Plant Over the Corn.
 Mr. Henry Shaffer says to plant the corn fields over the givings it is his experience that he has planted corn after July 16th and raised corn that would grow; plant corn for feed and take the chances on frost. It is found to make good feed at best and feed for stock in the face of the crop loss is no small object.

Polin vs The State.
 Mr. Allen Beeson and Hon. Ed.
 Woolley returned from Lincoln yesterday evening, where they had been engaged for the past two days in the argument of the case of John Polin vs. The State. The argument of the case was concluded yesterday, and the entire cause finally submitted, and now Johnny Polin's fate lies in the hands of our three Supreme Judges. His counsel feel hopeful and confident that the Court will grant him a new trial; yet there was no intimation from the Court during the argument as to what the judgment of the Court would be.

The editor of the Grand Island times speaks as follows of a wholesale lot of spearmen which recently passed through Grand Island on their way to the "land of promise." Eighteen loads of spearmen were passed through here last Saturday for the Zion of the Latter Day Saints. They were the sub-stratum of humanity. The women were in looking, filthy and groveling. The Editors that were in charge of the outfit said to the writer that "the Lord was gathering in his own against the day of eternal vengeance; that He had set up his Zion in the mountains of the Lord, and that He would tolerate the intrusion of the wicked Gentiles for a season, but after a "time and a half time" the Lord would swoop down with all his armies against them, and they would be up as with fire. Only those who do to the mountains will be saved." We asked him, if those emigrants were the chosen of the Lord?
 "Yes," he said, "these are the little children spoken of, which He desired should come to him. "Why said he,
 "these are growa people but they are little children in their minds and hearts -they are innocents."
 We got a whiff of the ear just at this point, and we involuntarily remarked, that they were rather loud-smelling in-nocents, and I changed our position.

Teacher's Institute.
 The fourth annual teacher's institute will be held in Plattsmouth from Aug-

Central Cass.
 Complete Details of Yesterday's Storm.

Cass county has never experienced such a visitation from the elements as that of yesterday; a strip of country twenty miles in length and from eight to twelve miles in width is in ruin.
 True there are isolated places scattered through this territory where the destruction has not been as complete as in the main, but it is all a scene of desolation. Men who looked yesterday morning upon waving fields of golden grain, ripe for the harvest, and upon magnificent fields of growing corn, today see only barren fields with every vestige of crops destroyed. It is indeed a sorry day for hundreds of our farmers. The HERALD presents above a map of the county and the storm district; that portion of the county in black, represents the storm district, and one million dollars would not compensate the inhabitants of that district for their losses.

From the best reports to be gained we place the west limit of the storm on a line running from South Bend village south by Louis Elkhoff's, down east of Weeping Water, about a mile and a half, and from thence southeast to the county line, including the Sheldon's and Bellard's, and the country adjacent to Nehawka P. O. The east line of the destructive part of the storm may be described on a line east from a mile east of Cedar Creek south by John Beckers', W. R. Murray's, The Carroll neighborhood in Rock Bluffs precinct and down in Liberty, below Union P.
 O. meager reports received, locate the storm further south, well down in Otoe county. To describe the storm is an impossibility.

Shutters were no protection to windows. The hail destroyed glass and sash, and in many instances drove through the houses, breaking windows on the east side. In the centre of the storm belt, hail went through siding on houses like shot. Trees are stripped of their foliage, bark pulled from limbs, which stand naked and bare in the sunlight. There are many people in from the country, each with his own experience to relate, and many with tears in their eyes relate the loss of their all.

The following accounts from our special correspondents, relate graphic-ly the ruin that has been wrought, and the reports complete as they are, can not begin to adequately relate the ravages that the storm has wrought.

