

CITY AND COUNTY.

WEDNESDAY.

C. Zarr, of South Bond, is in the city today.

The shops have gone on the nine hour schedule for a while.

Joe Graham was up from Avoca to day on business at the court house.

Harry Reed and John Duncan were over from Weeping Water today on business.

Athy Timblin and Ike Teegardin of Weeping Water were in the city on business today.

Waterman's Hall Paused to Standing Room to Hear Sound Doctrines.

From Thursday's Daily.

Waterman's hall was filled to overflowing last evening to hear the republican speakers. The chairs were all filled and the space at the rear of the hall was occupied by people standing up. Many came to the door and finding no seats turned away. It was the only large meeting of the year and was very enthusiastic and liberal in applause.

Judge Spurlock presided and introduced each speaker with a clever address which put the audience in good humor. Judge Saylor, candidate for State Superintendent, Hon. E. J. Burkhardt, candidate for congress, and T. L. Mathews, candidate for state auditor were the speakers who seemed to more than please their audiences. The Magnolia Glee club sang several lively campaign songs in their own imitative way which were greatly enjoyed. The meeting was a hummer and starts the republican campaign going at a proper gait.

MEDICAL SHARPERS.

ELMWOOD, Neb., Oct. 19.—A couple of medical sharpers have been at work in this community the past few days with the result that a number of farmers are sadder, if not wiser men.

Their method of work is now and may bite at the bait set for them. One method concerns the ailments of the victim, and then another comes along and holds out inducements to try their remedies, and offer to treat them six months for $75 or $150, to be paid if the said victim is cured, and to bind the bargain they have the victim sign a contract to the effect that the money is not to be paid until a cure is effected, and tears of part of the contract, keeping one part himself and giving the other part to the purchaser. Of course the part the sharpers keep turns out to be a premissory note. The contract given the victim is worthless.

It has been impossible to learn of all who were victimized in this vicinity, but among them are: Dan Mendenhall, $150; A. K. Sutherland, $150; Otto John, $150; George Baker, $150; Henry Gerberling, $150; Mrs. Creamer, $75; Lafe Cox $75. All who signed the contracts and notes are respectable well-to-do for mors.

THURSDAY.

All the courts are as quiet as cametties today.

Jake Luff has a new hay baler of the latest design.

Mrs. Thomas Walling is visiting relatives in South Bend.

J. M. Craig is home from a business trip down into Missouri.

A. H. Weckbach & Co. had seven teams at work delivering coal yesterday.

Rose Hyers, Hallie Atwood and Mabel Johnson visited the exposition today.

Ebenberger & Troop got in six cars of coal this week, and are hustled to supply the demands.

The exposition visitors numbered 24,891 yesterday notwithstanding the unfavorable weather.

Mrs. Schidknecht leaves tomorrow for a visit with relatives at Kansas City and Governor City, Missouri.

H. E. Pankonin was in town today from Louisville. Herman is one of the substantial business men of that town.

The weather bureau seems to have slipped a cog, and is giving us a dose of December or January instead of our old time hazy golden days of October.

Mrs. Elizabeth Goodwin purchased four nice lots in Minard the other day of Joseph Cook. Mynard presently seems to be moving up a few notches.

The telephone business is again booming with plenty of competition. The new company has been greatly handicapped by not receiving their poles so as to complete their plan.

Mary Muchilat, the insane woman, was not taken to the asylum until this morning, and made the officers considerable trouble. Sheriff Wheeler and a lady attendant had the woman in charge.

Glen. E. M. Pollard and Hon. T. T. Young, republican candidates for legislative honors were here last evening in attendance at the republican meeting and in a visit to this office they expressed themselves certain of victory in old Cass Nov. 8.

Mannahan spoke at Union last night, to a larger audience than he had at Elmwood, but he did not get his noted trick of swallowing a pop in public, which has made his name a household word all the way from San Juan to Broken Bow.

A farmer from Eight Mile Grove precinct who went to the Omaha exposition said he really didn't get his money's worth at the great show. Some of his neighbors say he attended the Cass county fair and the comparison was too much for him.

Silas Greenslate was in town from Elmwood today on business. Silas is one of the ear lost settlers in western Cass, having gone out there in the sixties. He was appointed postmaster of Elmwood under the Grant administration and held the office for ten years.

The many friends of L. E. Karnes, operator for the B. & M. for many years, will regret to learn of the sad misfortune which befel him this morning in the sudden death of his son in Ohio. Mr. Karnes did not know the little fellow was sick until this morning and a second message told of his death. He was the youngest child and was ten years of age. The father leaves this evening to attend the funeral and expects to return in about ten days.

ROUSING REPUBLICAN RALLY.

Waterman's Hall Paused to Standing Room to Hear Sound Doctrines.

From Thursday's Daily.

Waterman's hall was filled to overflowing last evening to hear the republican speakers. The chairs were all filled and the space at the rear of the hall was occupied by people standing up. Many came to the door and finding no seats turned away. It was the only large meeting of the year and was very enthusiastic and liberal in applause.

