THE CEDAR CREEK CASE

Continued Until the Return of County Attorney Rawls.

In district court Saturday morning the habeas corpus cases of Keenan, Wilson, Fernald, Andrews and Downey came up for decision. Attorney Sullivan during the week had taken statements from each of the plaintiffs relative to the testimony they gave before Justice Archer, and also their remembrance of the testimony of the prosecuting witness and his wife. The testimony had been taken before Court Reporter Travis and he had transcribed the same into typewriting, which Attorney Sullivan had incorporated with his petition as an exhibit. Attorney Clark, representing the prosecution, had filed a motion to strike this exhibit from the files and the entire morning was taken up in an argument upon this motion, which the court finally took under advisement.

It was suggested to Attorney Sullivan by the court, that he would accept the statement prepared by Sullivan as a transcript of the evidence before the lower court, providing the justice would certify to the same. This Justice Archer declined to do and it was upon the question of whether it could be considered as a transcript of the evidence by the court without this certificate. In order to solve the weighty legal problems involved, and more especially to give the county attorney a chance to familiarize himself with the details of the case, that Judge Travis took the matter under advisement. County Attorney Rawls is away on his annual vacation and it will be several days before he will return. As all matters in connection with the case have arose during his absence Judge Travis considers that he should be allowed to be heard in the matter before it is finally decided.

It might be added that the prosecuting witness and his wife, who furnished the evidence upon which the men were held, declined to recognize Attorney Sullivan's authority to have their testimony again taken and therefore no direct evidence from them was available.

A Double Wedding.

Wednesday after noon a double wedding took place in Nebraska City, and some of the contracting parties are quite well known here. One of the brides was Mrs. Bertha Cole, daughter of Mrs. E. C. Curtiss of this village, and the groom was Phines Curtis of Auburn, a young man who formally made his home here and is a brother of E. C. Curtiss. The other couple were Walter Huston of Auburn, and Miss Prudie Curtiss, the latter a sister of E. C. Curtiss.

The ceremonies took place in the county judge's office at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, Judge Wilson officiating. The happy couple returning to this village that evening and changed cars at this place, going via Weeping Water to Auburn. E. C. Curtiss of this village thinks he had his share of honor in those marriages, the two including his brother, sister and step-daughter.—Union Ledger.

Will Go to Washington.

Mrs. Rosa Hein and daughter will depart Monday for Omaha, where they will visit with friends for several days prior to leaving for Tacoma, Wash., where she will join Mr. Hein and make her permanent home. Mr. Hein is now employed in the electric light works at Tacoma, as an engineer, and reports himself much pleased with the country. The Journal will keep them informed upon the happenings in this vicinity.

A Genuine Heroine.

Miss Laura Tower proved herself a genuine heroine last Saturday A runaway horse belonging to J. R. Rummelfield came tearing down Fourth street until it reached the residence of John Schiappacase where Miss Tower lives. The young lady calmly walked out on the sidewalk and seized the nag by the bit stopping him in his wild career. She held him until help arrived and refused to consider herself a heroine at all. The horse broke the buggy up somewhat.

Lumber for Sale!

I have a quality of cotton wood lumber on hand at my place one-half mile east of the Missouri River Ferry in Iowa, which I will sell $16.00 per thousand feet. Lumber is in good shape, all lengths and widths. Address, Pacific Junction Ia, or Mutual Phone from there.

Bought Another Farm.

Jas. Sage who has been down in Oklahoma for several days returned Saturday night. He found things down there in fine shape and the prospects for a great crop the best ever seen. He was so taken with the looks of things that he bought another farm of One Hundred acres holding it to be the best investment he could make. Jim's farm there has turned out to be a great money maker.

Ray Pollard and wife of Nehawka spent Sunday, the guests of Chancellor Phillips and wife.

WHERE QUALITY COUNTS

A FLOATER DISCOVERED IN RIVER

A Burlington Time Check, Dated May 30, 1908, and a Gold Watch Found Upon His Person.

A ghastly discovery was made Saturday by John Boetel and Henry Fender, who were engaged in seining the river about one mile north of the pump house. While Fender was dragging the seine in close to the shore he made the gruesome discovery of a man's body lying in the willows, half buried in the muck and mire. He at once called the attention of Boetel and several younger companions to it, and they made an effort to uncover the corpse, only to find that it was in such condition that they could not touch it. It had evidently been in the water for some time, as the body was devoid of flesh, only the bones of the skeleton remaining. An effort to recover the body caused the head to separate from the body, leaving the headless trunk and limbs of the skeleton in one place, while the head was entirely separate.

