

GETS A LIGHT SENTENCE

Harry Hickson Must Spend a Year in Prison.

Young Man Convicted of Forging An Order On James Sage Draws the Minimum Sentence—Another Pioneer Citizen of Cass County Passes Away—Other Local News.

From Monday's Daily.

When district court convened this morning Harry Hickson, the young man who was recently convicted of forging an order on James Sage for the hire of a livery team, was brought before Judge Jensen for sentence. A. N. Sullivan, the attorney for the prisoner, made an earnest plea for a new trial, but the motion was overruled, and the court sentenced Hickson to imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary for a period of one year. This is the lightest sentence that could be imposed for the offense committed, and the court doubtless exercised leniency on account of the prisoner's youth and previous good behavior.

District Court Notes.

The case of King vs. Chalfant was on trial today. The plaintiff sues for $116 alleged balance due for boring a well on the premises of Chalfant, near Union, in 1897.

After selecting the jury in the case on trial today, the balance of the jurors were excused until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The jury in the case of L. W. Castor vs. D. S. Draper, after deliberating for about twenty-nine hours, came to the conclusion at 6 o'clock last evening that they could not agree upon a verdict, and Judge Jensen, who arrived from Nebraska City yesterday afternoon, dismissed them.

A Distinguished Actor.

Mr. Whiteside's forthcoming engagement will, from present indication, be one of the most successful ever played in this city.

In these days when man regaled or rather assailed with so much that is unworthy of place in the amusement world, it becomes a pleasure to welcome into our midst an actor whose auditors are never depressed with a sense of being unworthy occupied, but who steadily feel the force of a commanding intellect and an intense nature concentrated on the sincere beneficial treatment of momentous themes.

Mr. Whiteside will present "Heart and Sword" at the Parmele on Saturday, December 15. Seats will be on sale at the box office tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Brave Men Fall.

Beats to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, headache, nervousness, headache, and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at F. G. Fricke & Co.'s drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

Children's Party.

Mrs. Charles S. Johnson entertained a party of little folks Saturday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Mildred's birthday anniversary. The weather being pleasant, the children enjoyed various games in Garfield park, after which a delicious luncheon was served at the residence. Those present were Misses Barbara and Janet Clement, Dorothy Britt, Ethel Brown, Emma Cummins, Lorine Lehman, Kathrine Drovey, Theda Kuhnney and Hila Eigenbrodt.

Passing of a Pioneer Citizen.

Henry Calkins, residing seven miles south of Plattsmouth, died Saturday evening at 11 o'clock, after a brief illness with paralysis. Deceased was aged sixty-five years, and was one of the pioneer citizens of Cass county. His many sterling qualities held for him the confidence and respect of a large circle of acquaintances. Since his wife died, several years ago, Mr. Calkins has resided with his son, who alone survives him.

The funeral occurred this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, and interment was made at the Young cemetery.

SOAP EATING PRISONERS.

Omaha Crooks Resort to a Desperate Ruse to Escape the Law.

From Monday's Daily.

The men in charge of the county jail believe there is a carefully devised plan among some of the prisoners to escape long sentences in the penitentiary by the old prison ruse of "soap eating," says the Omaha Bee. The trick is one that has been practiced from time immemorial by shrewd jailbirds on keepers and custodians holding pieces of the kind for the first time and consequently not versed in the ruses of cunning prisoners. It has happened not infrequently that attorneys, judges and even physicians are caught by the deception, and it is thought that the prisoners in the jail, having heard how easily men wearing the striped suits in the Lincoln penitentiary contrived to escape long sentences, agreed to try the same methods, securing release one at a time until the authorities learned they had been duped.

By a few weeks of insidious soap eating a man of strong constitution can bring himself into such a state physically that he will have the appearance of one in the last stages of consumption. It is easy to conceal a bar of soap in an out-of-the-way corner of the cell where it will be accessible for an occasional nibble when none of the keepers are within sight. Gradually the complexion of the soap eater becomes sallow and his flesh dwindles away. Then, if he affects a hollow cough, only an experienced physician can detect symptoms that the man is not a consumptive. When once a prisoner is sent to the hospital for treatment it is an easy matter to make his "get-away," as an escape is called in the vernacular of the prison.

