—The cases of Alexander vs. Ballance, Hunter and Shaffer are being tried in court today, before Judge Chapman.

—License to wed were issued by Judge Russell to Mr. August Kausamback and Miss Elizabeth Nalsteil, from near Cedar Creek.

—There will be a business meeting of the Christian Endeavor society, at the Presbyterian church tomorrow night. All members and those desiring to become members are requested to be present to sign the constitution.

—The general predictions are that this rainy weather will continue through the month of May. If these predictions have anything to do with the continuance of such weather as we have been having the past week we would like to have people let up on predictions for a while, at least.

—H. H. Chillberg, agent for the Thompson-Houston electric light, returned last night to Omaha. The reporter failed to learn whether he had received any encouragement about electric lights from our city fathers or not, but we sincerely hope he did and that ere the summer rolls away we may have more light.

—T. W. Riddle returned this morning from Wahoo. He reports things very dry in that city. Although they have had plenty of rain they have had nothing but water to drink for almost two weeks. Some of the boys are becoming very thirsty but there is no show for any saloons to be opened there for several days yet.

—The democrat's weather bureau predicted a dry spring. It seems to have acted as a sort of counter irritant and the clerk of the weather tipped over his rain box in spiteful resentment. The weather bureau has been sent to the barn lot and a new gasoline vapor bureau, suitable for the warm season, ordered in its place.

—Lincoln Democrat.

—Scarcely had the city council adjourned last night when the fire company poured into the hall in such numbers that ye reporter became excited and skipped out. The boys looked as though they were ready to fight fire in any form, and we thinking they might take us for a fire thought it best to make ourselves scarce. The boys all seemed to be in a good humor and we have no doubt but they performed the business before them in the most business like manner.

—The following named gentlemen are delegates from this county to the Republican district convention which meets at Ashland tomorrow night at 8 o'clock: R. B. Windham, E. W. Barnum, Andrew Christensen, C. D. Clapp, C. A. Wousley, C. N. Baird, L. C. Eikhoff, M. Spink, J. E. Leyda, Geo. Young, H. C. Ritchie, W. H. Pool, P. Eveland, Sam'l Barker, M. B. Murphy, S. L. Furlong. It is hoped that all will attend, as this county has interests there at stake which it cannot well afford to neglect.

—Auselmo B. Smith, county surveyor of territorial days, is in the city today. Mr. Smith is still a suveyor and one of the best known to the people of the west. In looking over some old papers this morning, the county clerk found an old plat profile or a read laid out by Mr. Smith, from Plattsmouth to Rock Bluffs in Nov. 1858. The work contains a pen picture of our country, the American continent and is gotten up in the most interesting manner and style. By the manner and style long ago we do not know how much has won that our country is getting up in the most interesting manner and style. By the manner and style long ago we do not know how much has won that our country is getting up in the most interesting manner and style.

The clerk then stated the object of the meeting to be for the purpose of granting license to sell malt, spiritous and vinous liquors in the city of Plattsmouth to Hans Frahn and Herman Klutch. The committee on license having examined the petition and bond of the applicants for license, found that they had complied with the law in every respect, and therefore reported favorably on the petition and bond. It was then moved and seconded that the bond be approved which was carried unanimously. Also moved and seconded that the mayor and clerk be instructed to issue license to said parties upon presentation of the necessary receipt from the city treasurer, that the amount of the license money had been paid.

There being no further business the council adjourned until the next regular meeting.

Those Resolutions.

THE HERALD would have said nothing about the Board of Trade resolutions had not the "red rag" organ lacked the discretion to keep still and mind its own affairs. But since it has been mentioned THE HERALD hopes to see a large meeting at the Board of Trade tonight, and it further expects to see the resolutions condemning the Journal for its course during the strike adopted almost unanimously. The time has come when large property owners may lay down ten or twelve thousand dollars to help out the engineers and Mr. Sherman if they so desire. We do not believe there are many property owners who are willing to give half they are worth to help the strike out even if they were sympathizers. The facts are, however, as THE HERALD has said all along, the business men and property holders are practically unanimous as against this foolish and suicidal strike.

