

ANSWERS THE LAST ROLL CALL

Horace B. Kinne, a Former Citizen of Plattsmouth Passes Away at Benson.

The following from the Silver City Times gives an account of the death of an old civil war veteran, who, for many years resided in Plattsmouth, and who was well known by many of our people as an honest, upright citizen. While a resident of this city he lived with his daughter, Mrs. Mary A. Vroman, who removed from this city to Benson, where the old veteran passed over to the Great Beyond:

"The body of H. B. Kinne was brought here Tuesday morning from Benson, Neb., for burial. The services were held at the Baptist church and were conducted by Rev. George A. Campbell of Benson. He was assisted by Rev. G. A. Barker. Burial was made in the Silver City cemetery.

"Horace A. Kinne was born July 26, 1821, at Norwich, Shenago county, New York. He was married May 30, 1841, to Miranda Wheaton at the same place. There were four children born to them, three of whom survive him—M. H. Kinne and Helen M. Seagrave of Spokane, Washington, and Mary A. Vroman of Benson, Neb. Eleven grandchildren are left to mourn his death. His wife preceded him in death fifteen years ago. Very shortly after her death, Mr. Kinne suffered a second stroke of paralysis from which he never fully recovered. Another stroke came last Sunday and caused his death which occurred Sunday afternoon.

"Mr. Kinne served in the civil war as a member of Company C, Illinois Volunteers. In 1861 he was paralyzed and in 1862 he was discharged at Louisville, Ky., and sent home on crutches. The deceased was for years a respected citizen of Silver City and his many old friends will be sorry to hear of his death. He lived the long and useful life of a Christian gentleman."

Letter From Ex-Senator Thomas.

The Journal is in receipt of the following interesting letter from former Senator S. L. Thomas which will prove interesting reading to the Journal's good friends:

Long Beach, Cal., July 5, '10.
Editor Journal:
I am breaking the long silence, but only on my part as the Journal reaches us twice a week and tells us what our friends are doing where we lived for so many years.

The thirty-five living in Long Beach who used to live in Plattsmouth are well with the exception of Mrs. Dr. Darned and his family are living in Long Beach. The pioneers of Cass county will remember Mr. Reed, he and his brothers took the first territorial claim at Cullom where the B. & M. station is now and in 1856 sold their territorial right to Peter and Dan Beaver, Mr. Reed came to Long Beach from Ulysses, Neb., and as well as all the rest of us from Nebraska are delighted with the climate here. One of Mr. Reed's sons has charge of the revenue in Alaska, he spending the winter here with his father.

The pier here that reaches out 1,800 feet into the ocean from the shore line with the huge posts on the outer end was torn in two by the huge breakers that had been battling against the insensibility of man for twenty-four hours, when in the afternoon about nine hundred feet from the shore the structure was torn in two, leaving a gap of about seventy-five feet. It was witnessed by about 60,000 people who were here attending the Fourth of July celebration. This pier had for years withstood the storms and waves but in the past twenty-four hours the fury increased until it collapsed. S. L. T.

Search Omaha Pawn Shops.

Friends of Mrs. Harriett MacMurphy in this city have learned that her residence in Omaha was broken into on Monday, July 4th, and considerable jewelry and other stuff taken. Among the articles taken was a gold watch given by Mrs. MacMurphy's father to her mother some seventy years ago. This was a fine timepiece but was valued particularly high by Mrs. MacMurphy on account of the associations connected with it. A search of the pawn shops in Omaha resulted in disclosing the watch as having been pawned within a short time after it was taken and it was recovered. There is every probability of getting the thief now as the police have a description of him. It is the belief of many that a search of the Omaha pawn shops might reveal the whereabouts of the three watches taken from W. J. Streight's residence here on the 4th and it is probable that such a search will be made before it is too late. So far no clue to the man who entered Mr. Streight's house has been obtained.

Insane Man at Large.

It is reported that a man named Ed. Harris several days since became demented at his home on the east side of the river and became so bad that a nurse was required for his care. On Thursday night last when the nurse was asleep, Harris escaped from him and wandered out into the high weeds which line the roads and covered the country in that locality and that he has not yet been found. He was in a very weak and emaciated condition and it is thought that he may have wandered about in the weeds and fallen down where he has since perished. It was not believed that he could have wandered to the river as his house is about a mile and a half east of the stream. All day Saturday and Sunday parties beat up the country in an effort to find him but their efforts as reported, seemed unavailing. The man was in desperate condition and could not stand much exposure.

Since the above was in print the Journal learns through its good old friend Joe H. Smith of the real facts in the matter. The man's name was James Harris and he had been ill for some time. He had spent one term in the asylum at Clarinda, Ia., and he had great fear of being returned to that place. Last Saturday morning he slipped out of bed about two o'clock while his sister and Steve Howard who were setting up with him, went to sleep and since that time no trace has been found of him. A large party estimated at one hundred in number has been scouring the country and the streams in that part of the county including the water at Black bridge were dragged but without avail. The marks of bare feet were found at the ferry landing which are thought to have been the marks of the missing man. There is a fear that he may have leaped into the river and drowned himself.

The Ball Game Sunday.

A nice sized crowd yesterday afternoon wandered out to the Chicago avenue grounds and saw the Plattsmouth team and the Alameda team of Omaha go ten fast inning to a tie. The game was a good one and thoroughly satisfied all those who saw it. Both teams played good ball and in the main fielded cleanly and neatly, although each secured one of their rubs on errors at critical times. The pitchers for both teams were in very good form and held the batters safe at critical times, giving some pretty exhibitions of clever pitching.