Beer Poisoning Scare.

English beer-drinkers are in a panic because of the wholesale poisoning of people in the neighborhood of Manchester traced to the drinking of beer in which arsenic was present says the Pathfinder. More than 60 deaths have resulted from the poisoning and over 1,000 persons are ill. The scare has served to bring forcibly to public attention the dark methods employed by the brewers in the production of cheap beverages. In these beers glucose takes the place of malt and hops. This glucose is manufactured by the aid of sulphuric acid, which in turn is made from pyrites mined in Spain. The pyrites often contain arsenic and in this case an excess of arsenic appears to have been present. No one knows how much sickness and loss of life attributed to other causes has been produced by mild arsenical poisoning from this source, and English public sentiment is fully roused to the subject. Specimens of beer from public houses contained arsenic in fatal quantities, and thousands of barrels of suspected brewage are being emptied into the sewers.

Just Saved His Life.

It was a thrilling episode that Charles Davis of Bowerston, O., lately had from a frightful death. For two years a severe lung trouble constantly grew worse until it seemed he must die of consumption. Then began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and lately wrote: "It gave instant relief and effected a permanent cure." Such wonderful cures have for 25 years, proven its power to cure all throat, chest and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at F. G. Fricke & Co.'s drug store.

Postponed! Postponed! Postponed!

The Pirates of Penzance, for the benefit of the library, has been postponed until after the holidays. The reason for this is that more time is needed to put the opera on in the best shape, and those taking part will be contented with nothing short of their best efforts. The tickets that are out will hold good for the opera just the same, but should any desire to get their money back they may do so by calling at the box office of the Parmele.

Daily Post Retires.

With Saturday's issue the Daily Post ceased publication, the publishers announcing that they had sold all interests in the same to H. B. Groves, of the Journal. It is the intention of the latter to merge the paper into a "non-partisan" morning daily. Mr. Fellows will still publish the Weekly Post, and have charge of the mechanical department of the office in which both papers are published.

OLEO'S HEAVY BURDEN

House Says It Shall Pay Ten Cents a Pound if It Looks Like Butter.

GROUT GIVES AN OBJECT LESSON

Boqu's Butter That the Solons Can't Tell From the Real—Hay-Pannocofe Treaty.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The house yesterday passed the Groat oleomargarine bill by a vote of 196 to 92. The substitute offered by the minority of the committee on agriculture, which imposed additional restrictions on the sale of oleomargarine to prevent its fraudulent sale as butter, and increased the penalties for violators was defeated by a vote of 113 to 178. The bill as passed makes all articles known as oleomargarine, butterine, imitation butter, or imitation cheese, transported into any state or territory for consumption or sale, subject to the police power of such state or territory, but prevents any state or territory from forbidding the transportation or sale of such product when produced and sold free from coloration in imitation of butter. The bill increases the tax on oleomargarine colored in imitation of butter from 2 to 10 cents per pound and decreases the tax on oleomargarine uncolored from 2 cents to 3/4 of a cent per pound.

Couldn't Tell It from Butter.

A long and interesting debate preceded the vote in the course of which those who favored the groat bill claimed that the additional tax on colored oleomargarine was the only effective remedy for preventing fraud upon the public, while those who opposed it contended that fraud would be prevented by the substitute and that the real purpose of the Groat bill was to destroy the oleomargarine industry. During the debate Groat had brought into the house a box full of packages of what looked like butter. Each was wrapped in brown wrapping paper. The packages were passed around and after they had been examined Groat defied any one to tell whether they contained butter or oleomargarine. Then he turned up a corner of the wrapping paper which had been apparently carelessly folded down and displayed the printed sign "Oleomargarine."

Everybody Down on Oleo.

