HOLMES & SMITH

R. Hale, the genial night operator at Plattsmouth, is in charge of the M. P. station here, during the absence of Agent Scott, who is trying his luck in the land drawing at O'Neill.

The missionary society of the Presbyterian church met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Chas. Spangler. An interesting program was rendered and at the proper hour luncheon was served.

J. M. Holmes departed for Dallas, S. D., Tuesday, where he will register and take his chances in the land lottery. He was joined at Omaha by his brother, Troy, of Chicago, who will also take a chance.

Mrs. Rebecca Bedwell of Bolcow, Mo., who came up to attend the wedding of her grandson, Glen Boedecker, last week, will depart Friday for Lyons, Neb., to visit her sister, Mrs. Ella Harrison, ere she returns to her home.

The dance at the Jenkins hall last night was a success in every particular. There was quite a number of out-of-town guests present, and the colored orchestra of six pieces from Omaha was simply grand. They furnished the very best of music.

Dr. B. F. Brendel, accompanied Mrs. Albert Harn to Omaha Saturday, to have an operation performed, and from late reports she is getting along nicely, and a speedy recovery may be expected. Mrs. Harn is from Plainview, Neb., and is here visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Todd entertained a number at dinner Tuesday at their elegant home, in honor of Miss Baird, of Central City. Those present were W. A. Brown and wife; James Loughridge and wife; Mrs. Will Brown; Miss Mary Foster, county superintendent of schools, and Miss Jessie Todd.

The Fisher-Ship Concert company gave a splendid entertainment last Thursday night at the Presbyterian church. It was, in fact, the best entertainment ever given by the lecture association. Everyone says it was simply immense. The next number for the lecture will be Wickersham, one of the finest talkers in the country.

We are pleased to learn that our old friend, Ben Beckman, is improving. Dr. J. F. Brendel, who is attending Uncle Ben, says he is badly bruised all over the face, and that there are two very severe gashes on his forehead, but that he getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances. Uncle Ben has many friends in this vicinity who hope for his ultimate recovery.

ARE GOING GREAT GUNS

Cass County Democrats are Doing Their Share for the Campaign

Maybe the Cass county democrats are not going some great guns these days in the matter of contributions to the Campaign fund of the Democratic National Committee. This morning's World-Herald has the following list of good democrats in the county who have contributed. E. P. Davis, Union, 35-00, the following from Eagle have contributed one dollar each: L. M. Mielanz, Pat O'Holan, Emmett O'Holan, Dan Mahoney, Philip Faulhaber, H. N. Erskine, W. J. Erskine, Fred Herman, while Dan McGurdy of the same place contributes $2.00 and W. I. Foltz and David Foltz of Weeping Water contribute $4.00 each. In addition to this the following named gentlemen at Murray contributed $5.00 each to the cause, viz: D. J. Pitman, G. W. Shrader, and R. R. Nickles, Peter Campbell of Murray also contributed $2.00 while the following named gentlemen added $1.00 each to the fund: H. L. Oldham, G. H. Gilmore, J. I. Smith, W. S. Smith, D. L. Amick, Drs. Brendel, J. D. Schrader, W. A. Scott, J. K. Rhoden, J. E. Hatchett, D. C. Rhoden, J. A. Walker, J. H. Cook, S. O. Pittman, N. Slocum, H. C. Long, N. Klaurens, Charles Herren, C. A. McKeenolds, A. D. Rhoden, G. W. Rhoden, G. Nickles, Glen Vallery, W. W. Hamilton, W. R. Shepherdson, J. V. Pitman, Chas. Beveridge, Lee Nickles, Joe Kellogg, Lee Allison, W. R. Good, H. N. Schrader, Chas. Creamer, Jas. Chalfant, J. B. Seybolt, Val. Gobbleman, Chris Miller. This certainly makes a fine showing for the little city of Murray and its enthusiastic democrats and is an index to the way things are looking.

Wm. Rice and son, Louie, were Plattsmouth visitors Saturday, the latter being home from college over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brown are making a few weeks' visit at Villisca, Iowa, the guests of Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins.

A Narrow Escape.

George W. Shrader accompanied two car loads of stock to the South Omaha market Monday evening, and near the viaduct, while the train was in motion, he jumped from the way car. The train was running at a greater speed than he thought, and as he jumped, he was hurled to the ground with great force, his head striking a railroad tie, rendering him unconscious for about an hour. His son, Homer, who was with his father, also jumped from the train and went to the aid of his father, and thought for several moments that he was killed. When he revived he returned home on the first train south-bound, and at last accounts he had nearly recovered. It was a narrow escape to say the least, and Uncle George's many friends will be glad to learn, that save a few bruises, his injuries were no worse.

A Poor Discussion.

Senator-elect Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, last night addressed the voters of the city at the Parmele. Senator Jones is the man who defeated his republican millionaire opponent for reelection to the senate at the republican primaries in Washington last August. The bills calling his meeting were misleading in that they sought to impress the voters with the fact that he had defeated Senator Ankeny, a millionaire, without specifying the latter gentleman's political faith. For public information it may be stated Ankeny was also a republican.

There was an audience which comfortably filled the lower part of the house with a sprinkling around the edges of the balcony. A large proportion of the audience was ladies, and there were a number of children in the audience. They City Band rendered a number of good selections before the meeting.

Hon. R. B. Windham presented the speaker, making a nice introductory speech and raising some enthusiasm by the mention of the names of various republican heroes and candidates.

Senator Jones' address was of the typical republican campaign type. He devoted a little time to the tariff, a little less to injunctions and none at all to bank guarantee. He spoke along the familiar lines regarding Mr. Bryan and his theories of government using ridicule and sarcasm in dealing with the democratic chieftain. One omission which was much commented upon after the speech by many of his listeners was his studious avoidance of any reference to the panic of last fall and this summer, although he was free to predict very hard times if Mr. Bryan was elected. On the whole the speech failed to point out anything new or startling and only occasionally evoked anything like applause with the genuine ring to it. His references to Taft's record as a friend of labor, failed to arouse the expected applause. He made a noble effort to clear his candidate's record but evidently did not fill the bill. At the close of the meeting an effort to arouse enthusiasm resulted in a few cheers, after which the meeting adjourned.

An unfortunate feature of the occasion was the interruption of the speaker by parties in the audience—a matter to be deplored by everyone. A person who does not agree with a speaker should either remain silent or leave if the remarks are not to his taste, and remember that the speaker is entitled to his convictions as well as his audience. The interruptions furnished the only unpleasant feature of the evening.

For Chronic Diarrhoea.

"While in the army in 1863 I was taken with chronic diarrhoea," says George M. Felton of South Gibson, Pa. "I have since tried many remedies but without any permanent, until Mr. A. W. Miles, of this place, persuaded me to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, one bottle of which stopped it at once." For sale by F. G. Fricke & Co.
