DR. FISHBLATT

OF THE DS MOINES & OMAHA MEDICAL DISPENSARIES, ON ACCOUNT OF HIS Immense Practice in Plattsmouth, Nebraska, WILL MAKE HIS NEXT VISIT ON Saturday, May 19, 1883 AND WILL REMAIN ONE DAY,

AT THE PERKINS HOUSE,

WHERE HE CAN BE CONSULTED ON THE Ear & Eye, Throat & Lungs, Catarrh, Kidne Bladder and Female Diseases as Well as All Chronic and Nervous Diseases.

DR. FISHBLATT

Has discovered the greatest cure in the world for weakness of the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight or blindness, diseases of the head, throat, nose or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach or bowels—these terrible disorders, arising from solitary habits of youth—and secret practices more fatal to the victim than the songs of Sirens to the mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most radiant hopes, or anticipations rendering marriage impossible.

Those that are suffering from the evil practice, which destroy their mental and physical system, causing NERVOUS DEBILITY.

The symptoms of which are a dull, distressed mind, which unfit them for performing their business and social duties, makes happy marriages impossible, distresses the action of the heart depression of spirits, evil forebodings, cowardice, dreams, restless nights, dizziness, forgetfulness, unusual discharges, pain in the back and hips, short breathing, melancholy, tire easily of company and have preference to be alone, a deposit in the urine, nervousness, trembling, confusion of thought, watery and weak eyes, dropsicalness, constipation, paleness, pain and weakness in the limbs, etc., should consult me immediately and be restored to perfect health.

YOUNG MEN Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect who might otherwise entrance listening senators with the thunder of their eloquence or walk to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with confidence. A CURE WARRANTED. Persons ruined health by unlearned pretenders who keep them drifting month after month taking poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately.

DR. FISHBLATT, dated at one of the most eminent colleges in the United States, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at certain sounds, with frequent blushing, and sometimes with derangement of the mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. F. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits which ruin both mind and body, assisting them for business, study, society or marriage. There are some of the sad, melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz. weakness of the back and limbs, pains in the head and dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, derangement of digestive functions, etc., etc.

TELEGRAPHIC

AN INTERVIEW WITH GEN. HOWARD.

HIS OPINION IN REGARD TO CROOK.

No Authentic News From Crook.

St. Paul Pioneer Press. Gen. O. O. Howard, commandant of the department of the Platte, accompanied by Lieut. Guy Howard, his son and aid-de-camp, is at the Merchants en route to Omaha. The General is on his way home from Fort McKinney where he has been looking up the condition of affairs in the country tributary to that post. Two companies of the ninth infantry have been transferred to Fort Russell, near Cheyenne, to give place to two companies of the Fifth cavalry, as that arm of the service is more effective at that point than infantry. There are now three companies of cavalry and one of infantry at McKinney. The general expressed himself as pleased with the development of the country where he followed the Nez Perces on that long and wearisome march over rugged mountains, through forbidding canyons and over trackless plains. The great civilization has opened up the wild wastes to settlement and cultivation.

ARIZONA MATTERS. General matters have been talked over for some time, the interviewer asked Gen. Howard the following direct question:

"It has been stated in the papers that you went to Arizona and made peace with the Chiricahua band of Apaches; and the allegation was further made that Gen. Crook was just then prepared to conquer them."

The general hesitated somewhat, and said he did not desire to enter into any controversy with a brother officer, nor to make any reply to the statement that could be construed into an attempt at defense, when none was needed.

Finally he requested that the question, as above given, be written, and then dictated the following answer:

"In 1873 President Grant, at the request of Mr. Delano, Secretary of the Interior, sent me to attempt to make peace with these Indians, the only tribe then at war with the United States. The President gave me letters to the division and department commanders, the latter being Gen. Crook, and directed me to report for specific instruction to the Secretary of the Interior. The letters and instructions are matters of record. I succeeded in carrying out the latter, but never exceeded them. Gen. Crook and myself were acting under orders then as now. He is a judicious officer, and I wish him abundant success."

A DANGEROUS TRIP. The general gave a sketch of his trip at the time of the treaty and said, with a half smile:

"I may have been too zealous in obeying orders, but it certainly was not a pleasant commission. I never went into battle with as many chances of death against me as I took when with an aide, an interpreter, and two scouts I went into the hair of Cochise, the Chiricahua chief, in the heart of the Dragoon mountains. My scouts found the trail and finally the hiding place of the band, and I was told I could go in, but only with four or five men with me, I rode the last 125 miles through the most difficult country, scarred with the deepest and most precipitous canyons you ever saw. The entrance to Cochise's den could have been defended by ten men against an army. It was through a narrow canon, with walls 200 or 300 feet high, and of sheer rock on both sides. I spent the night in the camp, and next night Cochise saw me. I made the treaty with him on my second trip, upon which I took back provisions. The Indians went to the reservation provided for them at Camp Apache and were afterward moved, why, I know not, further north to San Carlos, and congregated with Indians with whom they were not friendly. Cochise died and afterward his oldest son died also, I guess the Indians kept faith as long as they could; they generally do, I take it. I simply did as I was ordered. I was ordered to make the treaty, if possible—as I might have been to take a battery—and I did it. The treaty was deemed then a very desirable thing—and it was. Gen. Crook and I were on the best of terms. He wrote me a beautiful letter in acknowledgment of what I said concerning him in my report of the whole thing. He is an able, brave, judicious and faithful officer, and I do not wish any controversy between us."

THE PRESENT CAMPAIGN. "Have you any fears as to General Crook's safety at present?"

"No. I think—as he would think of me if I was in his place and he in mine—that he will act judiciously. I can tell as to the probabilities of his success as I don't know the number of Indians with whom he will have to contend. I should not suppose they numbered more than a couple of hundred, but, as I said, am without information on the subject. The band is desperate. They have lost all, or nearly all, their women and children, and in my judgment none will ever be taken alive. The Apaches are said to run away when attacked. So they do; it is their method of fighting, but they are the most dangerous and onerous in the world, so far as an ambush is concerned. You may ride right through their country and never see head nor hand, so perfectly do they conceal themselves, and you can ride right into an ambush, where you least expect it. The first indication you are likely to have is the ring of a rifle bullet."

"How about Crook's scouts?" "The Apache scouts are excellent for a time. So long as you keep them moving; so long as you give them active work, something to interest and excite them, they are excellent. They cannot stand inactivity, however, and are very apt to get tired, want to go back, and if permission to do so is refused, to desert and take the back trail."

"What of the alleged Mexican complications?" "Of them you know as much as I do; your sources of information are the same as mine."

"The country is very difficult of access and for travel, is it not?"

"None could be more so. It is far worse than the lava beds of northern California and southern Oregon."

Washington, May 27.—The war department has not yet received any information from General Crook. Adjutant-General Drum, however, received the following dispatch:

FORT BLISS, El Paso Co., Texas, May 26.

Gen. R. K. Drum: Nothing authentic yet heard in regard to Gen. Crook. I have daily communication with the Mexican military commander, Paso Del Norte, who assures me I shall be promptly informed of any news received from the military headquarters at Chihuahua. The commanding general of the Mexican forces has also given me like assurances. (Signed) FLETCHER, Commanding.

NICKERSON'S FALSE PRETENSES.

Some time previous to the institution of proceedings for his divorce, Major Nickerson applied to the war department for an attested record of his military services. He assigned as a reason for preferring this request, that he proposed going abroad and expected to visit Egypt to witness the military operations there incident to the war then in progress between the English government and the Khedive, and as he (Nickerson) was not a graduate of West Point, he desired to use as credentials an attested copy of his military record. Although contrary to precedent, the department acceded to his request and papers were duly prepared in the adjutant-general's office. Major Nickerson did not go abroad, but it now transpires that the papers were used in the trial of the divorce case to establish the high standing and record of the plaintiff in the suit.

PERU AND CHILI.

Senor Godoy, Chilean minister, has advised from his government, via the Mexican legation, Paris, announcing the ratification of a treaty of peace between Chili and Peru. His advice states that General Iglesias, who signed the treaty on behalf of Peru, is acknowledged in the whole of northern and central Peru. The terms of the treaty include the cession to Chili for ten years of the province of Tarapaca and Arica-Tacna, provision being made that on the expiration of that term the question as to whom the ceded territory shall thereafter belong shall be submitted to a popular vote of the people of the territory, the country to whom the territory is voted to pay the other $10,000,000 before acquiring possession.

SHOEMAKERS RESUME WORK.

Murder at Kearney.

Plot to Destroy a Whole Family.

Cincinnati, May 27.—Last night the shoe manufacturers and shoe operatives came to an understanding and terminated the lockout which has kept 2,500 workmen idle a fortnight. The workmen recede from their refusal to finish goods commenced by non-union men and all hands resume work to-morrow, leaving a settlement of the difficulty to a committee of arbitration.

Kearney, Neb., May 27.—This morning the body of I. J. Summers, a carpenter of this place, was found in his yard with a bullet hole through his head. It is supposed he was murdered for his money, as it is claimed he was in possession of a large sum last evening. The coroner's jury have not yet examined all the witnesses, but thus far nothing of importance has turned up. The case is surrounded with mystery, and all sorts of rumors are afloat. No arrests.

Wagon communication between here and Kearney county has been restored.

St. Louis, May 27.—A fiendish plot to destroy a whole family is reported from the town of Nelson, Ill. Friday night ropes were tied to all door knobs of the house of Mr. Boyd and then made fast to trees in the yard. Coal oil was then poured on and around the foundation of the dwelling and fired near the main door. Boyd was awakened by the noise of the flames and luckily was able to burst open a door and with his wife and several children rushed through the flames without harm, but the escape from a terrible death was a very narrow one. It is not known by whom or for what reason the devilish deed was committed.
