Burlington Crop Report.

Nebraska soil is in splendid condition for fall plowing, according to the Burlington soil and crop report. The weather has been favorable for the maturing of corn, and the quality will be generally good. The estimate now is that there will be 58 per cent of an average crop on the McCook division, 60 per cent on the Wymore division, 80 per cent on the Lincoln division and 85 per cent on the Omaha division.

Winter wheat which was planted early is up and looking excellent, and the work of plowing and seeding still continues. The acreage will exceed that of this year. Sugar beets are ready to harvest and show an excellent yield. The fourth crop of alfalfa has been cut in many places, and on the McCook division they are still cutting wild hay.

Potatoes will yield from 90 to 140 bushels per acre on the Alliance division of the Burlington, and on the Sheridan division will yield from 150 to 250 bushels. On the Sterling division potatoes in some places will be 200 bushels per acre.

Wyoming stock is in excellent condition because early rains last spring put the range in fine shape.

Robertson, Attorneys.

Cass County S. S. Convention.

The ninth annual convention of the Cass County Sunday School association will be held in the charming little city of Elmwood, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 26 and 27. This is an interdenominational meeting and is the only Sunday school gathering of the kind held in the county. It is characterized by the presence of the most successful Sunday school managers and teachers in the county, and its deliberations are becoming more important each year. This year's convention promises to be the most enthusiastic and most representative of any of its predecessors. The program is in preparation and will present some of the best Sunday school experts in this part of the state. The school that does not send a full quota of delegates will be much the loser. Any Protestant Sunday school in the county can send delegates. Elmwood will furnish free entertainment for all such. Remember the dates, October 26 and 27, and select delegates early.

Words of Thanks.

I take this method of returning thanks to all those who voted and assisted me in the diamond ring contest. Even though not successful in winning the first prize, I fell just as proud of the second. I want all my friends to know that I feel very grateful to them and highly appreciate what they have done for me. Yours truly, OLGA SATTLER.

J. M. Valentine of Manville, Wyo., was an over-night guest of his uncle, James Sage, departing for his home this morning. Mr. Valentine brought nine cars of sheep to the South Omaha market day before yesterday, and thought he would run down and see his old-time friends for a short time.

Clermont and Half Moon Weigh Anchor for Poughkeepsie.

GREAT DAY FOR NEWBURGH.

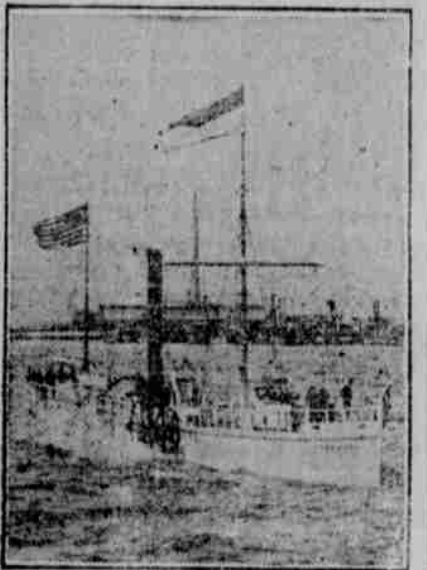

First Time in City's History That Armed Forces of Foreign Country Parade Its Streets—Commander Peary and Roosevelt in Naval Parade—Men of Fighting Craft Pay Tribute to Arctic Crew.

Newburgh, N. Y., Oct. 2.—The Clermont and the Half Moon, with their naval escort, weighed anchor for Poughkeepsie, where another day of celebration awaits them on Monday.

The vessels, which have played so prominent a part in the Hudson-Fulton week, were formally turned over to the keeping of the "Upper Hudson Fulton celebration." Mayor Benjamin McClung accompanied the distinguished guests to Newburgh and Governor Hughes delivered a brief address. Lieutenant Lam, impersonator of Henry Hudson; Charles S. Bullock, the Robert Fulton of the present Clermont, and representatives from the Netherlands were also introduced during the brief ceremony at the pier.

The steamer Trojan, carrying members of the legislature and state officials, was the first of the big boats to put in an appearance. She was followed by the Robert Fulton, bearing Governor Hughes and staff, Governor Prouty of Vermont and Mrs. Prouty, members of the Hudson-Fulton commission and other guests.

Beside the Clermont lay the Norwich of Rondout, N. Y., the "oldest steamer in the world," which for seventy-six years has been in active service. With her low hull no higher above the water than a shingle and her saw-pit engine, she presented a figure but little less curious than her prototype.

By the time the parade was ready to start the streets were packed with a dense crowd. It was the first time in Newburgh's history that the armed forces of a foreign country had paraded the streets of the city, and when the jacksies from the Utrecht of the Netherlands first swung into view along the line of march they were received with enthusiasm. The parade was similar to the one in New York, although on a smaller scale. On the reviewing stand were Governor Hughes and the other prominent visitors. The sailors and marines from the United States scouts and armored cruisers received a great ovation.

Ovation for Peary.

New York, Oct. 2.—New York city and Staten island gave Commander Robert E. Peary a welcome such as few returning heroes can hope to receive. From the bridge of his Arctic ship Roosevelt, Commander Peary, with his wife by his side, was the most prominent feature of the sixty-mile Hudson-Fulton naval parade from New York to Newburgh. All the ships vied with each other in hurling their congratulations to the little ship, on the bridge of which the tall, military-looking man smiled back his answers. Meanwhile Captain Bartlett was kept at work so incessantly with the whistle cord answering the salutes of passing craft that Chief Engineer Wardwell called up from the engine room that he would not have steam enough to move the vessel if they did not stop the whistle.