Henry of Connecticut said that the illegal selling of oleomargarine was due to the great profits derived from the sale of the imitation, because of its absolute counterfeited of butter. Thirty-two states already had absolutely forbidden the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine colored in imitation of butter, he said, and this fact proved conclusively the policy of a very large majority of the people against the colored imitation butter in counterfeit form.

MORGAN'S VERY SHORT SPEECH.

Concludes It and Tells Groat the Senate His Views.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The developments in the senate in executive session yesterday in connection with the Hay-Pannocofe treaty were: An agreement on the part of the senate to vote on the amendment offered by the committee on foreign relations, providing for the policing of the canal, on next Thursday at 3 o'clock. An amendment offered by Teller striking out the treaty prohibition against the fortification of the canal when constructed. The conclusion of Senator Morgan's speech, which was in opposition to the treaty. The agreement for a vote on the committee amendment was secured by a request made by Lodge. Lodge did not ask to have a date fixed for a vote upon the treaty itself, believing that the fate of the measure will be determined by the result of the vote upon the amendment.

Morgan in his speech went over the same grounds covered by him Thursday, saying he desired simply to clear up some misapprehension concerning his position. Teller spoke for about two hours. He contended that if the United States desired to build the canal it should proceed to do so without trying to secure the consent of Great Britain. He said that the opinion of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was unnecessary as a preceding performance, after all, was only the opinion of one man, and quoted from public documents to show that former secretaries of state had differed in their opinions in this respect.

Replying to Morgan, Teller expressed the opinion that Great Britain never would permit her resentment of independent action by the United States to lead her to begin hostilities, because her material interests in maintaining peace with this country are too great; but he argued that to ask England's assent to the construction of the canal was to admit that that country had a right to express its dissent. That position, he said, never would be accepted by the people of this country.

A Night Misunderstanding.

Marshal Sinter was called to John Schiappacasse's store this morning, where he was informed that a stranger had come in and, after eating two dishes of oysters, only paid for one of them. A few minutes later the man was located in one of the saloons. He explained that he had asked Mr. Schiappacasse if he had any oysters and the latter replied that he had "all the oysters he could eat for twenty-five cents," meaning twenty-five cents a dish. Of course, the stranger took him at his word, but it was a misunderstanding. However, he paid the oyster dealer an additional quarter and the matter was dropped.

Bone Doctors Claim a Miracle.

H. H. Laird, a young man of twenty-six from near Tabor, has been in Shenandoah for three weeks taking treatment for a somewhat unusual ailment, says the Shenandoah (Va.) Sentinel. Little more than a year ago he arose one morning and meeting his mother found he could not speak to her. He is a large six-foot, had grown rapidly, probably working on the farm all his life, and was comparatively healthy. He retired the night before feeling as well as usual, but in the night his vocal organ had become paralyzed. There was no pain, but immediately he was taken down sick and has remained pale, thin and in a weakened condition ever since. He could not eat and with difficulty swallowed the liquid food given him. It was an awful thing to be thus deprived of speech, and the paralysis affected the movement of his tongue, eyes, neck and face. His father being in Shenandoah, he was induced by them to come here and try osteopathy. After three weeks' treatment he finds himself fast recovering. Now he talks right well, slowly to be sure, but the improvement is so great that he is sure he will get well. He has gained seven pounds in flesh in the three weeks and appears hopeful and encouraged.

Would Like Better Train Service.

The people of Union, when they wish to visit Plattsmouth and return home the same day, are compelled to go around by way of Weeping Water and Louisville, or "turn out" at 4 o'clock in the morning and return home at midnight. They are, naturally, not in favor of this state of affairs and are trying to induce the Missouri Pacific officials to remedy the matter by furnishing better train service. The Union Ledger has the following to say in regard to the present train schedule on that road:

"There was a time when people of this corner of the county had reasonably good facilities for getting to the county seat, and returning home the same day, but a time card adopted a few months ago knocked us out, and now we must go "round the horn" or get out at four o'clock in the morning for the early train and get back home at midnight. The afternoon train is of very little service to us, as the county offices are always closed before the passengers get to Plattsmouth. As for the western part of the county, the Missouri Pacific has not for a long time afforded the people any accommodation in the way of getting to and from the county seat. The train on the Lincoln branch runs south to Nebraska City within ten minutes of the main line train—two trains from here to Nebraska City almost together—making a "double run" the same distance as it is from here to Plattsmouth. The officials of the road doubt have reasons for this "double run" to Nebraska City, but nobody has ever explained to Cass county people why the train on the Lincoln branch does not turn here and run to Plattsmouth, thus giving the west part of our county a bit of accommodation."

