

SAVE YOUR MONEY

By buying a J. I. CASE Steel Separator. You need not be afraid of fires burning it up, for it is fire-proof, you need not carry any insurance on it, you need not be afraid of the sun or rain warping it as it is weather-proof. You do not find these conditions on a wooden separator. Threshermen all over the United States praise the J. I. CASE Separator for its wearing qualities, its clean threshing, which advantage has brought more money to the farmers, and its fastness. As a threshing rig is constantly moving from place to place over all kinds of roads, the trucks are an important consideration. All CASE Wheels are the steel-tire-and-spoke type with tires ranging from 10 to 14 inches wide regular and 12 on special order. These will carry the machine over the softest ground and also afford a substantial base for the entire separator mechanism. The hubs are extra long. The steel axles will not break, and will not sag or warp as wooden axles do when subjected to undue weight or severe weather. With each of our machines is included a spliced tongue for use with teams or engine, and a set of double-trees and neckyoke. 54 inch, 32x32 inch cylinder is a good medium sized job thresher that will handle an ordinary crop as fast as a crew can care for it. This size is used north, south, east and west $475.00 and is always a profitable investment, it sells for.....

Send or call for catalogue describing this machine and many others.

Use for Scotch Water Power.
The growing industry of extracting aluminum has stimulated the search for water-power in the British Isles, because the extraction of aluminum is so expensive that only low-cost power can be economically employed. In this respect Scotland, with its mountains, is coming to the front. The water power at the falls of Foyers, in Scotland, has hitherto been the largest in Great Britain; but now a still larger plant, at Kinlochleven, utilizing the rainfall over a tract of 55 square miles, is about to be put into operation for the production of aluminum. Its nine hydraulic turbines, each of 3,200 brake horsepower, are the largest water wheels in the British Isles.

To Mark a Key.
When there are two or more keys on the key ring of approximate size and appearance draw a file over the stem of the one most in use. This makes a nick which easily distinguishes it from the others. The little dent is better than a string or other mark, the key being easily recognized by it (in slipping it through one's fingers) in the dark.

Pieces Contained in Violin.
A violin contains 69 pieces, made up in the following way: Back, two pieces; belly, two; ribs and blocks, six; sides, five; side linings, 12, bar 4; purflings, 24; neck, one; finger-board, one; nut, one; bridge, one; tail-board, one; button for tailboard, one; string for tailboard, one; guard for string, one; sound post, one; strings, four; pegs, four.

Chances of the Sailor Man.
The sea as a calling is certainly not what it once was by a long way. The class of men who did well 40 years ago would make a poor show now. It was common enough in days gone by for owners to look for a suitable man, and then build a ship for him, but it's the other way now.—British Nautical Magazine.

Feminine Intuition.
A young girl has nearly always more sense of duty and more mental balance than has a boy of her own age. Her training and the disposition of her sex both combine to steadiness and a ripe view of marriage obligations in the vast majority of cases.—Hearth and Home.

Servia No Hunting Ground for Cupid.
Servia retains many memories of Turkish rule. The women are kept in the background. The men marry for the qualities of the housewife rather than for romantic love. It is often that young men marry women much older than themselves.

MADE A MATTER OF RECORD.
English Firm Has Neat Scheme to Prevent Disputes Over Amount of Money Tendered.

The lady behind the counter at one of the winter drapery sales in Oldham Street wrote out the bill for my purchases (writes "R") on a little manifold book, which reproduced her writing by means of a carbon paper on the page below. Then she took the half-sovereign I tendered in payment, and placed it on the upper page, pressed it hard down with her thumb. I asked the reason "We have instructions," she said, "to take the impression of any coin received by means of the carbon paper in the book. See (turning to the duplicate of my bill), there's the impression of your half-sovereign. You couldn't very well think you'd given me a sovereign, for would that coin show? You'd be surprised," she said, "how often we have to show our books to people to convince them we've not made a mistake."—Manchester Guardian.

Fractal Adjuncts.
In these days the demands upon the skilled playwright are many and ever increasing. "You say to do a little work for me right off?" asked a theatrical manager, and the playwright sighed. His willingness to attempt it.

"All right," said the theatrical manager. "We've got permission from the author to put on a dramatization of 'The Minister's Vacation,' that country book that's so popular; and the author's willing we should work in one or two more incidents to make the action lively.

"Now I want you to write up a cyclone and a couple of trick mules. I've got the machinery for the cyclone, and the two mules are great. I want the pastoral flavor of the book kept you understand, but just a little more 'go' in it."—Youth's Companion.

Their Narrow Escape.
Midas, wearied beyond endurance at seeing that everything he touched turned to gold, looked about for some light occupation, with a view to resting his mind, and was about to go into the lumber business.

"But that won't do, either," he said. "If I should touch wood I'd knock the wood pulp business into a cocked hat and bankrupt the timber kings!" Realizing that crowned heads should stand by one another, and uncertain, besides, what the Payne tariff was going to do with lumber, he forebore, and amused himself by going out and buying a gold brick from a con man—which, in his case, was a perfectly safe transaction.
