whether such devolved upon the house and senate in joint session. When the question arose Senator Ransom of Omaha and "Crook-neck" Taylor, as he is called, a member of the house from Custer county, soon locked horns. Taylor opposing the idea of the joint bodies declaring the result on the amendments, and Senator Ransom defending the proposition. A hot debate ensued, every republican siding with Taylor, who pretends to be a democrat, and was a candidate before the democratic caucus for speaker. The caucus agreed unanimously to vote for the proposition, Taylor being a member of that caucus. After a hot debate of two hours with Taylor on the side of the republicans, but with Senator Ransom on top so far as the debate was concerned, an adjournment was taken from one to three o'clock. Lieutenant Governor Hopewell presided in the joint session, and after the adjournment the writer had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Hopewell, and found that he was reared in Worth County, Mo., where the Journal family resided so long. where we enjoyed the friendship of

The meeting at three o'clock again opened the ball on the constitutional amendments. After the introduction of several motions, it was decided to postpone action until next Tuesday. After which the vote on state officials was canvassed. Then the house and senate disolved until the appointed time. After which the house adjourned until tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

The inauguration of Governor Shallenberger will be largely attended Thursday, which occurs at 12

Made a Pleasant Call.

Louis Friedrich was a pleasant caller at the Journal office this afternoon and while here took care to have his subscription extended for another year. He also paid the subscription of N. L. Volk, Redford, Okla., and A. A. Schaefer, Pocassett, Okla. Mr. Friedrich is one of the pushing and enterprising citizens of Eight Mile Grove precinct and only recently was elected as one of the directors of the Farmers Elevator Company of Cedar Creek, a concern which has made so excellent a showing the past year, due largely to the efofrts of such enterprising men as Mr. Friedrich. He drove in this afternoon from his farm and will return in the evening.
