NEBRASKA

Some Facts About the State That Nebraskans Should Scatter Broadcast Over the World.

Nebraska was admitted into the Union on March 1, 1867. On that date the state contained less than 100,000 inhabitants and these were confined to a comparatively narrow strip bordering on the Missouri river. Then the territory now known as Nebraska was known as "The Great American Desert" is a fast fading memory, and nowhere in all the world is presented such a spectacle of prosperity and development as that presented by the giant young state carved out of the heart of the desert. In the short space of forty-two years there has been builded inwith the confines of Nebraska an agricultural and industrial empire that is at once the wonder and the admiration of the world.

One hundred and sixty thousand farms. Four thousand industrial plants. Six thousand miles of railroad. The third largest packing center in the world.

The second largest smelter in the world.

The largest creamery in the world.

The largest permanent school fund of any state in the Union.

The seventh largest state university.

These are some of the big things possessed by Nebraska—a state less than half a century old, and which less than half a century ago was designated upon the map of the world as "The Great American Desert."

The total agricultural, dairy and industrial products of Nebraska in 1909 were worth $650,000,000. If loaded into standard freight cars the products of Nebraska in 1909 would make freight train over 10,000 miles long. No one state or territory in the Union produced in 1909 enough gold and silver to buy the butter that was made in Nebraska the same year. No one state or territory in the Union in 1909 produced enough gold to buy the egg crop of Nebraska in the same year. The total gold and silver output of the nation in 1909 would scarcely pay for the butter, egg and poultry output of Nebraska in the same year.

The total tobacco crop of the nation in 1909 lacked $22,000,000 of being worth as much as Nebraska's corn crop.

NEAL INSTITUTE IS GROWING RAPIDLY.

State Senator Bruce Tells How Des Moines Institution Is Branching Out.

Senator J. E. Bruce, treasurer of the Neal Institute of the United States is preparing to open institutes in Chicago and Springfield. He now has institutes in Omaha, Sioux City and Davenport in addition to the one in Des Moines. Concerning the rapid territorial expansion of the company, he said today:

"The entire territory of the United States has been practically disposed of to men of high character and ability, backed by ample means, and institutes have already been opened and are in operation in the following points: New York City, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Superior, Wis., Springfield and St. Louis, Mo., Topeka, Kan., Omaha, Neb., Indianapolis, Ind., Des Moines, Sioux City and Davenport, Ia., Sioux Falls, S. D., Fargo, N. D., Denver, Colo., Albuquerque, N. M., San Francisco, with institutes being established that will be opened in a short time at Los Angeles, Portland, Oreg., Seattle, and Spokane, Wash., Fort Worth and Galveston, Tex., New Orleans, Memphis, Tenn., Atlanta, Ga., Columbus and Cleveland, O., Detroit, Chicago and Springfield, Ill., Kansas City, Mo., Pittsburg and Philadelphia, Baltimore, Md., and Boston, Mass.

"The facts are that all the territory of the United States has been contracted for except Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Delaware, District of Columbia, the two Virginias, the two Carolinas, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Idaho, Montana and we have negotiations pending in all of these states, which will probably result in deals being closed.

"Each of the institutes already opened is backed by strong men, and all are in fine buildings, and all have done a splendid business from the start.

"The Cincinnati institute opened on Walnut Hills in a fine resident section of the city, had nine patients, the first nine days, and the third week had the institute, which has accommodations for seventeen patients, full to its capacity.

Nebraska's 1909 crop of corn, wheat oats and hay was worth $52,000,000 more than Pennsylvania's 1909 crop of anthracite coal.

The nation's output of crude petroleum in 1909 was worth $97,000,000 and Nebraska's 1909 corn crop was worth a million dollars more.

Fifteen years ago dairying was practically unknown in Nebraska. A few little creameries were scattered here and there, but they afforded no inducements to the farmers to engage in the dairying industry. With the development of the modern methods Nebraska steps into the front rank of dairying states. In 1909 there was over 32,500 hand separators in Nebraska, separating the milk from 540,000 milch cows. From the cream thus separated was manufactured upwards of 50,000,000 pounds of the finest butter in the world.

Nebraska is the greatest alfalfa

To the homeseeker Nebraska offers unparalleled advantages and opportunities. Fertile farm lands in the west central and northwestern and west ern parts of the state may be bought for from $20 to $50 an acre, on the most liberal terms of payment. Land in the older settled parts of the state sells for more, of course, but it is a bargain at any price. This land will raise corn, wheat, oats, rye, barley alfalfa, potatoes, sugar beets—cr any other crop that can be raised in the temperate zone—and produce an average yield greater than any average yield of the United States.

Nebraska waits with a welcome for all who come to her to make homes within her borders. The best gifts that any state can bestow upon those who come to her—the finest climate in the world, the most fertile soil in the world, the most prosperous and the happiest people in the world to associate with, a future that is as unbounded as space, and possibilities that the mind of finite man cannot measure.

"And Nathaniel said unto him, 'Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?' And Philip said unto him, 'Come and see!'"

To everyone that doubteth, to everyone that desires to know, Nebraska says "COME AND SEE!"

"New York City, opened its institute on Saturday, June 11, and had several patients the first day.

"San Francisco was opened by a well known Iowa man, E. L. Anderson, formerly for many years editor and publisher of the Atlantic Telegraph.

"The New York City Institute was organized by a former well known and prominent Des Moines man. The Ohio and Kentucky territory including the city of Pittsburg, Pa., was sold to three Des Moines men—W. L. Reed and O. H. Evans, both well known attorneys of Des Moines, and Mr. Quinby, a prominent and well known business man of Des Moines. They have opened an institute on a large scale at Cincinnati, and under their contracts they have already arranged to open institutes at Louisville, Pittsburg, and at least two other places, Cleveland and Columbus, in the state of Ohio.

"The Minnesota and Wisconsin territory was purchased by Dr. E. E. Austin, who is one of the most leading and well known surgeons in the northwest, who occupies a chair as lecturer in the medical department in the State university of the state of Minnesota.

"The Missouri territory was purchased by a former well known Iowa man, E. R. McDonald, who until recently, was president of the Iowa State Millers' association.

"The Texas territory was purchased and institutes will be opened and operated by Dr. Fellows, of the well known medical firm of Drs. Fellows & Fellows, Des Moines, Ia.

"The Indianapolis territory was purchased by one of the prominent bankers of that city, H. R. Williams, a well known Omaha business man, Mr. R. H. Knittle, and Mr. Geo. C. Brenner, after having had their attention called to and investigating the cure at the Omaha institute, respectively purchased the state of Washington and the territory of Buffalo."

Off to the Mountains,

Mrs. William Budig and daughter Mrs. O. W. Hamburg and children started Monday morning on a trip to Denver, where they will remain a couple of weeks visiting their many relatives and friends who live in that city and in the immediate vicinity. They were accompanied as far as Omaha by Mr. Hamburg, who had a number of business matters to attend to there.
