What Shall I say?

This is a question now puzzling a great many of our readers who are desirous of showing their appreciation to their relatives and friends by sending them a valuable, yet not extravagant present.

We have a gift for $6 and another for $1.50 either of which would be highly appreciated by the receiver, and before buying something that is only valuable to your friend as a keepsake we invite you to consider the idea of paying $6 for the DAILY HERALD sent from Christmas to Jan. 1, 1889 to a relative or friend whom you wish to please, or if your friend does not live in or near Plattsmouth pay $1.50 for the WEEKLY HERALD sent them from Christmas till Jan. 1, '89, which will not only be interesting and appreciated but will advertise the city and help to induce those seeking a prosperous and lively city to locate here.

The DAILY and WEEKLY HERALD for 1888 are the best Christmas gifts in the market and would be received with pleasure by any person interested in Plattsmouth or her people.

—District court was to-day occupied in the case of Hobbs vs. Janeway & Co.

—E. G. Dovey & Son contemplate heating their entire building with steam.

—City Atty. Clark is making a good record in behalf of the city of Plattsmouth.

—Friday a number of Omaha policemen bring suit to obtain their over due salaries.

—The city council could not raise a quorum last evening but they raised comps and took in "Eloped."

—Sunday night a young man in Lincoln named Chas. Morris, recently from Wapelo, Ia., committed suicide.

—County Judge Russell last evening issued a marriage license to Edward E. Howell and Miss Annie L. Gilbert.

—A young negro boy aged 8 years was up before the Omaha police judge yesterday charged with drunkenness.

—"Eloped" was played to a fair audience at the opera house last night. It proved a very satisfactory entertainment.

—The case of the boy from Weeping Water charged with selling a glandered horse was to-day continued till the 16th of January.

—The Christian church will give a social Friday evening at the residence of John Tutt, in South Park. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

—The ball and literary entertainment to be given at the opera house next Monday night by the Odd Fellows promises to be a very fine success.

—A case was filed to-day in the district court of A. C. Soder as guardian of Maggie Twiliger vs. Twiliger, to have a marriage set aside and made void.

—Another horrible fatal accident occurred in Omaha yesterday on account of the fateful switch-frog. A new switchman named James Holland attempted to cross the track in front of an engine, but caught his foot in a frog and his right leg was crushed. From the shock and loss of blood the man soon died.

The C., B. & Q. vs Cass County.

In the case tried yesterday wherein the C. B. & Q. R. R. was plaintiff and Cass County was defendant, spoken of heretofore in these columns, the testimony showed that the bridge was operated as a bridge and not as a part of the main line, that while the state law of Iowa and Nebraska makes the maximum charge of three cents per mile for passenger traffic yet more than 20 cents per mile was charged for riding over the bridge, the testimony further showed that the bridge property for a part of the time in controversy, was listed to the assessor by Mr. D. E. Thompson, Supt. At Mr. Holdrege's request, Mr. Thompson personally signed the assessment roll; it was further shown that the R. R. Co. failed to appear before the board of equalization and make any complaint of a double assessment at the June meeting of the board, as other tax payers are compelled to do. It was further shown that the auditor of state had by letter (the letter being produced) shown that the state board for one of the years in controversy and the county had failed to assess the bridge; whereupon the county clerk listed the bridge property as he was by law compelled to do. A great many other points on behalf of the county were proven and not controverted by the railroad company. The railroad company claiming that the bridge was a part of the main line and as such, was assessed by the state board.

The case was given to the jury about nine o'clock last night with instructions from the court, that in the opinion of the bystanders, was about all that the railroad company could ask for; yet the jury were out all night and a majority refused to bring in a verdict under the testimony in favor of the railroad. The court this morning then called the jury in and charged them to bring in a verdict for the plaintiff which was done, thus taking the question of fact entirely out of the hands of the jury, a proceeding very much to be regretted by the taxpayers of this county.

B. & M. Shops.

The genius and invention of man, his ingenuity in the arrangement of machinery, his capabilities in adjusting, regulating and controlling it,—is a wonder of wonders? Have you been at the shops when the whistle blew, and watched the men rush to their posts of duty, every man to his place, and with one turn of a crew, tap or thumb-screw, or the throwing on of a belt, or the jointing of cog wheels, all properly adjusted, each start off as regularly as clock work, with its separate mission to perform. Hundreds and thousands of belts, cog wheels, pistons,—yes, from the minutest instrument to the most powerful, all propelled and regulated by an enormous engine of two hundred horse-power. Imagine two hundred horses, four abreast drawing with all their might, and you then have some idea of the magnitude of the engine. But a second thought. Let us again gaze around, and think who put all this machinery in order. It did not come by chance,—by no means; but on the other hand it has been moulded and invented through the instrumentality of the mind of man; hard study and close application has brought this about. One cannot help being almost dumb-founded to behold the many wonders at the immense machine shops. We find there are eight different departments. Under Mr. Grousel, the foreman of the machinists department, there are one hundred and thirty men, of usual tact and ability. Our time was so limited yesterday that we did not get but few notes. Continued to-morrow.

The Next Ball.

Next Monday night Dec. 19th, the I. O. O. F. give a ball and literary entertainment at the opera house. The preparations have been going on for some time and are quite extensive. A large number of invitations have been sent out and the programs are beautiful. Tickets for the evening are selling rapidly and the attendance will no doubt be large, making the evening a pleasant one for all present. The literary exercise will open the evening, after which supper will be served on the stage. Following the supper will be the dancing. The following is the

Around Town.

We called at the Perkins House, the principal hotel in the city. Mr. Anderson is no novice in the hotel business, but is an old timer and knows how to treat his guests. First-class accommodation in every respect can be had at the Perkins. The Fred. Goos House is a popular resort—centrally located and draws a good trade. B. A. McElwain, the accommodating jewelry man, we found in best of spirits. He is ready at all times to do first-class work, and keeps as fine an assortment of watches, clocks jewelry and silverware ever brought to the city. Give him a call and be convinced. In the extensive establishment of Solomon & Nathan a force of ten are kept busy handling dry goods, carpets, millinery and cloaks. Messrs. Solomon & Nathan began business a few years ago with a few hundred dollars and by honest dealing they now carry an immense stock costing thousands of dollars. They also run a large store at Fairmount.

No Gentleman.

"Sir" said a Tucson girl to her eastern escort at a ball, "you are no gentleman."
"Why, I—I—don't understand you; really I don't."
"Oh, no, I presume not," she haughtily replied.
"Indeed, miss, I am really at a loss to know how I have offended you."
"I suppose so," was the cold and sneering reply, "but a fellow don't insult me twice."
"I must insist upon an explanation. What have I done?"
"Done? I'd ask! Here I've danced three sets with you and waltzed till I'm ready to drop, and you ain't bought me so much as a stick of gum, and all the other girls' fellows have escorted them over to that grocery across the street and bought 'em peppermint drops and sweet crackers and prunes and cider. Good night, sir; I will return to my gentlemen friends."—Ex.