AT THREE GROVES.
 From our special Reporter.
 Today at 11 o'clock a. m., this section was visited by one of the worst hailstorms that the oldest settlers ever experienced in Nebraska, and very seldom in other states, and to be hoped will never take place again. All country around could be seen gradually rising in the north and west, accompanied by distant muzzling thunder; not much attention was given to it until about 10 o'clock a very heavy and dense black cloud was seen to be approaching in the north west, moving slowly as was thought around to the north. In a very short period of time the cloud changed its course, moving directly west and south and still drawing closer; it was now evident that a terrible storm of wind and rain, probably hail was upon us. At 11 o'clock the presence of the cloud and with the rapidity that it was moving, it seemed impossible and a miracle for it to pass without destruction to growing crops in some form. A few minutes past 11 o'clock, the wind began to blow and the hail to fall accompanied with a heavy rain, as the storm advanced the hail increased in size and number and at the rate the wind was blowing with great rapidity.
 In less time than it takes to write this, the beat full green corn and the ripening small grain was swept away like the morning dew, nothing being left whatever only the stubs. After the storm had abated to some extent the reporter started out to prospect, going west to ascertain or see how much damage had been done. It almost baffles us to describe on paper really how the storm was or the extent of the damage. Out two or three miles in the vicinity of Anderson Roots and Wm. L.
 Lloyds, we find the storm struck with greater fury than here cutting everything to the ground in its course. The cornfields were one hour before stood the waving corn, waist high, was now but a naked and black looking field, not even a stub or weed to be seen in places. The small grain is all cut to pieces and beat into the ground. The leaves are all stripped from the hedge, and trees are as leafless as in winter, the weeds along the roadside are all beaten down looking as if a mowing machine had been at work; in fact all vegetation is ruined, and no prospect for a crop of corn or small grain under any circumstances. The orchards are greatly damaged, the trees being stripped of quite all the fruit, unless where protected by trees-being cut and barked up. Several chickens and hogs were killed in the neighborhood.
 We learned of one yearling calf being killed, besides birds and squirrels, and in one instance a cow dead.

 Jim Root was out in all the storm, received some very severe bruises and came very near having a wrist broken by a large hail stone. Scott Hare took in all the storm and received some large stumps on the head and body. Several teams ran away, but as yet we have not learned of any injury to amount to much. All the window lights on the north and east side of buildings were broken out. J. B. Moore had forty-eight broken.

From what can be learned the storm was lighter at Rock Bluffs and vicinity than here, and how for west it extended we are unable to say - but probably several miles, from all accounts. Our mail carrier is reported lost, and has not been seen since the storm. His mule is supposed to have a few minutes before the rain going toward the postoffice - a short distance north of the Three Groves postoffice.
 Beside the road his hat and a gum overcoat was found. Where the carrier is remains a mystery, and not explained.
 The mule is supposed to have been driven away, going south toward Union P.
 O. gent search is being made in that vicinity for him at this writing.

What the farmers are going to do is hard to explain. It is too late to plant corn again, and to plant anything but feed corn. Some say they want to do nothing more, and give right up; others say that they will plant their ground in something, or keep trying, and it will only take time to show what will be done, and how much.

west, the crops are badly cut up.
 We learned of several farms in the track of this storm which will have fair corn crops. Among these are John B. Holmes and Mr. Calkins, his neighbor, also, on the farm of George A. Seybold. Mr. Holmes, we learn, has some thirty or forty acres of fair corn.

The farmer who held on to his old corn, or prudently reserved a good shure for a "wet day," can be pointed out as a "lucky dog." The poor center who has worked hard for nearly months, toiling for the good crop he had yesterday morning, and who had with assured assurance made up his mind that his hard toil was about to be recompensed by the beautiful harvest ripening before his eyes, and who had gone in debt for machinery, and had many men he talked of with today, is in a bad dreary.

STORM NOTES.
 Wm. Ekenbury, living 10 miles south of town says there is nothing left but barb wire fences.
 A branch of Osage orange hedge off Mr. Calkin's place west of Eight Mile Grove, was brought in town that was destitute of bark, and the wood its if splintered.

James Hall was one of the few fortunate ones who had his growing crops covered with insurance against tornados and hail.
 A boy plowing corn near Mt. Pleasant saw the storm coming and mounted one of the horses and started for home. A halibone struck him on the head, knocking him from the horse, and another halibone knocked an eye out of the head of one of the horses.
 John Kamsay, living near Louisvile, says that he and his neighbors have absolutely nothing left. That they were in the center of the storm and that everyone fled from the fields for their lives.

Wm. Johnson, living south from the city says there is not enough left on the place to feed a pig a week, and the country for miles around is like a plow field.
 The mail carrier between this place and Nebraska City, mention of which is made in another place, had a terrible experience with the elements. He was last seen, just before the storm, north of the Three Groves postoffice. When the storm struck him the team took fright and ran away. The boy lost his hat and coat, and all through the terrible storm, he clung to the team which landed him at Mr. Murray's near Union, where his eyes put to bed and his feet were cared for. Parties who have seen him say his limbs and back are one mass of black and blue spots, and the back of his head pounded and gashed in a terrible manner. His condition yesterday after the storm was considered precarious, but he is reported much better today.
