A Friend of Everybody.

Some men are very sociable and quick to form friendship with everybody they meet with. Without a formal introduction they talk and joke and are the center of every society. Everybody likes them—they are "good fellows." On the other hand, you find men cold and reserved, whose presence in a company means uneasiness and lack of cordiality. They hate company and people hate them, although in most instances they should not be blamed for it. They are sick. Their digestion is out of order. They cannot eat or sleep; they cannot enjoy life. Never allow a slight indisposition and a sour temper run too far, or else you will become a misanthrope. Use Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine at the first sign of some slight illness, loss of appetite, coated tongue, constipation, back ache, paleness, headache and nervousness. It will speedily correct the system, because it acts directly on the arteries with pure, healthy blood. At drug stores. Jos. Triner, 616-622 So. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.

ZOLA IN THE PANTHEON

Ashes of the Great Writer Rest Now in the French Temple of Fame.

ANTI-SEMITIC PROTEST IS VAIN

They Declare the Honor an "Insult to the Nation."

Cheers and Groans Greet the Procession Carrying the Remains to the Pantheon, but the Cheers Predominate.

Paris, June 4.—With elaborate ceremonies the body of the famous author, Emile Zola, was today placed in the Pantheon, the French Temple of Fame, the government making the function a state affair and the exercises being almost identical with those performed when the body of Victor Hugo, the last great Frenchman to be so honored, was transferred to the Pantheon. The realization that Zola was glorified not so much as a reward for his prodigious literary activity as because he was the first great leader in the Dreyfus affair, which routed the general staff of the army and forced France to purge herself of the charge of social injustice, revived whatever is left of the old animosities that ten years ago divided France into two camps.

Reactionaries in Bitter Protest.

This is apparent from the rage manifested by the former anti-Dreyfus papers, which today are heaping insults upon the memory of Zola as a traitor of France in his novels, and are crying that the translation of his remains to the Pantheon is a national disgrace. These reactionary agencies plainly are trying to provoke anti-Zola manifestations. In accordance with the arranged programme the remains which had been lying under a striking bust of the novelist in the cemetery of Montmartre, were borne last night in a simple hearse, followed by the widow and other members of the family and a few intimate friends in carriages to the Pantheon, where the coffin was placed upon a high catafalque erected in the middle transept beneath a high cupola.

Both Cheers and Groans.

Thousands of persons who had assembled around the Pantheon raised cheers and groans, the cheers predominating, as the hearse passed and an attempt by a few rowdies to start a hostile manifestation proved a failure. During the night the body was watched over by friends of the famous writer to prevent possible manifestations before the tomb.

Editor Declares It an Infamy.

The rabid anti-Semitic journal La Libre Parole published an extra denouncing the government and parliament in the foulest terms for ordering the "glorification of Zola," characterizing it as an infamy which will convert the Pantheon into a sewer. It appeals to the people to demonstrate against "this insult to the country and their faith."

SAYS HE WILL DIE INNOCENT

Man at St. Louis Who Has Just Been Refused a Pardon by Governor Folk.

St. Louis, June 4.—"I shall go to the scaffold, if God gives me strength, protesting my innocence. I am ready to meet my Maker, and it will not be long until others in the plot against me will follow. The fact that the man who first arrested me has committed suicide is evidence that retribution has started."

In these prophetic words William Jeffreys, when notified that Governor Folk had refused a third respite, announced himself as ready to forfeit his life on the gallows today at St. Charles. He will be hanged for the murder of William Wussler, a dairyman, April 5, 1905.

Battleships to Sail Monday.

San Francisco, June 4.—The battleships Maine and Alabama, classed as a special service squadron, will sail for Hampton roads next Monday morning by way of Honolulu. They are the first vessels to be detached from the Atlantic fleet, and will make the long cruise in advance of the flagship Connecticut and the others, arriving at Hampton roads Oct. 22.