Ed. Fitzgerald, Bob Hayes and Joe Hawksworth are hunting ducks up in Duff County and expect to be home Monday.

This salvation army girls have got orders to go to Norfolk, and departed for that town today. Another detachment is expected to come here and continue the work.

The exposition continues to draw big crowds, and while the weather could not have been more unpleasant than it was yesterday, yet the report of admission shows 22,910 people were in attendance. Today every train ran in from two to three sections and another big day may be counted on.

Chet Manchester took a Missouri special to Omaha at 6 o'clock consisting of seven loaded coaches from the K. C. No. 5 from the east had two sections and No. 4 from the west also ran two sections to Omaha. The crowds at the exposition are from a distance as a rule, and usually remain two or three days.

John Line of Louisville, a bit member of company B, Third regiment, arrived in town this morning from Florida, he having received his discharge papers along with forty others in the regiment. He will visit here today and then return home, having had all the soldier experience he cares for, especially of the tropical kind.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Mozart club was held at the home of Miss Beulah Elson Tuesday evening, October 18. After the business meeting of the club the delegates to the fifth annual convention of the Federation of Woman's Clubs at Omaha came a very delightful talk on the many interesting topics spoken of at the Federation. A unanimous vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Stoutsborough for the interest she has shown and taken in the welfare of each and every member of the Mozart club, also for the many courtesies shown us in the past.

THURSDAY.

All the courts are as quiet as cametties today.

Jake Luff has a new hay baler of the latest design.

Mrs. Thomas Walling is visiting relatives in South Bend.

J. M. Craig is home from a business trip down into Missouri.

A. H. Weckbach & Co. had seven teams at work delivering coal yesterday.

Rose Hyers, Hallie Atwood and Mabel Johnson visited the exposition today.

Ebenberger & Troop got in six cars of coal this week, and are hustled to supply the demands.

The exposition visitors numbered 24,891 yesterday notwithstanding the unfavorable weather.

Mrs. Schidknecht leaves tomorrow for a visit with relatives at Kansas City and Governor City, Missouri.

H. E. Pankonin was in town today from Louisville. Herman is one of the substantial business men of that town.

The weather bureau seems to have slipped a cog, and is giving us a dose of December or January instead of our old time hazy golden days of October.

Mrs. Elizabeth Goodwin purchased four nice lots in Minard the other day of Joseph Cook. Mynard presently seems to be moving up a few notches.

The telephone business is again booming with plenty of competition. The new company has been greatly handicapped by not receiving their poles so as to complete their plan.

Mary Muchilat, the insane woman, was not taken to the asylum until this morning, and made the officers considerable trouble. Sheriff Wheeler and a lady attendant had the woman in charge.

Glen. E. M. Pollard and Hon. T. T. Young, republican candidates for legislative honors were here last evening in attendance at the republican meeting and in a visit to this office they expressed themselves certain of victory in old Cass Nov. 8.

Mannahan spoke at Union last night, to a larger audience than he had at Elmwood, but he did not get his noted trick of swallowing a pop in public, which has made his name a household word all the way from San Juan to Broken Bow.

A farmer from Eight Mile Grove precinct who went to the Omaha exposition said he really didn't get his money's worth at the great show. Some of his neighbors say he attended the Cass county fair and the comparison was too much for him.

Silas Greenslate was in town from Elmwood today on business. Silas is one of the ear lost settlers in western Cass, having gone out there in the sixties. He was appointed postmaster of Elmwood under the Grant administration and held the office for ten years.

The friends of Tabor college are always glad to hear of the success of her children, and whenever we learn of any of them receiving merited recognition it is a pleasure for us to make a note of it. We have before noted that our old friend E. J. Burkhardt, of Lincoln, was a candidate for congress in the First district of Nebraska, and if we are to judge of the mention being made of him by the papers of this district the chances are very flattering indeed. Some very complimentary things have been said of him by our Nebraska contemporaries, and we are more than glad to know that the people over there hold him in high esteem. He is a graduate of Tabor college, and during his career here as a student the editor had opportunity to observe him very closely. Indeed, he will be remembered by all who knew him (and everybody did who were here at that time) as a hardworking, faithful student. He was active in literary and society work; in fact, he was active in everything that went to promote the college interests. He entered the oratorical contests during his course and won first honors each time. He was secretary and treasurer of the Iowa Collegiate Oratorical Association one year. He always had the reputation of doing whatever he was called upon to do with a vim and making it succeed. We also remember his swinging wands, picking apples, digging potatoes, and doing janitor work at the college to help defray his expenses. We will vouch for his honesty and ability, and know that the First district of Nebraska will never regret if they send him to congress.—Tabor (Ia.) Beacon.

Dewey is Coming Home.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—The Evening Post says that Admiral Dewey will arrive in this city on December 6. He will come here on the City of Peking, which is due to arrive here on that date from the Orient. Admiral Dewey is interested in several mining enterprises on this coast and it is these interests that prompt his coming at this time. He has written friends in this city that he has already applied for a leave of absence.