Children's Day in Hudson Fete.

New York, Oct. 2.—Today there were children's exercises in the Hudson-Fulton celebration, designed to fulfill the educational intent of the celebration, throughout all the boroughs of New York and shared in, it is estimated, by half a million school children. There were historical exercises at Stony Point battlefield, where an address by Governor Hughes and the dedication of a monument by the daughters of the Revolution, took place. Tonight comes the carnival illuminated parade of fifty street floats.

Andy J. Snyder.

A. J. Snyder (that sounds like a Republican name, but A. J. is a Democrat) was here from Murray. Mr. Snyder is out for the office of register of deeds on the Democratic ticket. An amusing incident came under our observation regarding Mr. Snyder. He gave his card to a certain Louisville Republican. About twenty years ago the Republican in question was thrashing in Mr. Snyder's neighborhood. One dark night while moving the separator it tumbled into a ditch with the Republican under it. He needed help, and it didn't matter to him just then whether it was a Republican, Democrat, pop or cold water prohib; just so he got out. Snyder assisted him in the niche of time. "So you are the fellow that pulled me out from under the separator, are you?" asked the Republican. "Well, if you get but one Republican vote this fall you may depend on it that I cast it. I will never go back on a fellow who once saved my life."—Louisville Courier.

At the Burwood, Omaha.

"Girls," by Clyde Fitch, with the firm name of Shuberts as producing managers, is about the best inducement the most critical theater-goer desires, and, needless to say, thousands have profited by witnessing the play at Daly's theater, where it ran for a year. "Girls" is a comedy that would compel "Sober Sue" to more than smile. It is constructed along strictly original lines, and brimful of situations that compel laughs to flow incessantly, and while this seems to be the author's objective point, he has not overlooked the sentimental or serious side. "Girls" contains a pretty love story so cleverly interwoven in the plot—which is not disclosed until the end—that the interest does not lessen. "Girls" is a tonic for all ages and many a girl will profit by the good, wholesome lesson it teaches. "Girls" comes to the Burwood theater, Omaha, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Matinees Sunday and Tuesday.

The Booster Pledge.

"On my word of honor, I here and now declare, that as long as I remain a resident of this community it will be my constant aim to boost it all the time. I will do all I can for any public work or improvement that has the good of the community for its object. I will submit to the majority rule and won't knock and howl my head off when things are not always my way. I realize that if this community is good enough to make any money in it, it is the proper place to spend it again. I am resolved that I will hereafter buy everything at home that I can; that I will patronize my home paper and that I will always try to say something good about my town and my people, or I will keep my bazoos shut." Clip out this pledge and paste it in your hat.

Mrs. Chapman informed the writer that the operation mentioned in yesterday's Journal upon her son, John Chapman, will not take place for a few days. The doctors agreed that it would be best to wait a little while.

Asleep on the Rail.

Officer Perry McGuire was down through the Missouri Pacific yards yesterday afternoon and found a man from Nehawka asleep on the rails of the main line of the Missouri Pacific, and escorted him to jail. The man only had three pint bottles and a half pint stowed about his clothes, having on two coats, and besides that he had on a load of joyful that had knocked him out. He went along quietly with the officer, and said that he did not care, because the Missouri Pacific always paid his fines and took care of him. Had the officer not happened along at the time he did the chances are that the coroner instead of the police judge would have been hearing his case this morning. He will be given a chance to work out his fine on the rock pile.—Nebraska City News.

Large Stock of Overalls.

C. E. Wescott's Sons take some pride in exhibiting their large stock of overalls. This progressive firm have on their shelves one of the largest stocks outside the big cities. They can fit any purchaser from a 3-year-old up to a man of 300 pounds and a girth of 54 inches. Every known pattern and style, viz: Bib, high back, waist and pantaloons overalls are represented. An eastern traveling man was in the store a day or two ago and was surprised at the great stock carried in a town of our size. The greater part of the overalls were purchased of Hanna of Okaloosa, Ia. Mr. Hanna owns a fine farm near this city.

Keeps Apples a Year.

C. E. Cook reports that he has on hand from last year's crop of fruit, apples of the Jonathan variety, which he has kept over a year. C. E. has a splendid cave in which to store his apples, but that Jonathans kept for that length of time is something unheard of by the writer, unless in cold storage.

Undergoes Operation.

John Chapman, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. S. M. Chapman, and his sister, Miss Helen, went to an Omaha hospital for an operation for appendicitis this morning. John came home very ill last Saturday, and Dr. Livingston was called, but the disease had not developed so far but it might yield to treatment without the use of the surgeon's knife. But later symptoms convinced them that the best thing to do was to submit to an operation.

Farm for Sale.

A 102-acre farm for sale; good improvements; seven miles south of Plattsmouth and four miles northeast of Murray. W. H. RAKES, Plattsmouth, Neb., R. F. D. No. 1.

Will Tunison of Malvern, Ia., was over a few hours Monday. Mr. Tunison formerly conducted a lunch counter in this city.

"I've been buying my clothes in Omaha, paying $15, $16.50 and $18 and getting 'crackin' good suits."

I need a suit and overcoat this fall. Heard so much about your new store and about how you're selling such good suits at a low price thought I'd come in."

That's what a man said in our store this week. He was the easiest man that we've sold in some time, bought a suit and overcoat. He was a judge of quality and style.

We sold him a "crackin' good suit" for $16.50 all wool, good style and guaranteed to hold its shape and color. We were both happy, he got more than he'd been getting for his money, and we had made an honest profit. Come in, we'll show you more patterns in your size than you've ever been shown.

All wool suits $10 to $30.
