Grand Fourth of July Poem.

Cook and Yeats, the barber mates,
The best you'll find in seven states;
If any doubt, they'll find it out
By calling in when they're about,
With good shampoo and bergamot,
They'll slick you up without a doubt.
If your hair is curly, they'll cut it straight,
Or shave your face at any rate.
We'll warrant them to shave with ease,
And all their custom try to please.
Their tools they keep in extra shape
In order to, means faces scrape.
The Ladies too, they now invite,
For them, you know, they must not slight;
They'll cut your bangs just in the style,
Now please call, and give them a trial.
In the Court House shop you'll always find
The doors wide open, from seven till nine;
And Sam and Billy you'll find there, too,
Always ready to accommodate you.

YEATS & COOK.

STORM AT OXFORD

One Man Killed, and Two Injured.

The State Journal contains a special today of an accident at Oxford, in the Republican Valley west of Arapahoe in Furnas county. At a little after 7:30 yesterday evening a violent storm of wind, rain and hail struck Oxford and vicinity, doing considerable damage to crops, out houses and temporary buildings. The storm lasted some fifteen minutes and some window glass was broken, however, the damage to crops was not so bad as at first supposed.

Says the Lincoln Journal's correspondent, upon learning that an accident had occurred to a construction train which was approaching Oxford from the east, occasioned by the wind blowing a flat car from the switch near town, upon the main line and carrying it eastward with great speed:

"I immediately went on the run to the wreck, and found one man unconscious and two others badly bruised about the head. Engine 68, run by Sam Jennings, had four flat cars ahead of the engine and several in the rear. The laborers who board in town were sitting on the flats, and on the front car were about six persons, and when their car struck, the one on the track the one on the track raised and slid right up on top of the car the men were on; caught one fellow and just rolled him between the cars. He died last night at 12 o'clock. All were knocked off and somewhat injured. Ed. Dolan was conductor, who immediately went back to flag the mail train from the east.

Dr. McClaine, railroad surgeon, was on hand at once, and did all possible for the sufferers; also Dr. McClelland. The names of the wounded I am unable to give at present.

Last of damages will be sent you tomorrow.

At the board of trade meeting last night, the Soldiers' Home proposition monopolized the attention of the gentlemen present and after considerable discussion the following committee was selected to whom the entire matter was referred: A. N. Sullivan, chairman, H E Palmer, R B Windham, J V Weckbach, J W Johnson, D H Wheeler, C W Sherman, F E White and R R Livingston.

The opening of the new B. & M. extension to Washington, Kansas was celebrated yesterday by a rousing excursion to Lincoln, where the Kansans are said to have been delighted with the prosperous appearance of Nebraska's capital.

The Madigan and Money letters were boomerangs; says the State Democrat, which is very consoling news just now, while Dr. Miller is laying so much importance to the Madigan circular.

A terrific rain and wind storm occurred at Lincoln last night doing considerable damage to growing crops.

Mr. F. W. Whittemore, traveling agent of M. B. Reese, Job and Block P. utes, Omaha, is in the city today.

A FEARFUL DEATH.

Timothy Sharp Killed by Accident

Saturday night Timothy Sharp, Sr., and son were enroute for home, having visited the city through the day, and when north of the city were joined by Mr. Simeon Upton, of Cass county, who was driving a spirited team of horses and a wagon heavily loaded with lumber. Going down the Kinney hill, near Walnut creek, Mr. Upton halted and allowed the Sharps to precede him. While waiting for them to pass he locked a wheel of his wagon with a rope. At the foot of the hill Walnut creek is spanned by a bridge with a light railing. Mr. Sharp and son were just starting across this bridge when the brake on Mr. Upton's wagon gave way and the lumber on the wagon slid forward, striking and frightening his horses so they became unmanageable, and ran away. Going down hill at lightning speed they collided with Mr. Sharp's wagon throwing them out, and knocking the team and wagon off the bridge into the creek below. Mr. Upton's wagon and horses ran over the elder Sharp killing him almost instantly. He never spoke after the accident occurred. Mr. Sharp's death causes deep sorrow, as he was well known and well liked, and was a good man. He was one of the oldest and leading farmers of old Otoe, and his funeral yesterday was the largest ever witnessed in Otoe county with one exception. The deceased leaves a wife and six children, all of whom live in the neighborhood of this city. His children are Mrs. A. Theis, Peter Sharp, John Sharp, Mrs. George Chelike, Mrs. Henry Wahling, and Tim Sharp, Jr.—Neb. City Press.