Shultz called the meeting to order and an address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Sawyer after which the association adjourned to meet at 8 o'clock to listen to a lecture by Prof. Nicholson, on the relation of chemical science to pharmacy. Following the lecture, the audience was invited to take a view of university laboratory, and adjourned to meet this morning at 9 o'clock.

—The rain is over, spring is here and it is of the greatest importance to the health of our city that the filth and rubbish which has accumulated in the streets and alleys during the winter should be cleared away. The recent rains have so thoroughly soaked this material that decay will begin at once and the authorities of our town should see that it is not permitted to lay where the health of our city will be endangered.

—An Omaha preacher wants the daily papers to have each a religious editor upon its editorial staff. There may be in Omaha need of something of the sort, but from the observations this religious and family paper is enabled to make it ventures to suggest that a larger number of religious pastors for the churches would not come entirely amiss.

General Ignorance.

I notice some of the newspapers are making no end of fun of a Harvard graduate who could not tell who discovered America. Oh, well, my son, that is one of the things you don't learn in college. I am like the Harvard graduate; I do not know who discovered America. If you know, or think you know a man who does know, I wish you would tell me. I would give some money to learn just that much. I am always away down in the spelling-class. I cannot spell Shakspear as Shakspeare himself spelled it. I wish you would tell me the proper way of spelling that great man's name. I do not know why there are so many gray horses and no gray colts. I can't understand why we can't find the North Pole when we know right where it is. I don't know why a man wears buttons on the tail of his coat. I can't see what earthly use an elephant's tail is to him. I don't understand why people in town are always wild to go to the country, and people in the country are crazy to come to town. Why don't they change places at once and be done with it? I do wish I could somewhere hear a wise man who would devote a few hours every century to teaching me a few simple things that everybody ought to know, and that everybody, except myself, seems to know already.—Robert J. Bardette.

BONNIE GIRZIE O' GLENBRAE.

Leeze me, lassie, but I lo'e thee,
And my thoughts run like a sang,
As the burn adoon the coorie,
Loopting w' sheer joy along.
Gin ye knew their sang by heart, love,
And would lit the simple lay,
Oh, how happy wad it mak' ma,
Bonnie Girzie o' Glenbrae!

'Mang the lave thee only lo'e I,
And my heart is like a bloom,
As a gowan on the haugh side,
Bursting w' love's pure perfume;
Wad ye wear my modest posity
On thy bosom, blest for aye,
It would yield its inmost spirit,
Bonnie Girzie o' Glenbrae!

Wad ye sing my thochts, my dawtie,
Yours wad lit fond sympathy;
Wad ye wear my hair bloom ever,
Yours wad fellow blossoms be;
Sweet w' joy and love enduring,
Song and bloom wad blend away,
Livin' melody and fragrance—

Selling Souvenirs of Sedan.

A camp following "tourist" found himself caught in the railway station at Sedan during the engagement. Of course he could not go out except at the risk of his life. So he amused himself within the innermost door of the office. "Look here," he said to a friend afterwar, opening a small bag full of railway tickets, "I've got some souvenirs of Sedan." They were all marked "Sedan, September 1st" and indicated an immense number of quite impossible journeys, such as that to Metz, as having been made on that day. While the storm was raging around, he had stamped all the tickets he could lay hands on with the date of the battle till the ink gave out. "These will be curiosities," said he, adding, "and I've got money out of the pocket of a dead soldier; they say it's lucky." He showed some silver of which he had robbed a corpse.—The Argonaut.

A Paper Collar That Cost $125.

"One's wants are one's needs," has been said, but paper collars at $125 each are not now regarded as necessities. Still that amount has been paid for one of these almost obsolete articles of male attire, and Maj. D. W. Sanders enjoys the reputation of having broken the record by his purchase. It was during the war, and Maj. Sanders, then an officer in the Confederate army, was in Tennessee. He received a month's pay, $150, in Confederate bills, and then discovered that he needed a clean collar. He found a man who had a spare collar and began negotiations, but the happy possessor of the article did not want to part with it. After some trouble, however, he persuaded the owner to sell, but only when $125 had been offered. It is difficult, however, to estimate what the cost of a clean shirt would have been about that time, even when the quotations of paper collars are given.—Courier-Journal.
