SPECIAL MARKET LETTER.

W. G. Press & Co., Bankers & Commission Merchants, Nos. 2 and 4 Sherman Street, Chicago, in their last special market letter say: "If the old adage, 'as you iron so goes trade' is to again be verified, the coming year promises to be one of unusual activity and prosperity for the iron industries of our country have for some time been steadily increasing their output and in many instances been unable to keep pace with the demand. It is claimed that orders already given rolling mills for steel rails, aggregate three times as many as at the corresponding date last year, and that the demand from railways for iron to be used in construction and repairs, must for many months be urgent, if the roads are to be put in proper condition and rolling stock be supplied to meet the requirements of the largely increased traffic due to the results of the last harvest, and the unprecedented demand for food products from abroad. The effects of this demand is clearly apparent to the most casual observer, and have been made manifest in the financial condition of our banks, the earnings of our railways, the liquidation of mortgages, and in the general feeling of satisfaction and confidence permeating the agricultural, industrial and commercial classes. With such satisfactory results from but six months of the demand, the future is bright with promise, for there is nothing upon which to predicate a prophecy of an abatement during the remainder of the crop year, while there are substantial reasons for expecting an improvement. Already have the increase in available funds, and the prospects of larger railway earnings revived speculation in stocks and bonds, and as foreigners pay for the enormous quantities of grain to be sent them, and farmers discharge their obligations, the field for speculation must widen, for railway shares cannot be advanced indefinitely, and investors must seek other channels for the employment of their funds. In what can they invest more conveniently and profitably than the products of the soil which are primarily responsible for their prosperity. As money becomes more abundant and domestic and foreign consumption reduces stocks of grain, speculators who are now attracted by advancing railway shares will doubtless turn their attention to grain, and infuse new life and activity into languishing markets.

The general situation has not materially changed during the week, and the market for wheat has fluctuated within a narrow range in consequence of the general disposition at home and abroad to restrict transactions until after the holiday season. Continental Europe has evinced some disposition to renew purchasing in our markets on a more liberal scale, being led by French operators who are reported as having bought liberally on the Pacific Coast. European markets have shown a halting tendency because of a fair increase in the amount on ocean passage. Farmers' deliveries in the United Kingdom are decreasing, and domestic receipts while large enough to moderately increase visible stocks, show some indications of abatement. Cash wheat has been in fair demand, and it is claimed that the outward movement to country mills would be much larger if eastern railway lines could furnish transportation. There has been no marked change in the condition of the growing crop, although rains and warm weather in the favored localities have been beneficial. The general situation is such, however, that a sudden change to extremely cold weather, while the plant is unprotected by snow, would create apprehensions for its safety.

The expectations of the bulls in the near future of corn have not been realized, and the market is gradually drifting towards its normal condition, which, when attained, will establish the May future at a premium, over cash and the nearer futures, and enable country grain dealers to crib the grain without the risks of serious losses. So long as the cash property remains above, or but slightly under May, it will be more profitable for dealers to buy this future than to crib corn at home. Oats attract, but a moderate share of interest, although the export movement has been large enough to cause a large reduction in visible stocks.

Hog product has felt the influence of liberal receipts of hogs, which continue to astonish many well informed operators who have been for some time carrying liberal lines of product, believing that receipts would suddenly drop to small proportions. The weather has been favorable for their marketing, and farmers appear to have more faith in the future of corn than wheat.

The laws of health are taught in the schools; but not in a way to be of much practical benefit and are never illustrated by living examples which in many cases, might easily be done. If some scholars, who had just contracted a cold, was brought before the school, so that all could hear the dry, loud cough and know its significance; see the thin white coating on the tongue and slobber as the cold developed, see the profuse watery expectoration, and thin watery discharge from the nose, not one of them would ever forget what the first symptoms of a cold were. The scholar should then be given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy free, that all might see that even a severe cold could be cured in one or two days, or at least greatly mitigated, when properly treated as soon as the first symptoms appear. This remedy is famous for its cures of cough, colds and croup. It is made especially for these diseases and is the most prompt and most reliable medicine known for the purpose. 50 cent bottle for sale by F. G. Fricke & Co., druggists.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all other for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

A POPULAR FAMILY.
"Jenny." "How is it, Kain, do you always mean to catch on to the latest thing? Do what I say, you always are ahead of me."
"Kain." "I don't know; I certainly do not make any exception in that direction."
"Jenny." "Well, during the last few months, for example, you have taken up painting, without any teacher; you came to the rescue when Miss Lafarge deserted her delicate class so suddenly, and certainly we are all improving in grace under your instruction; I heard you telling Tommy James last evening how his elixir made mistakes in playing baseball, you seem to be up on all the latest facts, and know just what to do under all circumstances; you entertain beautifully; and in the last month you have been improving in health, owing you tell me, to your physical culture exercises. Where do you get all of your information, from in this little out-of-the-way place?—do you never go to the city?"

"Kain." "Why, Jenny, you will make me vain. I have only one source of information, but it is surprising how it meets all wants. It is very seldom that anything new has been written the next few days bring me full information on the subject. Magnet No. 1 Magazine. And a great treasure it is to me, for it really furnishes the reading for the whole household; father has given up his magazine that he has taken for years, as he says this one gives more and better information on the subjects of the day; and mother says that it is that which makes her such a famous housekeeper. In fact, we all agree that it is the only really FAMILY magazine published, as we have sought for samples of all of them, and find that one is all for men, another all for women, and another for children only, while this one suits every one of us; so we only need to take one instead of several, and that is where the economy comes in, for it is only $2.00 a year. Perhaps you think I am too lavish in my praise; but I will let you see ours, or, better still, send in cents for the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York, for a sample copy, and I shall always consider that I have done you a great favor; and may be you will be cutting us out as you say we have the reputation of being the best informed family in town. If that be so, it is Demorest's Family Magazine that does it."

A liberal offer—only $3.00 for THE WETTER HERALD and Demorest Family Magazine. Send your subscription to this office.
