CITY CORDIALS.

The Arcanum Club meet tonight. All is quiet on the "Big Muddy." "At this day thou shalt give him his hire." - Beut., ch. 24.

Rush O. Fellows, editor of Auburn Post visited our office today. The city council meet tonight to consider bids for building sewers.

Mr. Geo. Shreve, who has been under the weather for the past week is on duty again at the B. & M. yards put out 29 trains yesterday.

They are twins and girls. Two blossoms in the desert that are very welcome. - H. M. Burkhell. Mr. Bushnell is well known in this city as being the former proprietor and publisher of this paper. These welcome blossoms appeared yesterday in Lincoln, Neb.

During yesterday twenty-nine trains left the city and twenty-seven arrived. Today up to 2 o'clock eleven trains had arrived and eleven departed. Six of the trains arriving today and five departing were freights. The trains are fast gaining their old regularity and people come hither and go hence as of old.

Know all men by these presents that I, Joe Mud, residing for the past week on the different crossings of Main street, do hereby solemnly protest against being trampled on for such a length of time, and compelled to stay and listen to the vile imprecations showered upon me and upon the city council, especially when I could be removed for about five dollars, and the job would, no doubt, be highly appreciated by some poor fellow now seeking employment.

"Sullivan has broke Charley Mitchell's neck." "Sullivan has killed Mitchell." That's all you could here on the streets yesterday. Someone read a telegram in Omaha conveying the information and all the gulls in town swallowed the bait. It was simply a cipher message from headquarters of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, each word of the sentence conveying some hidden meaning known only to the receiver. The same was done several years ago when the telegraphers went on a strike. The order was: "Grant is dead."

Lord Howard de Walden's wife is lying at death's door with peritonitis. The least excitement may be fatal to her. Lord Howard de Walden is given to drink, and when intoxicated insists on entering his wife's room. As this might cost her life, her brother, Major Burrows, finding other means of argument of no avail to induce the inebriate peer to remain outside his wife's door, knocked him down. Hence the prosecution. The magistrate evidently thought the assault justified. But could not the husband be bound over to refrain from molesting his wife? Or is it one of the privileges of matrimony that the husband, no matter how drunken, has a right to force himself upon his wife, even if he knows that fatal consequences may result? - Pall Mall Gazette.

Large numbers stand around and jostle each other as they gaze with eager eyes at the deftness and skill displayed by Prof. Mathew, the Bohemian glass blower with the dime museum now exhibiting on Main street. This gentleman has been following that business for the past fourteen years, during which time he has shown his skill in every city of any consequence in the United States. While lately in New York he made a fac-simile of Bartholdi's statue, the "Goddess of Liberty," which he presented to the Cooper Institute of that city. He has also displayed his wonderful manipulation of the brittle material at several scientific institutions throughout the country. This gentleman's fairy-like dexterity is only equaled by his unassuming manners and gentlemanly demeanor.

Deserving Your Support.

H. P. Whistler, formerly a popular engineer of the B. & M., has opened a first class bakery and restaurant in the building lately occupied by the Duke hardware store, under the title of "City Bakery." Mr. Whistler is well known as a popular engineer of the B. & M. He is assisted by one of the finest cooks and confectioners in the West, Mr. J. T. Morrison, formerly of the Bon Ton bakery. This restaurant and bakery is first-class in every particular, which a visit to the premises will prove.

Notice.

Come and hear M. J. Fanning, who will lecture on the temperance question at Rockwood hall, on next Sunday, March 11, at 3:30 p. m. and at 7:30 same evening. Also on Monday evening, March 12, at 7:30 p. m.

He is admitted to be one of the finest speakers in the lecture field. He is an entertaining, logical, and pleasant speaker. No one will regret it who come to hear him.

PLATTSMOUTH PUBLIC SCHOOL

"How Now Sir Hugh! No School Today."

(Let the soldier be abroad if he will; he can do nothing in this age. There is another personage abroad, - a person less imposing, - in the eyes of some, perhaps, insignificant. The school-master; and I trust to him, armed with his primer, against the soldier in full military array. - Lord Brougham.)

One of the proud institutions of Platts-mouth is her high school, which is not surpassed for its general efficiency by any other public school in the state of Nebraska.

