The M. P. has made a fifty cent round trip rate for October 21, 25 and 28 to Omaha. No transfer, no street cars. All trains stop at the exposition gate. For further particulars enquire of C. F. Stoutenborough.

Commodore Mannahan went down to Nehawka on a pop swallowing expedition, but the crowd being small, and there being no pops present who felt as if they wanted to be swallowed, the meeting was barren of results. The commodore came to Plattsmouth on the freight and was in consultation here with a few of his supporters today.

The German Presbyterian Frauenverein met with Mrs. Fred Ebinger yesterday afternoon, and enjoyed the hospitality of the hostess in a manner longed to be remembered. The ladies always have a good time at their social meetings and this was no exception to the rule. Nice refreshments were served and the rest of the time was given over to social conversation.

Sheriff Wheeler had quite a time with the insane woman he took to the asylum yesterday. She would kick and bite, and swear in German awfully, and occasionally utter a few English words not used in polite society. He had to tie her hands and feet, and when they got into the depot she made the people scramble to get out of her way. The poor woman got quiet when she was taken to the asylum, and it is thought after careful treatment she will fully recover.

AS THEY COME AND GO.

Wm. Holley was in Omaha this morning.

James Pattee was in town today from Omaha.

Hon. J. M. Patterson was a Louisville visitor today.

Fred Ebinger and brother went to the exposition today.

Milton W. Moore of Alvo was in the city on business today.

Deputy state treasurer, Saml Patterson, was in town over night, and returned to Lincoln this morning.

Mrs. John Mumm and daughter, Bertha, went to Omaha this morning to consult an oculist about the latter's eyes.

E. B. Perry was up to the exposition yesterday and he says that it is the biggest thing he has seen since he left Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cleland of Holdridge returned home this afternoon after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Wm. Herold and daughter.

Fred Eberhardt who has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Geo. Longenhagen, departed for his home at Philadelphia. Freddy Longenhagen goes with him, and will visit there for a month.

Mrs. O. H. Cook of Salem, Iowa, is visiting with her son, Dr. Cook, having been to Omaha where she visited with another son and saw the exposition. The doctor's father is expected this evening, he being at Council Bluffs attending the Grand Lodge of Old Fellows of Iowa.

Tried to Hypnotize a Lion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—J. F. Brown, the hypnotist and known all over the country for his performances in mind-reading, died here yesterday. He tried, a few months ago, to hypnotize a lion and the beast resented his familiarity by biting him on the hand. Blood poisoning set in and he was kept in a hospital for several weeks and finally discharged as cured. A few days ago he scratched his hand. Blood poisoning followed, and despite prompt medical assistance death resulted.

Mr. Patterson's Record.

J. M. Patterson, the fusion nominee for state senator, represented Cass county in the house in 1871, and the house journal gives the following record of his work there.

Page 254; Petition asking for modification of exemption law; page 279, presented petition asking for modification of exemption law; page 455, at his own request was granted indefinite leave of absence; page 626, made a minority report on house roll 212 recommending as commissioners on erection of insane asylum W. E. Hill and Samuel Maxwell. So much for his record in the house. In 1893 he represented Cass county in the senate, and the senate journal shows the following record: Page 577, moved to adopt report of the committee of the whole recommending the passage of senate file 21, to provide additional remedies for enforcement and collection of judgments; page 301, introduced senate file 105, an act to protect county treasurers, which failed to become a law. He was appointed member of committee on military affairs, banks and currency and privilege and elections, and was made chairman of committee on state prisons; page 445, voted against a bill for depositing public funds of counties and cities, so that they could obtain interest on same; page 787, voted against senate file 34, a bill authorizing persons paying usurious interest to recover it in a civil action from the person receiving it three times the amount paid—of course no one is accusing Mr. Patterson of collecting usurious interest, but the modification of the exemption laws, and providing additional remedies for the enforcement and collection of judgments show where his interests were.

Some seven years ago a law went into effect requiring the county treasurers to account to the county for the interest on county money deposited in the banks, and since that time the banks of Cass county have paid to the county the following amounts: In 1892, $1,725.14; 1893, $1,961.67; 1894 and 1895, $2,064.82; 1894, $2,587.20; 1895, $3,662.26; 1896, $1,968.45; and 1897, $2,030.42. Total for six years, $15,493.96. Is this not a good law? And why did Patterson vote and oppose such a law when he was senator in 1892? Will he try to repeal this law if elected this fall?

On page 480 of the senate journal we find Mr. Patterson had the pleasure of showing his well known dislike of the Union soldier by voting against a resolution asking congress to place the superannuated soldiers on the pension list. No soldier, therefore, can afford to see an enemy elected to the responsible office of senator as against an old soldier who would be friendly to their interests.

Democratic Rally.

G. Fred Williams, the "culchawed" Bostonian, and Secretary of State Porter, addressed an audience which partly filled the opera house last evening. Mr. Williams certainly made no converts as he failed to show how he would improve present conditions. Anybody can kick and find fault, but it is very different to take up and show something better. A more extended mention of the meeting is given in another column.

Dr. W. E. Flick.

The oculist optician from Kansas City will be in Plattsmouth, October 24 to 27 at John T. Coleman's jewelry store. Three or four months ago Dr. Flick visited this city and did considerable work fitting glasses, which has proven satisfactory to the persons having had their eyes fitted with glasses by Dr. Flick. City references cheerfully furnished to anyone calling at the office.
