CITY CORDIALS.

-Umbrellas, rubber coats and door mats are all the go with the householders now.

-The Washington banquet on April 30, will be an affair to be long remembered.

-The preparations for the Methodist Easter entertainment Friday night are quite extensive.

-The Nebraska City Press suggests that the bold bank robber of Denyer of two weeks ago may be Quinn Bohannan. The description fits, and the boldness of the robbery was not beyond his daring.

-From last week's publication of the Blair Pilot one would observe that Blair is not going to go dry this season. Blair is a place of 2,500 or 3,000 people and there are seven applications for saloons and four for drug stores before the counto sell malt, spiritous and vinous liquors.

-The Washington banquet seems to be absorbing much of the social and patriotic interest at present, but decoration day is rapidly approaching, which suggests the query as to what will be done on that sacred day. Plenty of time yet, however, remains, for extensive and appropritate ceremonies to be planned for.

-The several recent fires in this city seems to be a caution to guard against that destroyer. But this is not the only place where spring is characterized with fires. Reports from all parts of the state show that fire is a frequent visitor to many places of minor proportions than Plattsmouth, and with more actious results, nevertheless all should keep on this evening for Denver. their guard.

"No sir, I am not a candidate for reelection," remarked County Commisinquiry made by the Echo man. He ha passengers this morning. continued: "I have served three years with the expiration of this term and have tried to serve the county as best I knew how, and am now willing to step down and out." Mr. Dickson has undoubtedly made one of the best county commissioners we have ever had, and should he desire to return, his friends would stand by him; but he positively declines .-