CHAMBERLAIN'S TALK

He Tells the Commons What the Government's Policy is in South Africa.

GUERRILLA WAR MUST BE STOPPED

Then Civil Government—Charges of Cruelty—News From the Fighting Line—Kruger.

London, Dec. 8.—In the house of commons yesterday, in pursuance of an agreement reached by the Liberals, that the government's explanations were unsatisfactory, A. Emmet, Liberal, representing Oldham, moved an amendment to the address to the effect that it would conduce to the pacification and future good relations of the races of South Africa, if measures securing the liberty and property of those who surrender and providing for the future settlement of the territories were announced at the earliest moment possible. During the continuation of his speech yesterday Chamberlain said the government hoped it was and not prophesied—that very shortly, indeed, before the house met again, something in the nature of a civil administration might be established both in the Orange River and the Transvaal colonies. Sir Alfred Miller, he added, would be appointed governor of the Orange River colony.

Liberal Utters a Prediction.

Here V. Duncan, Liberal, a former captain of the Aberdeenshire militia, who recently returned from South Africa, where he went to look after the remnants of a regiment when the war broke out, interrupted Chamberlain, saying: "You will lose South Africa."

Continuing, Chamberlain said a lieutenant governor would be appointed for the Orange River colony and that both governments would have executive councils, but not necessarily the same constitution. Chamberlain also said he had suggested to Sir Alfred Miller the issue of proclamations in English, which he gives forth the government's intentions, which were animated by no vindictiveness against the men in arms. The government thought it impossible that reasonable men could ask it to fix a day when full peace would be granted.

Policy of the Government Stated.

The government had laid down three objects. The first of these was to end the guerrilla war. It would not surprise him if the Boers had destroyed more farms than the English. Never in history had a war been waged with so much humanity. The women had only been deported for their protection. The native population was another matter. The policy of the government was to bring about the settlement of women and children, and it had been shown that in no case had a British soldier been justly accused. The farm-burning was greatly exaggerated. Lord Roberts had only sanctioned the burning of farms as a punishment in cases of complicity in the rebellion or damage done to the railroads. The government sustained Lord Roberts absolutely. The government was bound to leave discretion to the military. The second object was that, when pacification was accomplished, a crown government would be instituted. The third object was ultimate self-government.

DRIVEN FROM HOME BY BOERS.

Women and Children Suffer Because Their Kinsmen Favor Peace.

London, Dec. 8.—A dispatch from Heidelberg, Transvaal, dated Dec. 4, says: "The Boers are driving the Boer women and children from their homes because their kinsmen refuse to fight any longer. Forty women and children, ill-clad and hungry, were brought in by the British today."

A dispatch from General Kitchener dated Bloemfontein, Dec. 7, confirming news from Alwal North Cape Colony, of Thursday's date (saying that General De Wet's main forces are hard pressed), adds that General Knox captured the Krupp gun which De Wet abandoned near the Caledon river, and continued in pursuit of De Wet.

The dispatch also says that while the British were hunting over women at the request of the Boers, under a flag of truce, at Belfast, Wednesday, Dec. 5, a force of 100 Boers unsuccessfully attacked a neighboring infantry post.

The Hague, Dec. 8.—The presidents of both chambers have sent letters to Kruger welcoming him in the name of the states general. The president of the senate expresses approval of the noble purpose of Mr. Kruger attempting to put a stop to the unjust war forced upon him in such a barbarous manner and hopes it will result in independence of the republics being assured forever. An official request has been transmitted to Queen Wilhelmina for an audience.

