THE PRIMARY PLEDGE--ORGANIZE NOW.

The Commoner of March 17, 1905, contains the following:

"Mr. Bryan has been in receipt of a multitude of letters since the election urging organization for the campaign of 1908. The rank and file of the party are ready to begin the fight; they only await a plan of co-operation. This plan has been under consideration for some weeks and is herewith submitted.

"Let each democrat pledge himself to attend all of the primaries of his party to be held between now and the next democratic national convention, unless unavoidably prevented, and to use his influence to secure a clear, honest and straightforward declaration of the party's position on every question upon which the voters of the party desire to speak.

"This plan does not involve the writing of a platform in advance of the primaries; it does not rest upon the paramount importance of any one issue. It recognizes the right of the democratic voters to control the policy of the democratic party, and to determine its position upon public questions. It also recognizes the importance of honesty and sincerity in politics.

"This proposition will appeal to all who believe in the rule of the people—to all who are willing that the majority shall govern in party management and in the nation. It does not mean that those who exert themselves to secure a good platform—that is a question which each must determine for himself—but it does mean that the democratic platform shall give voice to the prevailing sentiment of the democratic party, and that the party shall take the country into its confidence. The pledge proposed is a primary pledge—because the people speak at the primaries. The national convention is attended by delegates and each delegate represents tens of thousands of democrats. The state con-

Is the Administration of the Criminal Law in this Country a Farce?

Nan Patterson, a mere slip of a girl, bright, pretty and in a way accomplished, became an actress of uncertain degree. Thrown into fast society, she became infatuated with a "fast horse" sport and gambler—one Caesar Young—a thoroughbred sport, who ran to fast horses and women.

The girl gave her bright young life, with reputation and all that is dear to a young woman in her station of life, to this sporting man. Caesar Young had a lawful wife, but the charms of Nan Patterson were more powerful than the influence of his wife and home. He took Nan Patterson with his string of horses wherever he "played the races." He finally "went dead broke" to use the sporting vernacular. His wife interferred and insisted that Caesar "shake the girl" and go to Europe. Caesar agreed to do so, but spent his last night in the wine room. With whom? With the girl whose life he had spoiled. All night long he drank and quarreled with Nan Patterson, until finally, some hours before he was to sail, his miserable ending came in a hack with the girl from whom he was "cutting loose;" and the great commonwealth of New York, with its law department; its detective agencies; with its criminal courts, has been moving "heaven and earth" to convict Nan Patterson, on the theory that she killed this gambler rather than part with him.

In the toms, in the courts, in the jails of the detective force this girl has been the victim of the so-called great state of New York, prosecuting her with a thousand fold more vigor than that criminal force would have pursued the rank old criminal Chadwick, or any pampered bank president, who has walked away with the poor people's savings entrusted to his care and keeping.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

That Should Be Strictly Adhered to By Every Good Citizen.

- I. Thou shalt not go away from home to do thy trading, nor thy son nor thy daughter.
- II. Thou shalt patronize thy home printer, for yea verily doth the home printer spread over the tidings of thy goodness and greatness and many will patronize thee.
- III. Thou shalt employ thy home mechanics that they shall not be driven from their homes to find bread for their little ones.
- IV. Thou shalt not ask for credit. Goods cost much and the merchant's brain is burdened with bills. His children clamor for daily bread, and his wife remaineth at home for lack of raiments as doth her sister. Blessed year, thrice blessed is the man who pays the cash.
- V. Thou shalt not ask for reduce prices on thine "influence" for gile is thy heart and the merchant readeth it like an open book. He laugheth thee to scorn and shouteth to his clerks, ha, ha.
- VI. Thou shalt do whatever lieth in thy power to encourage and promote the welfare of thine own town and thine own people.
- VII. Thou shalt not suffer voice of pride to overcome thee and if other towns entice thee consent thou not for thou mayest be deceived.
- VIII. Thou shalt spend thy earnings at home that they may return from whence it came and give nourishment to such as come after thee.
- IX. Thou shalt not bear false witness against the town within which thou dwellest but speak well of it to all men.
- X. Thou shalt keep these commandments and teach them to thy children even unto the third and fourth generation that they may be made to flourish and grow in plenty when thou art laid to rest with thy fathers.

Twenty-Eight to Ten.

Although the high school team of this city was defeated by this large a score the game proved interesting. For the first three innings Platts-mouth led by a score 6 to 0, but the Peru team changed pitchers and our boys went to pieces for one inning and let in twelve scores. Larson made three sensational catches on short and Minor made one in the field—juggling the ball before catching it. Fred Mann, the heavy hitter, knocked what deserved to have been a home run, but fell after reaching second and did not get any farther. The game was by no means errorless, and Normal did not show up in her best shape. They carry with them a nice lot of young men, who are after the state college pennant, but we are afraid if they do not do better they will never succeed.

A Big Time.

Cass camp No. 332, M. W. A., enjoyed a big time on Wednesday night of last week, an account of which was, in some manner, mislaid and in making up the forms last week was left out.

Four candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the order, and as usual in such cases, a large number of Woodmen were on hand to witness the fun. An invitation had previously been extended to several of the neighboring camps to be present on this special occasion, and a number were present from these camps. The drill team under the management of Harry Barthold, did most excellent work—the work of initiation. To enliven the situation there was a real live goat on deck.

The occasion was a most enjoyable one throughout. After finishing up the work of the evening, the visitors were taken into the banquet room, where refreshments were served and sometime spent in social chat. Those who were present from neighboring Mynard camp—C. E. Cook, Ben F. Horning, F. F. Oklenhausen, J. S. Hanna, Wm. H. Stokes, John F. Buck, A. S. Cox, G. S. Barker, Geo. W. Snyder, Roy E. Howard, A. A. Wetencamp, Glen Perry, V. E. Perry, A. E. Satchell, Geo. M. Hild, John Dietz, F. L. Hild, P. A. Hild, E. H. Barker, Albert Vallery, Thos. F. Ruby and Chas. D. Clapp.

Other camps—F. M. Phebus, Hardy, Neb.; J. M. Combs, Exeter, Neb.; Jacob Tritsch, Cedar Creek; Lloyd Gopen and O. Virgin, Murray; Charles Tucker, Nehawka, and A. B. Davis, of Havelock.

One of the visiting neighbors remarked in our presence that they "always liked to visit the Platts-mouth boys, because you can depend upon enjoying a good time."
