There is quite an epidemic of influenza among the children of Elmwood and vicinity, no less than a dozen of the little folks having had the disease in a severe form the past ten days, several of the cases developing into pneumonia. Both of Dr. Neely's children and two of Dr. Munger's are sick. Dr. Munger's three months-old babe is lying at the point of death, having developed spinal meningitis. The doctors are worn out caring for their own families and have had to call on neighboring doctors to attend to a portion of their calls.

Wm. Mueller had his left hand severely burned Saturday night. He carried a gasoline torch home from the shop to put in his cellar to keep the fruit and potatoes from freezing during the night and in some manner a quantity of gasoline was spilled on the mitten covering his left hand, and when he lit the torch his mitten and coat caught fire also. By prompt action Mr. Mueller extinguished the blaze, although one of the curtains in the room had ignited, but in doing so the entire back of his left hand was burned to a blister. He is under the doctor's care and laid off from work for a few days, but is very thankful there were no worse results.

D. E. Jones came up from Oklahoma Saturday night. He is looking fine and don't have anything very hard to say against the country. It has been about four years since he left here. Mrs. Jones will come later. Mr. Jones went to Omaha Monday to visit his son John.

It was not so many months ago the gas plant man figured up our bill, noticed the exceeding size of the same and was taken ill and fainted. He was fanned, and cooled with water until he was able to be taken home in a carriage. But last month how different.

When he presented his bill it was as that fainted and a sixty mile blizzard had no effect in reviving us.

John Bourke returned home from Auburn last Saturday where he visited Tom Cusic and family. He said Tom had the best run now he ever had, on the Crete branch, and his train is the only one that runs over the road. A combination passenger and freight.

It would please the Republican editor if all the editors of the papers throughout the county would lend their support to the election of a county commissioner who would agree to make some permanent roads in the county. Not for one locality only, but divide the work so as to eventually help all sections. A north and south road across the country, and an east and west road, followed by others connecting therewith.
