WM. H. THOMPSON, (Dem.)
of Hall County.
Lieutenant-Governor,
E. A. GILBERT, (Pop.)
of York County.
Secretary of State,
JOHN POWERS, (Pop.)
of Hitchcock County.
State Auditor,
C. Q. DE FRANCE, (Pop.)
of Jefferson County.
State Treasurer,
J. N. LYMAN, (Pop.)
of Adams County.
Attorney-General,
JEFFERSON H. BROADY, (Dem.)
of Lancaster County.
Com'r Public Lands and Buildings,
J. C. BRENNAN, (Dem.)
of Douglas County.
State Supt. of Schools,
CLAUDE SMITH, (Pop.)
of Dawson County.
For Congress,
H. H. HANKS, (Dem.)
of Otoe county.

Geo. M. Spurlock, republican candidate for seat representative, stands charged with not accounting for fees received by him for marriage ceremonies performed by him while county judge. Will he explain why he did not? The people demand that he do so.

As yet Congressman Burkett has not accepted, or even shown courtesy enough to decline the challenge of his competitor, Hon. H. H. Hanks. The longer he postpones answering, the less the people of the first district will know about his career in congress. A man who is afraid to meet an opponent in a friendly discussion of the issues, is not the proper person to represent a people in the halls of congress.

On Thursday night of last week the socialists of the first congressional district met in mass convention in Lincoln Thursday evening, October 2, and nominated Mr. Chris Christensen, of Plattsmouth for congress. The congressional committee is composed of A. A. Carlson and Chas. Martin of this city, and Chas. Mangon of Brock. The convention also adopted a platform endorsing the unity convention at Indianapolis in 1901, and the state platform adopted at Omaha last September.

While George M. Spurlock is engaged in addressing the voters of Cass and Otoe counties would it not be just as well for him to explain to the taxpayers of Cass county why he did not account for fees received by him for performing marriage ceremonies? Do this, Mr. Spurlock; the people would be pleased to know by what authority you do so while serving as county judge. They have a right to know, and it will be no trouble for you to explain to them in your usual smooth manner.

Is It Not So?

When we get up in the morning and start a fire to warm the babies, we pay tribute to Hanna's coal trust. When we draw on our half cotton and half wool pants the cotton and wool combine pricks us. The leather trust squeezes our corms when we pull on our horse hide boots. We gaze through the glass trust when we look out upon cheap wheat fields. The infant trust plays a merry tune on the milk pail. At the breakfast table the iron trust makes our iron spoons, knives and forks heavy, but we season our appetite by a contribution to the salt trust. We sweeten the bitter pill with a contribution to the sugar trust. We add zest to the flagging appetite by a bite of the fruit trust and grease it with the meat trust. At the close of our trusty meal, still trusting in the administration's trust made prosperity, we take a sip at the coffee trust. All day long, in the fields and by the fireside, we are trusted. When death claims us the coffin trust gets the last kick at us, and such is the "strenuous life." Ain't this a fact?

Judge Broady.

Many Nebraskans, says the World-Herald, will remember J. D. Calhoun, for a long time the editor of the Lincoln Herald. On one occasion, referring to Judge J. H. Broady, fusion nominee for attorney general, Mr. Calhoun wrote: "Beneath his modest and unassuming exterior, Judge Broady possesses a brain of perfect clearness, a heart as true as steel, and a soul as honest as sunshine. He is a man of keen perception, of solid conviction, of dauntless courage, of perfect courtesy, of supreme fidelity, of entire truth, and with the grace of tender kindness and fellowship."

Sometimes newspaper eulogies of public men are undeserved, but we think it safe to say that everyone who has the pleasure of Judge Broady's acquaintance will agree that in this fine tribute to one of the best lawyers and one of the most courteous gentlemen in Nebraska, Mr. Calhoun did not exaggerate in the least.

It's Up to You, Mr. Spurlock.

While serving as judge of Cass county, did you render any statement of account of fees collected by you for performing marriage ceremonies?

Precious to your incumbency, did not Judge Ramsey render an account of all fees collected by him, including those received for performing ceremonies?

Is not the present incumbent, Judge Douglass, doing the same? Then, by what authority did you retain such fees without rendering any account of the same to the taxpayers of the county?

It may be all right for you to do so, Mr. Spurlock, but then it is due the people of Cass county that you explain why.

The salary of county judge is fixed at $1,500 per annum, and the incumbent is bound by law to render an account of all fees collected by him. Did you do this while you held that position? If not, why not, Mr. Spurlock?

It's up to you, Mr. Spurlock.

Will He Tell the People?

The Fowler currency bill embodies all the iniquitous features of the old wildcat banking plan. It provides for bank notes issued on bank assets, for branch banks, for retirements of the greenbacks, and for making silver dollars redeemable in gold on demand of the holder. It is the foundation stone of a bankers' trust. The Fowler bill has been recommended for passage by the republican majority of the house committee on banking and currency.

Mr. Burkett is now engaged in his canvas for a re-election to congress. He is soliciting votes—asking the people of the first congressional district to return him, and yet there are many questions of vital importance to his constituents upon which they do not know where to find him. One of these questions is the Fowler currency bill. The people have a right before casting their votes to know just exactly where he stands. At present he maintains a discreet silence. We ask the readers of the Journal if this is not cowardly. Have the courage, Mr. Burkett, to come out publicly and say what you will do if called upon to vote on the Fowler bill. Mr. Hanks says he will vote against it if elected; now what do you intend to do? Speak out, like a man. The people love a man who stands up and defends or condemns a measure he is for or against.

Cass County Democrats.

While there seemed to be considerable lukewarmness in the county convention last Thursday, and a feeling among those whom the party friends desired to place upon the ticket, that to accept the nomination was an empty honor, it is the Journal's honest opinion that there were men suggested for places that should have consented to a nomination without a whimper. Their names would have added strength to the belief that the democratic party had more than a fighting chance for success.

It is true, however, that Cass county is considered to be republican in from 300 to 400 majority, yet the political situation and the issues before the people this year will have a tendency to strengthen the democratic party to some extent, and the undercurrent that is at work may be the means of adding many republican votes on the side of democracy.

One noticeable feature of the present campaign is the very strong feeling in the republican party against trusts. Men who have been life-long protectionists are now seriously considering what is to be done with the giant aggregations of wealth that are now swallowing up all the smaller independent avenues of trade.

It has begun to dawn on some heretofore party-blinded republicans that it is only a question of time till all the business of the country will be controlled by one giant concern, which, like the octopus, after having firmly twined its arms about the body of its victim, slowly eats the very life and existence out of it. It has also been brought to the view of many republicans that the party with which they have affiliated so long is responsible for this condition of affairs, and that the leaders of that organization have gone so far in legislating in the interest of these gigantic combines, to withdraw their influence would mean elimination to them and a retirement of the republican party from power.

There are many republicans in Cass county today—men who have been almost life long in the party traces who are not in the habit of howling their sentiments from housetops—men who are well posted on the issues that confront the people that are thinking seriously of casting their lot with the democrats this year.

The situation, politically is in no wise discouraging to the democrats of Cass county, and, as above stated, the Journal is of the opinion that there were men proposed in the convention who could have headed the ticket nominated and carried it triumphantly to victory, without the loss of a single man upon it.

Significant.

The New York Sun (republican) feels constrained "as a responsible observer of events of importance in this country" to report as follows: "The immediate effect of President Roosevelt's proposition for a constitutional amendment conferring upon the general government the control of corporations is toward consolidating and reinspiring the democratic party."
