CITY CORDIALS.

—The "Cold Day Company" are at Beatrice tonight.

—Remember the W. R. C. oyster supper at the G. A. R. Hall tonight.

—The white house will resemble a white horse in the eyes of Cleveland tomorrow.

—Miss Ettie Shepherd will give a euchre party at her home on First street, tomorrow night, in honor of her guest, Miss Kennish.

—The telephone company will transmit all election messages between the hours of eight tonight and seven tomorrow morning at a discount of twenty-five per cent.

—A prominent democrat made the remark this morning that he wished a certain republican would leave him his clothes if Harrison is elected. The clothes are his.

—The ladies of the M. E. church are serving lunch for the hungry politicians today and tonight in the east room of the Anheuser-Busch building. Five cents pays for each dish.

—About forty men arrived from Omaha this morning to assist the force already employed here by Lewis & Stanley in laying the artificial stone walks in front of several of our business houses.

—On this particular day the deaf and dumb man should feel good. He cannot talk politics, and he cannot hear others talk politics. It would be difficult to conceive a higher order of bliss.—Lincoln Journal.

—The streets are crowded today with politicians of every description. Election topics are all that's afoot, and should a man open up on any other conversation he stands a poor show of being allowed to remain in the city.

—The saloon-keepers can well afford to close their shops today. Tomorrow they will be obliged to run a special train to Omaha to secure enough "fire water" to supply the demand. The people who will be elected will set up the drinks as usual for their friends.

—The ladies of St. Luke's Guild are agitating a Chrysanthemum social and hop, which is to be held in Fitzgerald's hall on Thursday evening, November 15th. The ladies of the above society are putting forth every effort to make the coming event, the event of the season. As it will vary much from the ordinary style, the coming social and dance will be a great novelty here. They will surely secure a good crowd.

—The required amount has been secured for the purpose of securing election bulletins tonight. The bulletins will be received all night and arrangements have been made to have them delivered at Rockwood hall. The results, as they are received, will be made known from the platform in the hall, as that will be the only satisfactory way of delivering the news to as large a crowd as is expected to be present there tonight. The hall will not afford standing room for one quarter of the crowd wishing it.

—The "Cold Day" company appeared at the opera house last night in the popular comedy, "A Cold Day," or "The Laplanders." It was certainly an absurdity in the full sense of the term, and a little too ridiculous to suit some people, but they apparently gave satisfaction to their audience, as it was kept in an uproar for the whole time. We believe it fully came up to the expectations of the fun loving people, for as advertised, the whole play was carried through without a plot and was made up of nothing but funny sayings and comical manoeuvres. The singing could not be termed first-class.

—An old sinner of about fifty summers wended his way up Main street this morning in any way, but a direct course. He produced every manoeuvre such as a man might when attempting to do a thousand different kinds of work at the same time. He had imbibed so much bad whiskey that he was top heavy and found great difficulty in holding his balance. Every person he would chance to come in contact with in his indirect line of march, he would abruptly halt immediately in front of them and draw back his fist as though making ready to throw it at them. As he presented an extraordinary stalwart stature, the majority of the people with whom he came in contact, jumped out of his way and passed him by. He evidently was a mugwump, for the only cry heard from him was, "Hurrah for me! Hurrah for me!" as he worked his way along. His head was as red as the sun at noon day, and it is altogether probable the whiskey had nerved up the hot head to a combat or he has stowed himself away in some secluded spot where he will be left so himself until the dews of the night cool his hot brow.

Plot of the Comedy "Struck Gas."

"Struck Gas" is a new and original musical comedy drama, and derives its title from the fact that the story hinges on a single acre lot on which gas is struck. The plot runs thus:

Roger Wellington, the father of Nan, is a Pennsylvania farmer, whose greatest desire is to have his daughter become a rich woman, and in order to accomplish that end he invests all his available means in a mining scheme. To keep up the assessments on his mining shares he is obliged to mortgage his farm, which consists of two hundred and one acres,—the single acre, however, belonging to Nan, it having been transferred to her by a deed of gift when she was a mere child.

Hence the title. The mining scheme proves a failure, and the mortgage, held by a certain Frederick Wilding, is foreclosed by his attorney Asa Spriggins. Both Wilding and Spriggins are scheming swindlers, whose object is to get possession of the property, as it is supposed that natural gas can be found on it. Upon their taking possession of the farm Nan asserts her rights to the one acre and holds it in spite of the machinations of the swindlers. Nan and her father leave the farm in company with Billy Butters, an ex-minstrel, who had been left behind in Pittsburgh hospital on account of sickness. Billy had been ordered by his physician to take a trip to the country to regain his health, and he finds happiness at the Wellington Farm when he falls in love with Nan. He resolves to stick to her and her father through their trouble. During his spare moments Billy teaches Nan to sing and dance. They leave the farm together and go to New York, where with the little money they have saved from the wreck they start a laundry. The enterprise proves a success, when Mr. Wellington discovers by reading the papers that he has been made a dupe of by Wilding and Spriggins, and resolves to reclaim his property. They give up the laundry business and go back to the farm. While there gas is discovered on Nan's Acre lot. The swindlers, through a number of complications and circumstances, repent; and Nan, Roger Wellington, and Billy are once more happy. Music is introduced throughout the play, and Nan gives several songs and dances with the assistance of Billy.

They will appear at the opera house next Friday night. Ticket, now on sale.

A number of the strikers are distributing pasters and attempting to work several right thinking men in favor of re-location of the county seat to Weeping Water. We have learned that their work has not proved very progressive in the city. Why these men will work against their interests in this foolish way is certainly not known and such a move by only a few nincompoops is only emblematic of foolhardiness. Some of them have been material in delaying the progress of our city for some time when the business men here have put forth every effort to help them out during their trouble, and now because a grudge against only a few is held in their breasts, they turn their backs on their best friends and the business men who have helped them and are now endeavoring to ruin their business by pouring out their venom on the men who have assisted them. May their own folly come back against them double-fold.

Mr. George Oliver, who was a short time ago employed on the Journal here, but who is working on the Council Bluffs Globe at present, is in the city.

Mr. Charles McEntee, who has been visiting at Goodland, Kas., for some time, returned to the city today to vote. He will visit his family for a few days.

Mr. J. W. Jennings, who has been out west for some time in the interests of an insurance company of Atchison, Kas., returned to the city today to cast his little ballot.

Mr. John O'Neil, who is well known in the city, having resided here for years, but who is now residing at Council Bluffs, arrived in the city last night to spend a couple of days and enjoy his election privileges.

Seltzer Spring of Great Depth. A company has purchased the seltzer spring at Saratoga, and has begun experiments for the purpose of liberating and storing in liquid form, the carbonic acid gas with which it abounds. Professor Oscar Brunke, a German expert, has charge of the work, and has sounded the spring to a depth of 3,800 feet without touching bottom or encountering any obstacle. This strengthens the belief in the existence of a great subterranean sea which many scientific men think underlies Saratoga; and the company who are sounding the seltzer spring hope to solve the question one way or another before long.—Frank Leslie's.