The men and boys made a cursory search of the body in the hopes of finding something by which the remains could be identified, and in this they were partly successful, they discovering a Burlington time check on the man's person, and also a gold watch. The check was dated May 30, 1908, and bore the number 98231. The name of the payee, though, had been erased by the waters and all the writing was illegible. There was also a gold watch upon the person, and some six or seven pennies in the pockets.

The men took the check and watch from the remains and brought them down to the city, where they were turned over to Sheriff Quinton, who, this afternoon, in company with Undertaker Sattler, went up to the place where the skeleton was found and brought it to the city.

From its appearance the body had been in the water for not less than two months, and it was quite impossible to identify it, save by the check or watch number.

From several bridge men it is learned that one of their number disappeared some months ago up near Ashland, and they believe this skeleton to be that of the unfortunate man. The identification will soon be made, doubtless, as the check number can be located by the Burlington people.

Since the above was written the Burlington has kindly furnished the authorities here with the information that the time check No. 98231 was issued to J. P. Jensen, a bridegroom employed on the Burlington bridge gang under Foreman W. H. Hook. Jensen left the service of the company about the date of the time check, and doubtless was accidentally killed shortly after receiving the check.

The Season's Attractions.

Manager Frank Dunbar has kindly furnished the Journal with a list of the season's bookings at the Parmele. As will be seen the list of attractions is an unusually good one, including such standard attractions as the "Lyman Twins," "Human Hearts," "A Bachelor's Honeymoon," "Devil's Auction," "The Thief," "The Yankee Regent," and many other equally good attractions. The list so far is "A Stranger from Berlin," "The Texas Ranger," "Lyman Twins," "Human Hearts," "Why Girls Leave Home," "Hi Henry's Minstrels," "First False Step," "Jane Eyre," "Lyman Howe," "Ten Nights in a Barroom," "The Farmer's Daughter," "A Bachelor's Honeymoon," "Devil's Auction," "Ole Swanson," "The College Boy," "The Mountain Limited," "The Thief," "Black Beauty," "Rocky Mountain Express," "Miss Petticoats," "Montana," "A Royal Slave," "All on the Quiet," "Yankee Doodle Boy," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Uncle Zeke," "On the Bridge at Midnight," "The Yankee Regent," "The Royal Chef," "The Angel and the Ox," "The End of the Trail."

Fine Herd of Cattle.

Hon. W. W. Straub, of Berlin, was in the city today in regard to the stock show, and he is well pleased with the outlook. He has just had his herd on exhibition at Des Moines with the Iowa stock show where he came in competition with the best herds in the country. The Straub Brothers have one of the finest herds of Galloway cattle in the world and at the Des Moines show they captured the following prizes: Captain 4th, first prize for 2-year-old; first prize bull calf; first prize senior heifer; first and third prize on produce of cow; first prize on young herd; second prize on exhibitor's herd, yearling bull and cow. He met in competition with five other herds and won the best prizes. He will have his cattle at the stock show in this city in October.—Nebraska City News.

THE BELLEVUE COLLEGE AFFAIRS

Meeting of the Executive Committee, of Which Dr. Salsbury is a Member.

Rev. J. H. Salsbury was a passenger for Omaha Saturday, where he will attend a meeting of the executive committee of Bellevue College. This committee is composed of six of the general committee, and meets once a week and occasionally oftener. It has the general control of the affairs of the college. The general committee has two members from this city, Dr. J. T. Baird being the additional one. Rev. Salsbury explains that the affairs of the college are not in a very satisfactory shape financially and the executive committee has adopted a very broad and comprehensive plan for an extension of the field of activity of the college, adopting what will ultimately be an university scheme. They propose to establish a university in Omaha, leaving the Bellevue college to handle the preparatory work. Considerable trouble has developed between the college authorities and H. T. Clark relative to the title to the property at Bellevue, Mr. Clark being dissatisfied with the plans of the board for university extension, and threatening to invoke a reversionary clause which he had placed in the deed to the property, so as to defeat this move. It is hoped that the matter can be amicably adjusted so as to permit the expansion of the college and the up-building of a great university in the middle west.

Miss Claire Coleman has been entertaining a party of friends from Omaha for the past several days. The party included Miss Hortense Eads of South Omaha and Messrs Lyle, Jackson and Schafer the latter three gentlemen spending Sunday as her guests.