LITERARY NOTES.

Mary Anderson's Little Boy.

Mary Anderson, who is now Mrs. de Navarro, and lives in England, has allowed herself, her new English home and her two year-old baby to be photographed for the first time for publication. Some twenty pictures have been made, and the best of these will appear in an early issue of the Ladie's Home Journal. The baby's picture is of course the central one of interest.

Emerson's Son as Author.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's son, Dr. Edward Emerson, himself a boy when Louis Agassiz was a girl in Concord, has written an article on "When Louis Agassiz was a Girl," which the Ladies' Home Journal is about to publish. Doctor Emerson gives a new view of the author of "Little Men," as a mimic and as the central figure of every dance and merrymaking in old Concord.

Taken to Jail.

From Wednesday's Daily.

Mary Muchilat was declared insane yesterday by the commission, and last night she got so violent and was smashing up things so that the sheriff was telephoned to come out and get her. He drove out with Deputy McBride to the poor farm and the unfortunate woman was found causing a big rumpus, dancing and singing and was almost rude. She was dressed and brought in and lodged in jail where she made some noise all night. Walbridge was asleep when she was brought in and was frightened nearly to death by her noise before he realized what was the matter.

Experienced.

"Have you made up your mind just what qualities you expect to find in a husband?" asked the matron.

"Why, of course," answered the maid.

"Too bad," commented the matron with a sigh.

"Why do you say that?" demanded the maiden.

"Oh, I always hate to see young girls disappointed," answered the matron.

Emerson's Son as Author.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's son, Dr. Edward Emerson, himself a boy when Louis Agassiz was a girl in Concord, has written an article on "When Louis Agassiz was a Girl," which the Ladies' Home Journal is about to publish. Doctor Emerson gives a new view of the author of "Little Men," as a mimic and as the central figure of every dance and merrymaking in old Concord.

Taken to Jail.

From Wednesday's Daily.

Mary Muchilat was declared insane yesterday by the commission, and last night she got so violent and was smashing up things so that the sheriff was telephoned to come out and get her. He drove out with Deputy McBride to the poor farm and the unfortunate woman was found causing a big rumpus, dancing and singing and was almost rude. She was dressed and brought in and lodged in jail where she made some noise all night. Walbridge was asleep when she was brought in and was frightened nearly to death by her noise before he realized what was the matter.

Experienced.

"Have you made up your mind just what qualities you expect to find in a husband?" asked the matron.

"Why, of course," answered the maid.

"Too bad," commented the matron with a sigh.

"Why do you say that?" demanded the maiden.

"Oh, I always hate to see young girls disappointed," answered the matron.

Emerson's Son as Author.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's son, Dr. Edward Emerson, himself a boy when Louis Agassiz was a girl in Concord, has written an article on "When Louis Agassiz was a Girl," which the Ladies' Home Journal is about to publish. Doctor Emerson gives a new view of the author of "Little Men," as a mimic and as the central figure of every dance and merrymaking in old Concord.

Taken to Jail.

From Wednesday's Daily.

Mary Muchilat was declared insane yesterday by the commission, and last night she got so violent and was smashing up things so that the sheriff was telephoned to come out and get her. He drove out with Deputy McBride to the poor farm and the unfortunate woman was found causing a big rumpus, dancing and singing and was almost rude. She was dressed and brought in and lodged in jail where she made some noise all night. Walbridge was asleep when she was brought in and was frightened nearly to death by her noise before he realized what was the matter.

Experienced.

"Have you made up your mind just what qualities you expect to find in a husband?" asked the matron.

"Why, of course," answered the maid.

"Too bad," commented the matron with a sigh.

"Why do you say that?" demanded the maiden.

"Oh, I always hate to see young girls disappointed," answered the matron.

Emerson's Son as Author.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's son, Dr. Edward Emerson, himself a boy when Louis Agassiz was a girl in Concord, has written an article on "When Louis Agassiz was a Girl," which the Ladies' Home Journal is about to publish. Doctor Emerson gives a new view of the author of "Little Men," as a mimic and as the central figure of every dance and merrymaking in old Concord.

Taken to Jail.

From Wednesday's Daily.

Mary Muchilat was declared insane yesterday by the commission, and last night she got so violent and was smashing up things so that the sheriff was telephoned to come out and get her. He drove out with Deputy McBride to the poor farm and the unfortunate woman was found causing a big rumpus, dancing and singing and was almost rude. She was dressed and brought in and lodged in jail where she made some noise all night. Walbridge was asleep when she was brought in and was frightened nearly to death by her noise before he realized what was the matter.

Experienced.

"Have you made up your mind just what qualities you expect to find in a husband?" asked the matron.

"Why, of course," answered the maid.

"Too bad," commented the matron with a sigh.

"Why do you say that?" demanded the maiden.

"Oh, I always hate to see young girls disappointed," answered the matron.

Emerson's Son as Author.

</