The school building was erected in 1870, and in architectural appearance is equal to that of Omaha. The school stands upon an eminence and is surrounded by spacious grounds which are planted with beautiful trees. The school contains a room full of scientific apparatus, among which is a large telescope. With the aid of that instrument a splendid view is obtainable from the school tower of Council Bluffs, which is distant about twenty-five miles in a straight line. The naked eye, on a clear day, can discern a beautiful panorama of the meandering Missouri, and for miles of the surrounding country, which open up a vista of undulating ground, thickly studded with prosperous farms, whose different colored crops, as they wave in the summer breeze, weave a harmonious picture of man's industry and the omnipotence of our Heavenly Father. Following are the names of those connected officially with the school:

W. W. Drummond, Supt. and Principal; Geo. Chatham, Assistant Superintendent. Teachers: Misses Olive Gass, Ursula Wiles, Alice Wilson, Addie Searle, Henrietta Schulhof, Etta Searle, Amelia Vallery, Mattie Safford, Alice McDonald, Anna Murphy, May Russell, Gertrude Kerney. D. K. Barr, Janitor.

All these ladies display marked ability in their methods of teaching and conducting their classes, and their grace and refinement sets a commendable example for the department of their pupils.

Prof. Drummond, has a unique manner of teaching which combines all the requisites of a scholar and a gentleman. In discipline, he is the soldier; in excuses for absence, he is the lawyer. He is a thorough student of human nature and has a happy method of enforcing his will, which commands the respect of both teachers and scholars. As Dryden says: he has "the disposition to put all things in a beautiful order and harmony, that the whole may be of a piece."

The hours of school are from 9 to 11:30 A. M. and from 1:30 to 3:40 P. M. There are 1,175 scholars, which comprise eleven grades, two classes in each grade.

Pedagogic principles are adopted in teaching, known to unknown, discipline is such as a parent should exercise in his family. In this connection, the superintendent has prepared a book containing the rules and regulations of the school, and the course of study, with an index that is alphabetically arranged. This is to be printed shortly, and a copy will be sent to each family having children in school, so that the public can gain all necessary information from it.

The course of study comprises eleven years of school, consequently there are eleven grades, a year being required to finish the work of each grade. For closer grading, each grade is divided into two classes - "B" and "A" - four and a half months being the time necessary to complete the work of each class. Pupils completing the course of study are given a diploma which admits them to the University (Freshman class), without a further examination.

The Board of Education hope to be able to fence the grounds of the main building next year, when the grounds will be artistically laid out as pleasure grounds. It is contemplated to discontinue the playing of base ball, upon the grounds so that the grass may grow, and parts be sadded or sown in blue grass. Additional buildings will soon be erected.

"I am too sudden bold; to teach a teacher ill besemeth me," yet it would be a good idea to have singing in the classes both morning and evening. There is always a pent up desire among children to exercise their lungs and singing is a very healthy as well as pleasing exercise.

The school children should also be thoroughly drilled how to act in case of fire. The great object being to learn calmness and self control in time of danger. This could be accomplished by some sound that would cause every child to spring to their feet instantaneously and form "four-deep" or "two-deep," as thought most expedient. The lower classes could form four-deep and those at the top of the building two-deep. The teacher should then control their exit from the building, accompanying them to such words of command as "halt," "march," "double." If this is not speedily done and a fire escape put to the building, some day the cry of "fire" will be heard, and a huddled, twisted mass of dead and dying children will be discovered at the foot of the school stairs. The city council should see about the fire escapes at once, if only out of consideration for their own children.

The pupils who attend this school are peerless for prettiness, physique and intellect, and will no doubt, live to see a "school house on every hill-top" in Platts-mouth.

Time.

Were it fairly considered how much we can do in a little time and how much more we can do in the great length of time allotted to the moderate length of a life allowed to many of us. It would be a useful study to endeavor to attain some knowledge of what may be called the art of occupation. That is to say the art of apportioning our time to the greatest advantages, not merely for that profit which is wealth; but the more valuable advantages which yield self-satisfaction and the reasonable hope that never fails to attend on the man who has endeavored to do the best he could in the station which he is placed. "Time, which is said to fleet away so fast, frequently stops as it were, to conduct us to virtue and reason. The spendthrift has time before him to redeem the past, the wicked man has an ample amount for repentance, yet so perverse is the humor of man and so adverse is he to his happiness, that he will not believe that he has time, and, therefore, like a distressed and harassed merchant, lets all his affairs go at once to ruin. Time nevertheless is an excellent counsellor, the servant and friend of virtuous industry. It appears, therefore, to be a material part of the duty of parents, whenever their children are about to be launched in the world, to give them proper notions of the worth of time. It would be well for a young man at his first entrance in the world to begin to live by rule, as far as respects the application of his time. He has perhaps made a profession of his choice in which, if he wishes to succeed, he should devote his undivided attention to it during the time he allotted to it, he should not be afraid to borrow from his school fellows who lend him as much as he will never ask to be repaid; all that he will ask, is, that what he does bestow may be well applied. It is true, that as our generous Benefactor never refuses, we may waste or abuse His treasures, but the punishment follows the crime, for we purchase nothing but care and sorrow by the misapplication of His goodness; while, on the other hand, if properly used, it is the true philosopher's stone and will turn everything into usefulness. It is true, that a deviation from cause laid down by the wise man should vibrate as little from the true cause as the unhappy variations caused by human infirmities resembling that of the mariner's compass will permit, like that too, it should be allowed for by the candid and the humorous, nor indeed can we tell when the heavy swells of misfortune, or the strong currents of adversity drive the bark, how soon with the best of us the reckoning may be lost. One comfort is that those sorrows do not last, that there is a harbor to take in canvas and scudding under happy poles of our pride and vanity, we may run in and come to in safety. It is true that this harbor has not a very hospitable shore but if land-locked and the vessel may lie there in safety until we have fair wind or at least the storm has blown over. Gum.