Mann won the honors for Plattsmouth with a screaming home run to deep center field in the third round. He hit the ball a mighty swat which caused it to get up and hike for the high places and before it could be found and returned he was safe on home. He is recovering his batting eye and from now on it is safe to say he will be one of the mainstays in the hitting line on the team. One of the Omaha players duplicated his feat and got a home run in nearly the same spot, although his was not as clean as Mann's and he might have been halted at third had the ball been promptly fielded. However, it evened the game up and satisfied the crowd. The local team found the Alamedas the fastest team they have yet encountered and that they played so strong a game proved a surprise. The Plattsmouth team was coming strong at the finish and was battling the Omaha pitcher freely when the game was called to enable the visitors to take the train for home. The final score was Plattsmouth—2; Omaha—2.

Another Jail Bird.

From Wednesday's Daily.
Marshal Cam Seybert of Louisville came down this morning, bringing with him Frank Wanamaker who was bound over to keep the peace by the justice of the peace of that village. Frank it appears got on some kind of a rampage several days since in Louisville and issued an ukase stating what he intended to do to many of the good people of that municipality and what kind of a general cleaning up he proposed to put on. Some of his prospective victims were more or less timid, and filed the complaint which he could not explain satisfactorily to the justice who fixed his bonds. He was unable to secure sureties for the same and in default had to go to jail, Marshal Seybert bringing him down to this city for that purpose. Cam has been having quite a time during his term as marshal and has made an able and efficient officer. He has maintained the peace in Louisville in a manner highly creditable to himself and with honor to the position.

Not Improved Very Much.

From Wednesday's Daily.
The condition of George Wilson, the man who attempted to commit suicide several days ago, is reported by Sheriff Quinton as being not much improved so far as his mentality is concerned. He is plainly partially demented and it is probable he will have to be confined in an asylum for treatment before he can recover. His injuries were not serious and do not nearly seem so bad as the mental condition.

Sustained Broken Arm.

Tom Siodock yesterday sustained a broken left arm while trying to stop a fractious horse. He was in a wagon when the horse scared at something and started to run away. He held on the reins and was seeking to get the animal under control when one of the reins broke in two and he saw that his chance of controlling the animal was rapidly getting away from him. He leaped from the wagon and in so doing was thrown to the ground, coming down with such force as to snap the bones of the left forearm. A surgeon had to be called in to set the injury and it will be several days before he can get to work again. The animal nor wagon were injured.

A Former Citizen Visits Here.

Cal. Bradshaw of Farnam, Neb., who is postmaster at that point is spending the day making a visit with Robert Troop and wife. Mr. Bradshaw was a resident of this city at one time, having left here for Farnam twenty-five years ago. He has held the official position of postmaster at that place for the past thirteen years and has made an excellent record in the place. He has a great many good friends here among the old timers who will be glad to welcome him back for a brief visit at least. He was in attendance upon the postmaster's convention in Lincoln and took advantage of the opportunity to run down to his old home for a visit.

Remains Will Arrive Friday.

Mrs. C. H. Parmele this morning received word from her daughter, Mrs. Nellie P. Agnew at Long Beach, Cal., that she would arrive in this city at 5:35 a. m., on the M. P., on Friday, July 15, bringing with her the remains of Mrs. Dr. Darned whose death was noticed in the Journal of Saturday. Mrs. S. H. Atwood also accompanies her, together with Dr. Darned. Arrangements have not yet been made for the services in this city and an announcement of the same will be made just as soon as possible.
George Cook, the harness maker of Murray, was in the city this morning for a few hours looking after business. He came up on the morning train and returned at 10:25 to his home. While here he called at the Journal office and paid the editor a very pleasant call.

Craighead. "And tell your friend that we shall be with him in the courts." A murmur of voices arose from the court, and lights flashed out, illuminating the roof.

"I can't go," said Carson. "I must speak. I was wrong not to tell you of your mistake, but I loved you from the moment I picked you up from the sand and carried you into the cabin."

"I promise nothing," she whispered, "except to consider—Oh, Theodore, go, go! Please, for my sake, go!"
Her face was upturned in pleading, and he kissed her mouth, once, twice, and as her door crashed in he gently released her, leaped into the car with Craighead and threw on the clutches. The aeronef, rising, soared above the great house and sped off into the night amid the whizzing of bullets and the crackling of firearms.

LOUISVILLE.

(Courier).
Mrs. C. A. Richey gave a lawn supper on the Fourth to a number of little girls, which was greatly enjoyed by them.
John Rohrdanz went to Omaha on Thursday to bring his wife home from the hospital, where she underwent a serious operation recently. She is getting along nicely.
Frank Heim is here this week from North Dakota visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Heim. He says there will be a short crop in Dakota unless rain comes soon.
Miss Olga Ragoos, head trimmer in a large millinery store in Creighton, is home for her summer vacation. Miss Hulda Ragoos is also home from the Peru State Normal, where she has been attending school.

A visitor to Louisville remarked that there were more automobiles seen on the streets here in a day than any town of its size he had ever visited. This either denotes prosperity or that our people have wheels in their heads.

Enough Louisville people went to Plattsmouth to help out on the big Fourth doings there to justify the Burlington in running a special back with them at 10:30 p. m. There were two coach loads of the merry-makers.

At the Fourth of July celebration at Plattsmouth, Uncle Henry McMaken had relatives of four generations of his family in line in the parade and three of them were in his buggy. Uncle Henry is one of the youngest boys of Cass county and a proud man he was on the Fourth.

A Proud Father.

Ex-Councilman Wm. Mendenhall was cutting up again a whole lot yesterday and the cause was one which quite justified him in his actions. He became the proud father of a fine buxom girl baby and this was a good and sufficient excuse for him to cut some capers. He was wearing that smile which said event has made famous the world over and which is guaranteed to be all wool and at least a yard wide. Billy is a mighty proud father these days and his wife is just as proud a mother. It is pleasant to say that both Mrs. