CITY CORDIALS.

—Mrs. Charles Whitney went up to Omaha last night to visit with relatives there and return with Mr. Whitney to this city tonight.

—All those taking part in the District School entertainment are requested to be present at the Presbyterian church this evening at 7:30 p. m.

—Mr. M. B. Murphy, who has been severely afflicted with rheumatism for several weeks, is able to make regular trips to his store and attend to business again.

—Some one was kind enough to leave a table and desk furnishings at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms for the use of the members. The secretary is desirous to know who to thank.

—Mr. J. M. Muir, agent for the "New Home Sewing Machine Company," was obliged to buy a box of cigars for his friends yesterday. He says "It's a girl." She gets a "New Home."

—The seats are now on sale at J. P. Young's for the District school entertainment Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Dec. 11 and 12. Call and secure your seats early and avoid the rush.

—It is reported that several of the wandering canines died a horrible death yesterday because they were not the possessors of muzzles. It is to be hoped that about five thousand more of them will keep on dying, for the benefit of the public.

—The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. have authorized Secretary Bostwell to announce to the members that the one bringing the most members into the association between now and the first of March next, will be awarded a fine Bagster bible, valued at $11.

—A training class meets at the Y. M. C. A. rooms every Thursday night for the purpose of searching and studying the scriptures, but this week, owing to the meeting of the board of directors on Thursday evening at the rooms, the class did not meet until last night.

—The lithographs for Newton Beers' "Lost in London," are being posted up today. Manager Young informed us that the coming company have had their date secured for this city for more than a year. The company will appear at the opera house on the evening of the 15th.

—There was a grand gathering of young people at Cullum last night. The young ladies of the M. E. church there gave a basket supper for the benefit of the pastor, to which the young folks gathered from the county about and a number of couples were present from Cedar Creek. A jolly time was had.

—The "Two Twins," Anni and William, will meet with their excellent company at the Presbyterian church tonight for rehearsal. The "District School," in which they appear at the opera house two evenings, December 11 and 12, will surely be the event of the season as a genuine comedy. Seats are now on sale at J. P. Young's, and are selling well already.

—Prof. Gaynor held his dancing school and social hop in Fitzgerald hall last night. The pupils, and there is a good number at present, are progressing rapidly in the world wide amusement. With the exception of a few mis-steps, or the idea that some of them possess that they belong at the opposite end of the hall from where they are dancing, one would say they were well versed in the art.

—The hoodlums that inhabit the "nigger heaven" at the opera house and generally keep up an ear-splitting pow-wow during all entertainments, should exercise a little better judgment and show a little respect for people who would like to hear something. It is the intention of the management to station police convenient to the worst of them. Some of them apparently pay their money for admittance only to annoy people, and nothing at all seems to interest them. More complaint has been raised by theatre-goers on account of this than perhaps anything else. People do not care to pay out money for an amusement which they are unable to enjoy.

—The plaintiff and defendant in the school case, appeared before Judge Clifford this morning for trial, but as one of the defendant's attorneys was urgently called to Omaha this morning on business, the case was necessarily continued and was set for Monday morning next at ten o'clock. The following gentlemen were selected as a jury on the case: Messrs. W. H. Cushing, Peter Merges, James Donnelly, John R. Cox, Frank Morgan and J. M. Patterson. No one can find fault with the selection of this jury, and we feel certain that justice only will be dealt by them. The case has aroused much excitement and it will no doubt be very interesting.

LOST IN LONDON

As Played by Newton Beers. We copy the following from the Kansas City Times:

The management of the Gillis is presenting this week something unusual, and to say that it is a success but mildly expresses the enthusiasm with which it was received last night by an audience that completely filled every portion of the theatre. "Lost in London," a spectacular melodrama, was given by Newton Beers' excellent company. The drama is of itself a strong one, possessing all the points which go to make up a complete play, and the climaxes being so admirably arranged as to stamp it at once as a fine production. The accessories of the play, however, make it doubly interesting, the scenery being grand and the effects simply marvelous. The snow scene in the fourth act, the streets of London, were beautiful. Nothing like it has ever been seen here outside the extra high-priced attractions. The stars interpretation of the wronged husband was a strong and vigorous piece of acting, and shows a careful study and complete mastery of the dramatist's idea. There are a number of specialties introduced, the "Pan Pipe Quartet" being particularly popular. Job's vision was a beautiful view of Bunyans Beulah Land, which to view, was of itself worth the price of admission.

This company has been booked by Manager Young for over a year for Dec. 15, one week from tonight. They will also give a grand family matinee on Saturday afternoon, prices 25 and 50; for night performance 35, 50 and 75c.

An Incident With a Moral

Last night as a certain young man of this city was wending his way homeward, sometime after dark, picking his way up one of the back streets over the loose boards of an imitation of sidewalk guided by the faint rays of light from a corner street lamp, he was startled by a sudden rustling and running sound across the street, and the animal causing it was coming towards him. His first thoughts were of mad dogs and most everything of that description that can be imagined when one thinks he is standing in imminent danger of something but he don't know what; his first glance in that direction called to mind an unmentionable animal, but as the rustling, running animal or animals drew near he discerned by the dim light that it was a common house cat under full headway after a rat, and they were making straight for him. With an understanding of the circumstances he recovered his senses. "I'll give that cat a lesson in rat killing," he thought to himself, just as the rat bounded across his path towards his right. He swung his left foot right about, intending to lift the rodent into sterner with one effort. Oh undesired assistance wed to hasty miscalculation, these only children are sore disappointment and chagrin! The rat ran away, the cat ran away, and the young man got home after many a painful step. His right ankle had projected into the course of his left heel, and today he wears an aristocratic step not altogether pleasant. Moral:—Don't monkey with other people's business.

—Miss Edith Waterman, the little six year old daughter of our esteemed citizen, Mr. H. Waterman, started out Thursday afternoon on a shopping tour. Since the eve of the holiday goods have arrived at the different toy stores, she has become very anxious concerning herself, wondering what kind of a Christmas present Santa Claus would leave in her stocking. She did not propose to be delighted by him, and for fear that some other children might be shown a little partiality, she made up her mind to go to headquarters and investigate. She first visited Mr. J. P. Young, and looked over his stock of many nice Christmas presents. She then inquired of the clerk if that was the store where Santa Claus bought his Christmas presents. She was told that it was, after which she ordered about a car load, leaving orders to Santa Claus to bring them along when he came Christmas eve.

—The two men who were arrested Thursday afternoon as suspicious characters, and for carrying tools upon their persons supposed to be burglars' tools, were brought up for trial this morning before Judge Clifford. The men were charged with carrying concealed weapons. The judge fined them $40 and costs for carrying concealed weapons, and as they were unable to pay the fine, were jailed again. They gave their names as Charley Brown and John Hickie.

—Charley Spencer who was so seriously injured in a railway accident at Omaha several weeks ago, is now able to move around on crutches. He intends to eat a Christmas dinner at his home here.

—Tomorrow being the last Sunday Miss Paul will take part in the singing before she returns to her home in Ohio, there will be a full choir at the Presbyterian church in the morning. A beautiful anthem will be sung.

—The little daughter of Mr. Jas Ritchie, who has been afflicted for several days with diphtheria, died yesterday afternoon. The funeral took place this afternoon at two o'clock.

—The regular Sunday afternoon meeting for young men will be held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon. All young men are invited.

—Mr. Frank Cranmer is obliged to confine himself to a dark room now on account of sore eyes.
