NEXT Thursday the democratic national committee will name the place and time for holding the presidential convention, Kansas City, Milwaukee and St. Paul are in the race for the convention.

THOS. RYAN, our minister to Mexico, has submitted a proposition to congress to return the trophies we took from Mexico back to her, as we are on friendly terms and have very close commercial relations, as the trophies are of no use to us, and to return them to the original owners would be gratifying to a nation to whom we are so closely connected.

GIVE THE BOY A TRADE. Ex-Mayor Vaux makes the statement, as the result of his fifty years' observation as an inspector at the penitentiary, that a useful trade is a better preventive of crime than a good education.

CURIOS WAR INCIDENT. Col. Mosby Listens to a Little Story, and Rounds It Out. A few evenings ago Col. E. A. Denicke entertained at dinner Capt. French, a Philadelphia banker and an officer of the Signal Corps during the war.

FIRED ON THE YORKTOWN. The dispatches this morning give the startling rumor that the Chilians had fired on the Yorktown in the harbor of Valparaiso although it could not be found out whether it was the truth or not.

ALL FOR PROTECTION. Hackettstown, N. J., in order to induce a German firm to start a plush factory in its midst is raising $13,000 for the erection of a building, which is to be given to the plush makers free of rent for a term of six years.

Miles Nerve and Liver Pills. Act on a new principle—regulating the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves.

La Grippe. No healthy person need fear any dangerous consequences from an attack of la grippe if properly treated.

if it is a good thing for a town to have manufacturers in its midst it must also be good for a nation. The silliest economic doctrine ever preached is that of natural methods.

FILLED HIS HEAD WITH SHOT. An Ashland Citizen Fatally Injured by an Accidental Discharge.

Late last night a man named Searles, an employee of the Union Mill Company of Ashland, Neb., returned from a rabbit hunt. He entered his house and being cold laid his gun on the table, the most convenient place, not thinking that it was cocked.

A physician was immediately called, and an examination showed that no less than twelve shot entered the unfortunate man's head and shoulder. These were removed to-day from his shoulder but it is almost impossible to remove them from his head, as he has a very thick, heavy growth of hair upon it which has been badly clotted with blood.

A few evenings ago Col. E. A. Denicke entertained at dinner Capt. French, a Philadelphia banker and an officer of the Signal Corps during the war. Among the other guests were some members of the local corps and Col. John S. Mosby, the well-known guerrilla chieftain.

"We were attached to Sherman's army," said Capt. French, "and as we were marching toward Gettysburg I was detailed to reconnoiter with another man. We passed a farm-house, but afterwards returned to the place to ask for a drink of water. The house was within the Union lines, and a group of officers was standing in front. Before we had an opportunity of speaking a woman informed us that our dinner was ready, and although we were considerably surprised at this, we had no objection in those days to eat a dinner which was obviously designed for some one else."

"As we left the house a man in civilian dress ordered me to throw up my hands and surrender. As I was within Union lines my first thought was that some soldier was playing a practical joke upon me, and I carelessly ignored it. As I went to the man employed his order by pointing an ugly-looking gun close to my head, I considered it wise to obey. The upshot of that adventure was my confinement in Libby Prison. I don't know who my captor was, but the occurrence was on the 16th of—"

Capt. French was interrupted by Col. Mosby. "You are mistaken as to the date," said the latter, "it was on the 17th, and, by the way, you probably do not know that you were almost a dead man that day. When I pointed the gun at you I was wiggling the trigger, but somehow it did not work smoothly and your surrender prevented its discharge."

"Were you my captor?" asked Capt. French in surprise. "I heard afterward that he was one of Mosby's men." "I was the man," was Col. Mosby's grim reply.—San Francisco Call.

La Grippe. No healthy person need fear any dangerous consequences from an attack of la grippe if properly treated. It is much the same as a severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed for a severe cold and a prompt and complete recovery is sure to follow.

A NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY.

Some D Members of an Editor Who Was Controlled by a Board of Directors.

A certain newspaper not over a thousand miles from Detroit was once owned and operated by a syndicate of lawyers, business men and politicians. About half of the board of directors at first wanted the fun and honor of running the paper.

"Do you give your whole time to the paper?" he asked one day of the managing editor. "Oh, no," said the editor, "I take seven or eight hours for sleep, and an hour or more for meals, a quarter of an hour for dressing in the morning, five minutes addressing at night. I don't save, so there's five or ten minutes saved there; but I black my own boots; that takes time. Then there's the time going to and coming from the office. Sometimes I lie awake an hour or two at night thinking out some scheme for the paper. That ought to offset the time I take for meals. It seems to me, though, as if I gave all the rest of the time to the paper."

