BRYAN BADLY BRUISED.

Allen W. Field's Great Answer to Mr. Bryan.

NO DOUBT THIS TIME.

Judge Field Delivered the Most forcible Speech Last Night Ever Listened to in Lancaster County - Notes.

A Great Debate. No pleasanter task could be given a republican newspaper than to report the closing debate between Judge Field and Congressman Bryan which was held at M street ball park last evening.

The first debate of the series took place at the Lansing theater in September, and because Judge Field confined himself to notes in order that the groundwork of the debate might be laid properly, it was boldly proclaimed by the opposition that he was no match for Bryan.

Between two and three thousand democrats in this town will admit this morning, if they can be induced to speak candidly upon the subject, that the reports were substantially true; that Mr. Bryan has met a worthy antagonist on the platform, and that Field has shown a reserve of eloquence and force that even his friends did not know he possessed.

It is safe to say that between two and three thousand democrats experienced a change of sentiment regarding Mr. Field last night, if half of the great crowd was composed of members of that party.

The debate was an unusual one in that it was fought from first to last on ground chosen by Mr. Bryan. In opening he proceeded to read a list of thirty-five questions.

More than that, he offered him the magnificent sum of $250 if he would answer them. Then came the knock-out of the debate.

The advantage was all on the side of the man proposing such a list, but Judge Field in his turn calmly took the paper, read every question and answered it squarely, vigorously and decisively, while the crowd went wild with enthusiasm after every period.

Mr. Thurston then took up the force bill. The force, bill he said, was one of the most needed laws, and only by force would a fair count be had.

He said that it had been stated that, Jim Blaine's followers would not support Harrison, but that was not so; that he went to the national convention a firm believer in the fact that Blaine was the strongest man; that Harrison secured the nomination and that the followers of Blaine would fall in line and support him just as much as they would have done, had Blaine been nominated.

Mr. Thurston at the close paid a glowing tribute to the honest, manly, fearless champion of the first district, Judge Allen W. Field. Mr. Thurston referred to Mr. Field as a Nebraska product and said that he would be the next congressman from this district; that he was the most able, the best equipped of all of them put together and under no consideration should he be defeated.

During his talk which lasted two hours not one person left the hall. His speech was punctuated frequently with vigorous applause. It was the best, and one of the largest political meetings ever held in this city.

Home Life of Dickens. The series of reminiscence articles of "My Father as I Recall Him," by Mamie Dickens, the oldest and favorite daughter of Charles Dickens, will begin in the next issue of the Ladies' Home Journal by an entertaining narration of Dickens' personal habits, and an inner glimpse of his home life.

MURDOCK.

The 9th was a great and memorable day for the people of Trinity church two miles north of Murdock, because it was the day of dedicating their new church.

The weather was exceptional fine, and long before the appointed hour the people gathered from far and near before the magnificent building, until they numbered by the hundreds awaiting the opening of the doors of one of the finest churches of the rural districts of Cass county.

At precisely 10 a. m. the large bell gave the signal, the doors opened and the large concourse of people filed in, filling the house to overflowing.

The Rev. J. Kattenhuysen opened services with an eloquent prayer and with reading the scripture lesson, the eighty-four psalm.

Then the president of the Nebraska district, Rev. Hilgendorf of Arlington, Neb., preached the dedication sermon from part of the 119th psalm.

The sermon suited the occasion well and will long be remembered by all who heard it. After this the installation of the new pastor, Rev. Baumgartner, took place. The

WORST FORM ECZEMA

Best Medical Skill for Eight Months. Cured in Two Months by Cuticura Remedies.

This is to certify that a child of mine had Eczema, the worst form, and which baffled the best medical skill that could be employed here. The little sufferer was wracked in agony for at least eight months. Six months of that time its suffering was so intense that I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, in two months the awful disease had ceased its ravages, my darling boy had rest, and to all appearance, the disease was laid, but I continued the medicine for several months after no trace could be seen of it on any part of his body. The doctors here watched the disease with much interest, and could only say "Well done." The cure was known far and wide, and everybody was much surprised. But thanks to CUTICURA REMEDIES. Could there be anything on earth that would cause a father to rejoice so sorely as when the little innocent one could have such a remedy at hand. (See protocol herewith.) J. A. NICOLES, Banker Hill, Ind.

A child was brought to me with chronic eczema that had defied special treatment from many good doctors. As a regular M. D. should have continued similar treatment, but thought it useless. So I used CUTICURA. The child is well. C. L. QUINLEY, M. D., Doon, Ia.
