The blaze started in the Plattsmouth this week. rear of the basement and communicated by means of the clevator shaft to the upper stories. The fire department had a stubborn contest of several hours before getting the flames under control. It is impossible to give an estimate of the loss. The basement was stored full of expensive furniture. On the first floor was the show room for funiture and on the second floor the carpets were stored. In these the stock will be almost a total loss. On the third and, fourth, floors, the damages will be chiefly from smoke. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $150 0.

The How could it be otherwise? result of this conference has not been given out, but enough was stated by the officials and lessees to warrant the statement that the convicts will be returned speedily to the mines and that the state will protect them in so doing.

The Cloven Foot.

There is some very peculiar manipulation in city affairs being indulged in by one or two men in this town, and their actions may be very severely criticised by this paper, but it will be done merelyfor the public good, and not for personal spite.—Evening Pirate.

A few weeks ago there was a very high-sounding essay printed in The Evening Pirate about blackmailing people. At the time we knew that the time would soon come when these fellows would convict themselves out of their own mouths. The paragraph quoted evening to make the assignments does the business.
