H. M. BUSHNELL,
Business Manager.

Tomorrow is Arbor day.

The Masquerade at the skating rink tonight.

The Madison square "Hazel Kirk" company passed through this morning on their way to Lincoln.

Spectators will be admitted into the gallery at the T. A. M. Hop, Friday evening, for 25 cents.

The train for the west this morning was loaded to its utmost capacity, and they had on an extra coach too.

Johnny Blake is having the front of his wet grocery retouched. A little paint make the old building look quite new.

A new coat of paint is being put on the store fronts of the Rockwood building, which adds very materially to its appearance.

Mrs. Hattie Newton, we are sorry to learn, is suffering from a throat and lung trouble which recently attacked her, and is very sick.

A prairie fire Sunday, just the other side of the Platte, burned about 40 telegraph poles on the Western Union line, which shut off communication between here and Omaha.

John Fitzgerald has been elected a delegate by the land league of this city, to attend the national land league to be held at Philadelphia on the 30th.—State Journal.

The County Judge united in marriage yesterday Jean Mrazek and Antonie Rusicki, we hope they may be happy—they ought to be, if there is anything in a name.

The Democrats of Iowa have settled upon their principles upon the liquor question. They are in favor of a stringent license system, but opposed to any law upon the subject.

Clous Breckenfield, of Louisville has purchased Ed Rosenbaum's stock of liquors, bar fixtures, etc. He will move here and open up a saloon in the same rooms about the 15th of May.

The much needed work on the Main street gutters was commenced this morning, and the dirt and stuff taken from them used in filling up holes in the street and approaches to the crossings.

The supper in connection with the T. A. M. Hop, Friday evening, will be served at the Perkins house. The mere announcement is a sufficient guarantee of what it will be, and those who were never hungry before will be upon that occasion.

McDaniels, who had trouble with a Sunday School in Greenwood precinct last Christmas, and who appealed his case from the justice court to the district court, was in the city Monday settling up the appeal case to save the cost and labor of a trial in the district court. James Blanchard, a well known farmer of Tipton, was in the city with him.

J. B. Storde was called to Lincoln this morning by telegraph from P. P. Ireland regarding the Hastings men who arrested one Hamilton in Nebraska City at the instance of Borden as the abductor of the Hennecke girl. Hamilton, through his attorneys Ireland, Watson and Woodhouse, is after the Hastings parties with blood in his eye.

The ladies of this city will not forget the opening given by Mrs. Reed at her millinery parlors on Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings of this week; a representative of the HERALD dropped into the rooms yesterday and the display fairly overpowered him and caused him to thank his stars that he was yet single and would not be married for the next thirty days.

Mr. Randolph Smith, a representative of the Northwestern Press Association, and the author of "Temperance Evenings," an entirely original and sensible temperance movement among the children, arrived in Plattsmouth today, and aside from other duties will inaugurate one of his children's temperance corps of cadets in this city, assisted by the ladies. To this end the children are all requested to meet at the Presbyterian Church immediately after school tomorrow. Mr. Smith is a successful journalist, and wherever he has been has received very high endorsement for his temperance work and entertainments with the children.

The Jewish Passover.

On Saturday evening, April 21st, commences the Jewish Passover called "Pesach," it lasts for eight days. It is mentioned in the Bible, Exodus, chapter 12 and in numbers chapter 38. On the 15th day of the first month it is passover to the Lord, no work shall be performed and no leaven bread shall be found in your houses, as whoever shall eat leaven on these days will be cut off from his days among Israel. The first night is called "Sayder" which is celebrated as follows: The table is spread nicely with unleaven bread called "matza," also bitter herbs called "morer," also a piece of roasted beef called "zroe," the cups are filled with wine, then the host of the house stands up and says in the Hebrew language, "This is the bread which our fathers did eat in the land of Egypt, any one who is hungry or needy, let him come and be welcome to dine with us, this year we are here, the next we hope to be in the land of Israel." Then the youngest son asks his father to explain the meaning of all the above ceremonies, which he answers as follows: "Our forefathers were slaves to Pharaoh in Egypt and the almighty God redeemed them, therefore, it is our duty to thank the Lord the same as we were redeemed." "Zroe" is in commemoration of the Angel of Death passing over the houses of the Israelites when he went to smite the Egyptians. The "matza" or unleaven bread, the Israelites in hastening to go out of Egypt had no time to have their bread leavened. The meaning of the bitter herbs "morer," is because the Egyptians embittered the lives of our forefathers with heavy work. Then the "Hagada" is said, it is composed of the Psalms of David. Now the Israelites of this blessed free country perform the above ceremonies and also the poor suffering Jews in Russia perform the same. The difference is the same as it once was, a poor man made his living with the pick and shovel, while digging he struck a treasure and became very rich, to enjoy himself every year on the same day he invited his friends to a feast, he dressing himself in the same clothes that he wore when he was poor, and with a pick and shovel in hand and a bag full of presents which he gave freely to all the children, but a reverse of fortune came suddenly upon him, on some speculation he lost all his wealth and that of others which had been entrusted to him. The creditors sold his house and everything belonging to him and left him a poorer man than he had been before, hardly knowing what to do for a living he at last decided to move to another town and take up his old trade. He attired himself in his old clothes and with his pick, shovel and bag commenced his journey, when the children saw him they followed him for presents as usual, when he informed that he had only put on these clothes before to imitate the time when he was poor, but now there was no imitation, for all were genuine. We are now in a free country. Bitter herbs and all the foregoing ceremony is only to imitate, but the poor suffering Jews and the barbarous governments of Russia and Rumania ought not to eat the bitter herbs as an imitation of old times, but as genuine. Yours Respectfully,
AN ISRAELITE.

