She Liked It.

Susan adored her well-turned limbs.

With delicate nose but not for show:

Yet every where that Susan went.

It followed her to church one day.

Playfully gambling round

Was interlarded, nightly on the street,

As Susan often found.

And when the sexton shut it out,

It trickled and oozed near Keenly in the night about

Ill Susan did appear.

"What makes the wind plague Susan so?"

"Kind hearted young men cried:

"'Anno Susan don't object, you know."

An elderly maid replied.

A. Salisbury, Dentist.

No rain today, but cold and cloudy.

The river today stands at 12 feet 10 inches.

The Supreme Court will be in session at Lincoln, next week.

The business man now interviews his customers with bills accumulated during the last thirty days.

Smith & Black Bros. have their hand some new soda fountain in running order and from 7 o'clock until 9 this evening will dish out free soda to the boys.

Our reports of the celebrations at Rock Bluffs and Weeping Water have been read with interest and high complimented by many readers of the HERALD.

Regular services at the M. E. church, tomorrow. Subject for morning discussion—No other Name. In the evening—Mormonism, and Celestial Marriage.

There is a sidewalk ordinance in force in the city requiring the walks to be sixteen feet wide, also one requiring them to be on a grade. Yet the sidewalks on both sides of Main street are full of breaks, loose boards, etc.

A spirit of rivalry exists between a couple of our downtown clothiers, and they offer big bargains in clothing.

One day one of them offers a suit of clothes for $1.75 and a chromo thrown in. The next day the other offers a suit for $1.75 and throws in a monkey.

They charge for the chromo and monkey and throw in the suit of clothes.

PERSONALS.

Rev. Burgess went to Ashland this morning.

Sheriff Myers boarded the train for Lincoln this morning.

Hon. J. W. Barnes was a passenger on Omaha this morning.

J. C. Morrissey and wife left this morning for Denver and the Rockies.

Mr. Thomas Thomas and wife went to Louisville this morning to spend the Sabbath.

Miss Florence Davis, of Louisville, returned to her home this morning after a short visit with friends in the city.

B. W. Briggs and wife of South

Bed, returned home this morning from a trip to Washington, Philadelphia and New York and Ohio and reports a very pleasant trip.

D. T. Sherman, the genial editor of the Sterling Press, spent last night in the city, and returned home this morning. He reports everything prospering and improving in his neck of the woods.

Mrs. H. N. Orr, of Buena Vista, Colorado, after a pleasant visit of several weeks with her sister, Mrs. J. W. Shannon, and many old friends in the city and county, started home this morning on the N. O. Her sister went with her as far as Lincoln.

Miss Mabel Shervin, daughter of Hon. John Shervin, ex-treasurer of Dodge county, after a two week's visit with Mrs. J. Newt Hays and little Annie, returned to Fremont this morning, accompanied as far as Omaha by Mrs.

Hays.

Capt. Shannon returned this afternoon from a week's trip through the country, taking order for the fine varieties of fruit trees and shrubbery which he has for sale. He reports everything as far as his observation goes, as hopeful and looking up.

J. W. Cutright, "eye local" of the Journal, is off duty today enjoying a little sickness, on his own hook. We hope it is nothing serious, and that "Cutlie" will be himself by Monday.

There will be two races each day during the State Fair, except the first day which will be devoted to entries and getting things in the proper running order. The biggest purse is the free for all trotting race for $1,000.

Several of the boys in town have fully recovered from the celebration yet, and a couple of them "clashed" this afternoon with a prospect of a fight, but for a time. They were separated, however and no blood was shed or bones broken.

Joe Ford was attracting the attention of quite a crowd this afternoon, on Main street, with a little spittoon, and five little iron rings, the game being to throw the rings into the spittoon.

It is easy enough to hit the spittoon, but not so easy to lodge one of the rings therein.

Wm. Valentine, wife and baby, of Plattsmouth, came down to our town

Monday, where "Billy" will probably locate. He is a fine-size and carriage painter, and our citizens will do well to see him before giving their orders in that line, as he will do a first-class job. Mrs. V. will probably return the last of the week to Plattsmouth, for a short time. -Auburn Post.

The Plattsmouth dailies are in almost as much of a dilemma as the Omaha dailies. The power presses in both offices are broken and cannot be used, and were it not for the fact that there is a hand press in the city which, in a pinch, can be brought into requisition, the many readers of both papers would be minus the record of the day's doings among and about us. The Herald hopes and expects to be repaired and out on time Monday, however.

Word has been received at this office, just as we go to press, that a hail storm struck Plattsmouth, in the vicinity of Geneva. What is extent or extent of the destruction we have not heard; but hope it may not be serious. - Sutton

Register

We hope this report is a mistake. The locality of Geneva was scourged with a terrible hail storm some three years ago.

The Nebraska City News man is entirely too good for this world and has a poor chance in the next. Necessity, may, however, find a way for him. He says: "A saloon keeper stopped his paper yesterday because we would not "trade out" the amount. That fellow evidently will become rich in the sweet lye and lye. We might have accommodated the man, but we have sworn ourselves, like him, sell our goods for cash."

One of the HERALD force attended the Cindarella rehearsal last evening,
