the new ward teachers. She taught very successfully at Raymond and we predict she will prove one of our best teachers.

CLARA WILSON.

The county fair management have secured a rate of one and one third fare for our Cass county exposition. This will bring many people in from the west end of the county to trade so that it will pay our merchants well to make a fine exhibit, it will be a splendid advertisement.

Will Wehrbein left his coat in his buggy down on the street Sunday afternoon. A tramp gave a boot black 10 cents to get the coat for him which he did. Mr. Wehrbein discovered the loss in time to overhaul the tramp at the north end of 4th street and get his coat while his trampship took to the brush at a lively pace.

Albert Wright, son of Charles Wright found a large box of calico and some ticking in the ditch just south of happy hollow near the railroad track yesterday. The goods were for Begole & Vanastine of Beatrice and were evidently stolen from a car of merchandise. Mr. Wright notified the marshal and together they went down and got the box and turned it over to Agent Latham. Plattsmouth must be the headquarters for a gang of slick car thieves.

From Thursday's Daily.

The final settlement of the estate of Charles L. Bates was had today in county court.

Henry Isaacs got a permit this afternoon to wed; Mary Catharine Jacobs, both of this city.

D. W. Shinn is teaching the young idea its necessary musket practice out at the Fred Stull school house near the Platte bottom.

The Cottonwood Sunday School will give a basket supper next Monday night, Sept. 8, 1890. Everybody is cordially invited to come and have a good time.

Allen Beeson is not only a good attorney but a fine suburban farmer as well. He brought to this office this afternoon the finest lot of Concord grapes we ever saw and eight printers will testify that they were as good as they looked.

Mayor Richey worked and sweat all day yesterday trying to open his safe but he could not succeed, although it was locked as usual Saturday night; the combination would not work. Marion dont know what to think about it unless at the democratic primaries a new combination was put on to him that wont go. He dont know whether it was a Gering or a Dwyer combination, but one thing he does know and that is that it wont work.

City Schools.

Much interest is being manifested in the school work, which, if it is kept up, will be very beneficial. The total enrollment for the entire city yesterday was 772, for this morning it was 850, this being the largest enrollment ever obtained in the city.

The Sugar Palace.

The following special to the Omaha Bee gives a neat outline of the sugar palace:

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., August 30.—The Grand Island sugar palace, completed today, stands a monument to the energy and enterprise of Nebraska and Grand Island.

In connection with the panorama of Gettysburg it covers two blocks of ground.

In point of interest it surpasses that of any other palace ever erected, as representing an industry that is sure to revolutionize the agricultural industries of Nebraska and the whole west.

The exhibits in the palace are more varied than that of the Sioux City corn palace or any other. Maple sugar, beet sugar and the Caw sugar industries are represented. Ex king corn enters in the exhibits, as do all the cereals and grasses in Nebraska.

At the right of the main entrance is a miniature beet sugar factory in full operation, showing the product in every stage of its manufacture. This will be very instructive and interesting. At the left is a cane factory also in operation.

Adjoining this is one of the prettiest and most realistic scenes in the palace—a Vermont maple sugar camp scene. Small maple trees have been planted in the soil. A shanty and cobblestone fire-place and a race and flour mill are in the background. Everything is covered with artificial snow that requires the sense of touch to distinguish from the real.

The white room, corn, cereal and grass exhibits are also very interesting. Besides these Mr. Christie has presented a half dozen large Nebraska landscapes 10x30 feet. The roof is decorated with corn and beets.

The panorama of the battle of Gettysburg, which will be exhibited in connection with the palace, is the same size as those exhibited in Omaha and Denver and executed by the same artist.

The HERALD is sorry to learn that Thomas Hicks is seriously troubled with some painful nervous disease which draws his muscles up in knots, at which times his sufferings are very severe.

Eddie Fitzgerald can purr as softly as a kitten; he is the embodiment of youthful innocence and modesty, but he can set up a democratic primary to the queen's taste, and dont you forget it.

M. A. Hartigan filed two cases in county court today, one for $192.50 vs. the Canning Company for attorney fees, the other vs. the Wm. Guthman Estate for $245 account atty fees. Cases to be heard Sept. 13th.

Temperature.

Weather report for the month of August, 1890.
Monthly mean temperature 69.
Highest temperature 102, 2nd; 101, 7th; 96, 1st.
Lowest temperature 45, 22nd; 49, 17th.
Rainfall 5.36. Total rainfall for the summer months, 13.50.

The month of August is noted for its stillness, scarcely no heavy winds. Excepting on the 2nd, hot heavy winds from the south-west. The monthly mean temperature fine, below that of last Aug. a year ago. Rainfall half. The temperature never exceeded 99. The monthly mean was 74.4.

Corn crop this year is coming on finely after all. Some pieces will average nearly as much as usual. Ears bending over.

Small grain is of very excellent quality. But perhaps not so heavy as last year.