Hon. G. W. Ambrose, of Omaha, is reported missing by Omaha papers, as the following from the Omaha Republican shows:
About four weeks ago Hon. G. W. Ambrose, the well-known lawyer, went to Lincoln to attend to some court business, which would occupy his attention only three or four days. It was his intention, as he stated before leaving Omaha, to return home upon the completion of his business at Lincoln, but he never came back, and his whereabouts are unknown. His prolonged and unaccountable absence is causing a great deal of uneasiness among his friends and painful distress and anxiety to his family. Since he left Lincoln no definite trace has been discovered of his whereabouts, although efforts have been made in that direction. No word has been received from him by his family, and they are at loss to account for his mysterious disappearance.
It is known that he took with him quite a sum of money—several hundred dollars—and some of his friends seem to think that he has been made the victim of foul play. Unless something is heard from him very soon, the case will very likely be put in the hands of an experienced detective, who will go to Lincoln and endeavor to follow his trail from that point, and try to solve the mystery. It is hoped that nothing serious has happened to Mr. Ambrose, and that he will be discovered and returned to his family and friends in the wish of everybody.

DIED.

LEHNHOFF—Yesterday afternoon, Henry Lehnhoff, aged 12 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Lehnhoff, died after a short illness of three days.
The funeral occurs tomorrow from the Episcopal church, where services will be held.
Mr. and Mrs. Lehnhoff have in this, their sudden and great bereavement, the greatest sympathy of all their neighbors and friends. The suddenness of the death makes the affliction so much greater to the whole home circle.

Improvements in Sight of the Herald Office.

Mr. Phil Harrison's new two story frame residence on Seventh and Locust streets is approaching completion. It is a large, commodious, well planned dwelling, presenting a beautiful exterior. The builders are Messrs. Bates & Koehnke, who may well be proud of their job, which speaks very emphatically itself, both of the enterprise of Mr. Harrison and the taste and skill of Messrs. Bates & Koehnke as carpenters and builders.

V. V. Leonard has already made valuable improvements upon his half block on the corner of Sixth and Locust streets; a limestone wall of some two hundred or more feet in length along the entire west side of the property and across a portion of the south end to be surmounted with a fine iron fence, attests the enterprise and good judgment of Mr. Leonard in making the improvement upon his property, both substantial, enduring, and ornamental; in addition to this Mr. Leonard is putting in a first class wind-mill, with a 25 barrel water tank in his barn, which will furnish him water for his entire property. Mr. Leonard will construct upon this property a good dwelling house this season, which we propose mentioning fully, when we can have time to examine his plans.

Cashier McLaughlin is excavating for his basement and foundations for his residence, upon the corner of Fifth and Oak. This is one of the most slightly locations in Plattsmouth, and Mr. McLaughlin is going to erect a very fine residence here, combining all the modern conveniences and substantial comforts of the day without any attempt at display. This will be, when completed, perhaps, the best residence in Plattsmouth. The contracts are let and the building will be speedily completed.

Yesterday was Chaplain Wright's seventeenth birthday, and his family celebrated it at the Chaplain's pleasant home on Locust street, where were gathered his daughters and their families, Mrs. French arriving from Chicago in time to participate in the pleasant reunion. The HERALD hopes for the Chaplain many years of pleasant life yet in store for him.
