The United State's court of appeals, we regret to note, has remanded back the Shryock case for a new trial. This is a suit for life insurance in which Mrs. W. B. Shryock obtained a judgment for something like $4,000 in the federal court at Omaha.

A farmer called on a drug clerk in this city for a jug of black oil and was given roof paint instead. As the sticky roof paint refused to work on the role of a lubricator he returned it with explanations, and the drug clerk now sets up the cigars to keep the farmer quiet.

A LITTLE PINK SHOE.

Only a little pink baby shoe That is stained and wrinkled and torn, With a tiny hole where the little pink toe Peeped out in the days that are gone.

The little pink toe was the "big little pig" That to market so often would go. And over and over the legend was told As I kissed the little pink too.

"Piggie some more," the red lips would lisp, And the story and kiss were given Again and again, so happy were we In motherhood's foretaste of heaven

But there came a night, with desolate blight, When death bore my idol away, And no little toe ever peeps from the shoe

And stained it a deeper stain, in death

If it gave me my darling again

So, when I am dead, lay the little pink shoe Near my heart that is silent and cold, And perhaps up above, in the sunlight of love, I shall kiss the pink toe as of old. -Kate Thyson Marr in New York Journal.