Evansville, Ind., June 3.—Henry Roeder, a farmer living near this city, has picked 859 gallons of strawberries from a patch of three-quarters of an acre, and expects to get 300 gallons more. The berries picked have netted him an average of 25 cents a gallon, making $224.75. The 300 gallons which he expects to gather this week will bring him $75 more. Roeder says he will plant the patch in late potatoes and thinks he will raise 200 bushels or more.

STRICKEN AT PRAYER

That Was When Death Summoned the Son-in-Law of T. P. Shonts.

WITH HIS ARM ROUND HIS WIFE

As They Kneelt at Their Devotions the Blow Fell.

Late Duke Basely Maligned, Shonts Declares—Was Not a "Dope Fiend"—Widow in Good Hands.

New York, June 3.—On his return from Paris Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough Metropolitan company, declared that the reports that the death of his son-in-law, the Duke de Chauines, was due to indulgence in opiates were infamous lies. Shonts

THEODORE PERRY SHONTS.

said that the duke's death was caused by heart disease and that he was not addicted to the use of drugs. "The duke and my daughter were kneeling at their bedside in prayer," said Shonts, "when the stroke came upon him that carried him off before medical aid could be summoned."

Duke's Memory Maligned.

"The memory of the duke has been grossly maligning, and outrageous reports were printed about the manner and cause of his death. The facts are these: On the afternoon of the day on which he died the duke and my daughter were out riding. They dined together and then retired to their apartment early. They were kneeling close together and the duke held one arm about his wife's shoulders. Suddenly he lurched forward and then tumbled unconscious at my daughter's feet. He was a big man and she a slight girl, but she lifted him bodily on the bed and screamed for aid. He was dead before anything could be done for him."

Fearing for the Widow's Reason.

"Upon my arrival in Paris I found my daughter in an alarming condition. Until two weeks ago we feared that her reason had gone and would never return. It is just two weeks ago Sunday when the turn for the letter came. My wife and one of my daughters will remain with the duchess throughout the summer. The relatives of the duke have been more than kind to my daughter. They have vied with one another in trying to do for her. The duchess d'Uzes was more than a sister to her, so that she will be among sympathetic friends while she remains in France."

THE TALK OF ALL THE TOWN

"The District Leader" at the Parmele Next Monday Night.

The show that is going to set the town talking, singing and whistling is "The District Leader," which comes to the Parmele Theatre next Monday, June 8. "The District Leader" had its first production at the Wallack Theatre, New York, and it is a satisfying evening's entertainment of the light variety, and will greatly outclass many of the productions that have been more copiously heralded and is more highly acclaimed.

The story of "The District Leader" is an intermixture of melodrama, comedy and comic opera, with a vivacious bunch of show girls, which combination produces a happy effect. The melodramatic strain without the chorus girls and the ear tickling musical numbers might prove to be depressing, but the occasional introduction of these lessens the seriousness of the plot, when the opportunity for a heroic situation presents itself and the tragic ensemble gives way to the joyous show girls and the catchy music. Dan Lawton and Tim Holloram are rivals for political honors. The younger man is in love with his opponent's daughter. The father of the girl resorts to dishonest tactics in endeavoring to secure his election, the plan being to inveigle his daughter's lover to an opium den and then cause a raid upon the place, have the story printed in the newspapers on the morning of election day, and thereby cause his opponent's downfall, all of which gives ample opportunity for melodramatic effects, many changes of scene and a variety of costumes.

"The District leader" may well be called a "novelty," for it introduces many things that are really new. Among the song hits of the piece are "When You Go Out To Dine," "Way Down in Jersey," "So?" "A Heart to Let," "Sing Song Sammy Sem," "What's the Use of Dreaming?" "Won't You be my Girlie?" and "The Same Old Story." When it is said that "The District Leader" is the brightest and most pleasing entertainment yet given to the stage by Mr. Howard, it should count for much, as there are very few writers of late years who have turned out more genuine musical hits.