Louisville Locals

At present writing, sleighing is the best we have had this winter and is being well improved. Sickens prevails in spite of all medical energy and skill. Mrs. J. Jackman entertained the Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church on Wednesday evening. The Band of Hope met at the residence of Mrs. Truman Hall on Wednesday to complete arrangements for a concert to be given in the near future. County Supt. Spink informs us that the county institute will be held at this place the coming July and August. Surely someone needs great credit as this is Louisville will be the first ever held in Louisville. Several deaths have occurred during the last two weeks. The singing class is flourishing. Mr. Rime is certainly doing himself credit. The schools are running very smoothly but we are informed that Prof. Sutton is not going to remain another year. He goes to Madison county. SMKE.

Reasons for Purchasing Lots in South Park.

- 1. As a whole they are the finest lying lots in the city.
2. They are shaded with beautiful forest trees.
3. They are located between Chicago and Lincoln Avenues, the two finest drives about the city.
4. They are only a ten-minutes walk from the business portion of the town.
5. By reason of their location between the two main thoroughfares into the city, they are more accessible than lots in other additions.
6. The only addition to the city reached by two established avenues.
7. The only new addition to the city reached by water mains and with a prospect of being supplied in the near future with complete water privileges.
8. New sidewalks recently constructed to within a few feet of the addition and will shortly be extended.
9. Will certainly have street car privileges at no distant date.
10. If you wish a fine view of the river, locate on a lot in South Park.
11. If you wish a slightly and picturesque view of Platts-mouth, it can be had from a South Park lot.
12. To persons in the railroad employ, the eastern portion of South Park is the most desirable residence locality in the city.
13. To persons desiring a residence on Chicago avenue, the western portion of South Park is available for that purpose.
14. The B. & M. railroad track runs near the east line of the addition, furnishing good facilities for manufacturing industries.
15. If you locate in South Park you will have good neighbors: Mayor Simpson, John R. Cox, John A. Davies, John L. Minor, J. V. Weckbach, Chas. Harris, John H. Young, Henry Waterman, W. C. Ingraham, B. Spurlock, Jerry Farthing, Thos. E. Reynolds, S. A. Davis, L. A. Miner, C. M. Wead, Frank Irish, J. N. Glenn, C. L. Coleman, S. A. Speakman, Frank Beeson, Chas. A. Rankin, Sarah E. Alexander, John Moore, M. A. Shipman, Lillie Kalisky, T. W. Fought, Clayton Barber, W. J. Hesser, Harry Kneller, J. E. Barwick, J. G. Royal, W. N. McLennan, P. C. Minor, F. McCourt, J. C. Fought and others are owners of South Park property.
16. Over $12,000 worth of this desirable property has been disposed of within a short period and no part has been sold to outside speculators which is solid proof of the substantial growth of this part of the city.
17. More substantial houses were built in South Park in the fall of 1887 than in any one locality in the city and the prospects for spring building are much greater.
18. Lots will be sold until the 1st of April, next, at $150 each; after said date the price on the most desirable lots will be advanced.
19. Terms 1/3 cash, balance in one and two years, or lots may be purchased on monthly payments.
20. Any number of persons, not less than five, purchasing ten lots in one transaction will be given a lot free to dispose of as they may deem proper.
21. Any person or persons purchasing 20 or more lots and paying 1/3 cash, may have one and two years on balance without interest.
22. If any other reasons for purchasing lots in South Park are desired they will be given by calling at the office of