London, Dec. 8.—In the house of commons yesterday Viscount Cranborne, parliamentary secretary for the foreign office, said the government had not notified any foreign power of the annexation of the Transvaal and Orange Free State. An examination of precedents, he said, showed that a notification was not necessary and foreign recognition of the annexation does not depend on a formal notification.

Wants Divorce from a Preacher.

Green Bay, Wis., Dec. 8.—Another chapter has been opened in the history of the divorce troubles of Rev. Michael Nuss of Dopey, a retired Lutheran minister. This time it is the wife who sues for separation, and it seems as though the influence of friends to stay the proceedings will avail nothing. She alleges cruel treatment in her complaint against her 75-year-old husband. She has placed her case with a Green Bay law firm.

Dubuque Claims an Honor.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The entire Iowa delegation in congress, including Speaker Henderson, yesterday united in a petition to the secretary of the navy to name one of the new gunboats the Dubuque.

Says the Stewards Are Fair.

New York, Dec. 8.—Lester Reff, the jockey, was interviewed yesterday concerning the decision of the English Jockey club in his case. He refused to discuss the Sloan decision. He said: "The stewards of the English Jockey club are undeniably fair."

Forged His Father's Name.

Anderson, Ind., Dec. 8.—John Redington has been convicted of forging certificates of deposit belonging to his father, Patrick Redington, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years. The father filed the affidavit against him.

Doctor Drops Dead.

Cumberland, Wis., Dec. 8.—Dr. Walter C. Pense, one of the oldest and most prominent physicians in northern Wisconsin, dropped dead of heart disease at the bedside of a sick patient.

CANCER

Sufferers from this horrible malady nearly always inherit it—not necessarily from the parents, but may be from some remote ancestor. For Cancer often runs through several generations. This deadly poison may lay dormant in the blood for years, or until you reach middle life, then the first little sore or ulcer makes its appearance—or a swollen gland in the breast, or some other part of the body, gives the first warning.

To cure Cancer thoroughly and permanently all the poisonous virus must be eliminated from the blood—every vestige of it driven out. This S. S. does, and is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated, obstinate blood troubles like this. When all the poison has been forced out of the system the Cancer heals, and the disease never returns.

Cancer begins often in a small way, as the following letter from Mrs. Shirer shows: A small pimple came on my jaw about an inch below the ear on the left side of my face. It gave me no pain or inconvenience. I began to bleed a little, then it began to inflame and itch; it would bleed a little, then it would heal. This continued for some time. Then my jaw began to swell, becoming very painful. This was two years ago. There are still scars on my jaw where it used to bleed. I could not eat and sleep, until it was as large as a half-dollar. When I heard of S. S. S. and determined to give it a fair trial, and it was remarkable what it did for me. It had from the very beginning; it sorely began to heal and after taking a few bottles disappeared entirely. This was two years ago. There are no signs of the Cancer, and my general health continues good."

S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and the only one guaranteed purely vegetable. Send for our free book on Cancer, containing valuable and interesting information about this disease, and write our physicians about your case. We make no charge for medical advice.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

Legal Notice.

State of Nebraska, ss. Cass County. Before me, Archer, Justice of the Peace, within and for Cass County, Nebraska, on the 30th day of November, 1900, I, E. H. Heitzhausen vs. W. H. Harrison. You will take notice that on the 30th day of November, 1900, Mr. Archer, a Justice of the Peace of Cass County, Nebraska, issued an order of attachment and garnishment for the sum of $15.75 in the action pending between E. H. Heitzhausen vs. W. H. Harrison, wherein E. H. Heitzhausen is plaintiff and W. H. Harrison is defendant. Property of the defendant, consisting of money in the hands of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company, owners and assignees of the Burlington and Missouri River Railroad in Nebraska, a corporation duly organized and doing business under the law, has been attached and garnished under said order.

Said cause was continued to the 6th day of January, 1
