A MIXED MESS OF NEWS.

General Crook at Tucson.

Indian Matters in General.

Terrible Calamity in Italy.

Miscellaneous News.

GENERAL CROOK. Tucson, June 23.—Crook and staff arrived this evening. The population greeted him enthusiastically.

RAILWAY EXPOSITION. Chicago, June 23.—The national exposition of railway appliances, which has been in progress here one month, closed tonight. The attendance during the week has been very great, and it was decided to keep the exposition open two weeks longer, but the building was leased for other purposes, and thus was prevented.

ORDERS FROM HEADQUARTERS. Washington, June 25.—General Crook has been ordered here by the secretary of war for consultation as to the final disposition of the captured Apaches. The war department has received no official information of the arrival of the Indians at San Carlos, and no instructions to send them there have been sent to General Crook.

WORSE THAN SUPPOSED. Chicago, June 25.—The hard failure of McGeech, Everingham & Co., grows worse and worse as the actual state of affairs develops. Their liabilities were first put at $1,000,000, then $2,500,000. Two days ago, R. Bensley, receiver, said the liabilities would exceed $5,000,000. In an interview tonight he said the liabilities are over $6,000,000. Of this sum about $4,000,000 are due Chicago banks, which received land as collateral. The remaining liabilities of over $2,000,000 are distributed in large and small sums. The largest liability to an individual is $120,000, and there are several of $100,000. This estimate does not include Milwaukee parties. Only a week before the failure, $250,000 was received from Milwaukee by the firm, and all swallowed up in margins for settlement of accounts outside. Mr. Bensley says the only assets are $50,000 and the office fixtures.

A COUNCIL MEETING. San Carlos, June 25.—By order of General Crook the Indians of San Carlos reservation were called by the commanding officer of the post to meet the returned Chiricahua and give expression to their views in regard to their remaining on the reservation. The meeting was presided over by the commanding officer, and was addressed by Lee, chief of the Warm Spring Indians; Bonita, leader of the party which killed Judge McGeech and wife, and captured John Charley, and Monago, chief of the remnant at Victorio's band. The substance of their remarks was that they were glad to get back to the agency and be under the protection of General Crook. They would settle down and be good Indians, as they have promised the General. They said they had no friends at San Carlos, and wanted to go to the Apache country to be with friends. The tone of the speeches of the captive chiefs showed that they realized the hostility of the agency Indians, whose silence at the meeting was significant.

A TERRIBLE CALAMITY. London, June 25.—Intelligence of an appalling calamity at a place of amusement in Deers, on the shore of Lake Como, is just received. During a puppet show performance the structure took fire and was entirely destroyed. Forty-seven lives were lost. The show was in a large building over a tavern. There were ninety persons in the hall. Bengal light was used to represent a fire, and sparks from this set fire to a quantity of straw and fire wood in an adjacent room. On perceiving the flames the showman shouted "Fire!" The spectators thought the show was merely a realistic detail of the show, and remained seated. Cries of "Fire!" were soon raised outside the hall and the audience thinking the affray had arisen in the street barred the heavy door leading from the hall. They did not discover their mistake until the flames burst into the room. After the fire was extinguished for seven corpses were found in a terrible state, including the bodies of the showman and wife.

A large portion of the bodies are women and children. The wounded were hurt by leaping through the windows. A child was hung out of a window by its mother, and fell upon a pile of straw. This is the only one of the spectators present in the hall that was not hurt.

BEECHER'S BLOW OUT. New York, June 25.—The academy of music in Brooklyn, was overflowed this evening by the friends and admirers of Henry Ward Beecher. An attempt to celebrate the seventh birthday of the academy was made. The academy was crowded with people.

Among those present were Mayor Law, Rev. Dr. Robt. Collier, Thos. Armitage, Edward Beecher, and many other distinguished persons were on the stage. Mr. Beecher, Harriet Beecher Stowe, and other members of the Beecher family occupied boxes. On the entrance of Beecher on the stage he was greeted with the greatest enthusiasm, the audience rising and loudly cheering. Professor Charles West said they had come to honor a philosopher, a poor man's friend, a lover of nature of flowers and children, to honor one whose name will stand for centuries. Like Mont Blanc, alone in his fame. Dr. Chas. H. Hall was nominated chairman. On taking the chair he said although Beecher had been the most abused man in the country, he was never known to utter an unkind or severe word of any man. Telegrams of congratulations and letters of regret were read, among which were those of ex-President Hayes, Abram Hewitt, Professor Dana, George F. N. Curtis, President White, of Cornell, Governor Cleveland, ex-governor Correll, Governor Sherman, Wendell Phillips, Fred Douglass, Mark Twain, P. T. Barnum, General Hancock and hundreds of others. Resolutions expressive of respect, esteem and affection were adopted by a rising voice. Robbie Gottlieb, of Broadway temple, read an address printed on behalf of his fellow Hebrews.

EMIGRATION MATTERS. New York, June 25.—The emigration commissioners held a special meeting to consider measures to prevent pauper immigration from Great Britain. This action is called for in view of the large arrivals of pauper immigration yesterday. Commissioner Stephenson said he had procured affidavits from several immigrants showing that they had been inmates of several poor houses in Ireland and were induced to come to this country by workhouse masters, from whom they had got passage tickets and small sums of money. The commissioners considered the lauding of paupers largely due to the laxity of the management at Castle Garden, and recommended that inspectors be appointed who would not be afraid to do duty. After further discussion it was resolved to instruct the secretary of the board to detain all emigrants proved to have been sent here by funds furnished by the British government, and to appoint a committee of the board to wait on the collector and to present the affidavits taken in regard to such cases, and to ask the steamship companies which brought such immigrants here to be compelled to return them to the port from whence they came at their own expense. While the meeting was in progress the commissioners were informed that the steamer Anchorina had just arrived with immigrants whose passages were paid by the British government, and who were paupers. It was resolved not to allow the Anchorina's passengers to land until the inspector made a thorough investigation. The commissioners express themselves as determined to put a stop to the landing of pauper immigrants from foreign countries. The committee laid the matter before Collector Robertson, who promised to take decisive action at once.

The 30th of May. On the 30th of May, 1861, the Nation was arming for war—getting ready for the people knew not what. There was anxiety and fear in nearly every home, for nearly every one had sent a representative to the army. But of all the Union soldiers Colonel Ellsworth and a few others only had lost their lives. After a few weeks of preparation the volunteers had been ordered forward, and the people realized that actual war had begun.

On the 30th of May 1862, Gen. McClellan's army in the east occupied Port Royal, and Gen. Halleck's army in the west occupied the rebel fortifications at Corinth. The battles of Bull Run, Donelson, Shiloh, and Port Royal had been fought, and the battle of Fair Oaks was fought the next day. The people feared the stern realities of war, and there was sorrow as well as anxiety in thousands of homes.

On the 30th of May, 1863, Grant ordered the erection of earthworks at Vicksburg. The emancipation proclamation had been issued, the battles of Chancellorsville, Fredericksburg, Stone River, and Champion Hills had been fought, and the people had settled down with grim determination to fight the struggle out, cost what it might.

On the 30th of May, 1864, Lee, making his last offensive movement against Grant on the Chickamauga. The battles of Gettysburg, Chickamauga, Chattanooga, and Knoxville had been fought, Vicksburg had been captured, and the Wilderness campaign was fresh in the minds of people.

On the 30th of May, 1865, the morning papers contained the amnesty proclamation of President Johnson. Lee had surrendered. Richmond had been taken, the march to the sea had been made, Jeff Davis had been captured, the war was at an end and the boys who had worn the blue were homeward bound.

At this time the people thought most of the 700,000 returning soldiers, and their triumphs. But not many weeks passed before the heart of the nation turned with a fresh outburst of pity and sympathy to the 150,000 wounded and sick detained in hospitals, and before another year had passed the 280,000 dead soldiers claimed more attention than the living.

As early as April 13, 1866, congress enacted a law protecting the graves of soldiers.

ever there had been a battle or a hospital, and on the 22d of February, 1867, enacted another establishing national cemeteries, and providing for the removal of the remains of those buried on fields of battle. Soon every rural and village graveyard had its squad, every city cemetery its company or regiment, and every national cemetery its division or corps of the known and unknown dead of the war.
