A VERY DESTRUCTIVE BLAZE

A Cass County Farmer Loses Barn, Contents and Outbuildings.

A special from Elmwood gives the following particulars of a serious loss by fire sustained by a prominent German farmer of Cass county: "Word has just reached here of a serious loss by fire last Saturday that befell Henry Hauschild, a German farmer residing seven miles southeast of Elmwood. A fine new barn he had just completed was totally destroyed together with one hundred tons of hay and all of his harness. The fire spread to close-by buildings, destroying a double corn crib and granary containing fifteen hundred bushels of grain, a large cattle shed, chicken house and buggy and wagon shed. By hard work of neighbors who came to the family's assistance the large two-story frame house was saved. The loss will be very heavy, as the only insurance he had was a thousand dollars on the new barn. He expects to rebuild at once, as soon as material and mechanics can be obtained. The origin of the fire is unknown. In this case it seems as though ill luck did not come single-handed, as only the week before Mr. Hauschild was thrown from his buggy and sustained a broken leg."

BRYAN IN WISCONSIN

Speaks at Milwaukee, Madison and Watertown in a Dash Through the State.

HE COMPLIMENTS LAFOLLETTE

Senator's Followers, He Declares, Are Unknowingly Democrats.

Accuses Money Magnates of Crime but Says the Law Has Demoralized Them—Other Political News.

Milwaukee, Oct. 18.—William J. Bryan arrived at Milwaukee about 2 p. m. and addressed a large gathering of people who had been waiting over two hours for him to appear at the Alhambra theater. Bryan was scheduled to speak at noon, but was detained on account of a misunderstanding of the arrangements. Bryan was given an enthusiastic reception. He spoke for the state and congressional tickets and dwelt at length on national questions, repeating many of his views as expressed in other speeches.

Money Magnates All Crooked?

Bryan concluded his speech as follows: "There is scarcely a great money magnate in this country who has not been found crooked in his business relations. It is all because when you allow a man to gather money by immoral means his nature becomes perverted, and he cannot see things in their right proportion. You allow predatory wealth not only to plunder the people, but you allow it to demoralize those who were its beneficiaries. They have debauched politics, they have corrupted business. Will you help us now to apply this remedy? You have a chance in the election of our Democratic friends to congress and you have a chance in the election of our state ticket, from Mr. Aylward down."

Journeys with LaFollette.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—William J. Bryan concluded his visit in Wisconsin by speaking here, having paid a short visit to Watertown en route. Nebraskan Misses Connections.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—William J. Bryan spent a few minutes in Chicago that were disastrous to plans laid for big receptions to him in Kenosha. He got his schedules tangled up so that he took a train for Janesville, Wis., instead of going to Kenosha, where 2,000 waited in front of the opera house for him in vain. It is said that a mistake was made at Lincoln, Neb., when mapping out his itinerary.

Workmen flocked from the factories to hear the Democratic candidate.

Beveridge at Logansport.

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 18.—Senator Albert J. Beveridge spoke here before a large audience, making his first political speech in the Indiana campaign. The senator devoted the most of the address to a discussion of the tariff. He made a plea for a limited tariff revision. He said there should be changes in some tariff schedules because the conditions those schedules were made to fit have changed, and putting it off might compel general revision.