"Humph! You ought to write more for it! Three columns a day at least." "You ought to put a barrel of water into every gallon of whisky—you'd get more for the money—until people found it out."

"I saw the gas burning here as late as 12 o'clock one night. The gas bills are something frightful," said director No. 2 when he called. "Yes; well, you see this is a morning paper and it gets pretty dark by midnight, and along until the paper goes to press, the compositors—those are the men that set the types, you know—they can't read everybody's copy in the dark, and so whenever they come across a piece of copy they are not familiar with we have to light the gas for them. Probably when you came by the office at night they had just struck a piece of that kind of copy."

"Oh, of course, if it's necessary we can't object, but don't burn any more than you actually need." Director No. 3 remarked: "I don't altogether like what you copy from other papers. I don't think it's very interesting. Now, I've taken the New York Observer for several years, and there's a lot of interesting reading matter in that. When I get through with it hadn't I better send the paper down to you, and you can copy things out of it. I have kept a file of it for years, so I wouldn't like to have you cut it."

"Oh, yes, send it along. I won't cut anything out of it." Another director came in one day and remarked: "That's a fine article you've got on the editorial page this morning! Get's me in a nice mess! Why, the man's one of my best friends and he'll lay for me. Who wrote it?" "Mr. Jackson."

"Well, Jackson is a fool. He's no more judgment than a sheep. We ought to get rid of him." In order to appease Mr. Director the editor a few days afterward had another article prepared carefully, taking back what had been said and making a veiled apology for it. "I came director No. 5. "You've made an awful mistake; you ought to stick to what you said last week. That was just right. It hit the nail on the head, went right to the spot. Now you've gone and taken water on it. You ought to consult Jackson about these things. His judgment on such matters is excellent."

By this time the editor began to think how his name would look at the bottom of a resignation. Scientific men say that a wink occupies about the sixth of a second. By intermarriage with colored people the Marshpee Indians in Massachusetts have increased to about four hundred. They occupy a reservation on the shore of the lake in Marshpee called Mashpee by the Cape Cod folk. Catachit, the chief of the tribe, is the postmaster, and an Indian boy carries the mail to and from Sandwich. Three islands are owned by a fishing club, of which Grover Cleveland, Joe Jefferson, R. W. Gilder, Alexander Wood of Boston, and C. B. Jefferson are members.

Bishop Nicholson, of Wisconsin, is extremely popular in Philadelphia, where he built up a magnificent congregation in the most fashionable part of the city. One of the new Bishop's fads is the education of young men for the ministry. He is now paying the expenses of two youths at an Eastern theological school.

A recent traveler in Cuba reports that all the small silver coins in that country have holes in them. Most of them are American dimes and quarters. The perforation is done to keep this kind of money in the country. The number of holes in a piece does not appear to affect its exchangeable value. This is a hint to the street-car companies.

A project for the introduction of a university course into Boston a public school system is before the Boston board of aldermen. It provides that the course shall be free to such scholars as exhibit the necessary proficiency and that all the expense of it shall be borne by the city. It is not unlike educating schemes that exist in France and Germany.

SILVERWARE GIVEN AWAY

A Stimulator for Cash Trade to Wide-Awake Persons.

While we appreciate the large amount of trade we are favored with, we still desire to increase our

CASH TRADE

and have completed arrangement in which we have secured large quantities, at first hands, of the celebrated

at such prices that we propose to give them to our many customers believing that we shall increase our trade, as our customers appreciate the fact that we are spending the money we set aside for advertising purposes by returning it to them, believing they will appreciate the gifts and tell their friends, and thereby increase our trade.

HERE is what the manufacturer says in regard to Solid Silver Metal goods and Solid Nickel Silverware: "There has been a growing demand for years for a grade of Spoons and Forks to take the place of Solid silver and plate ware. We have experimented for some time to attain this end, and are now able to offer the public our Rogers' Metal and Rogers' Solid Nickel Silver. We guarantee this metal superior to any Nickel Silver manufactured and have the greatest confidence in assuring our customers that this ware is inferior to service only to solid silver. It is a beautiful white color, is highly polished and can hardly be distinguished from pure silver. We recommend this ware especially for hotels, restaurants and boarding houses, as it will stand more hard usage than any other metal; is very tough and hard; will hold its color and will outwear any plateware ever manufactured." All our customers know Rogers' ware by reputation. This firm have manufactured plated ware since 1865, and their name is never put on goods that are not of a high grade, so our customer can rest assured that they are getting some very desirable goods when they get goods under their brand. Come in early and secure a share of these goods before it is too late.

We Guarantee our Prices to be the Lowest and Invite Competition.
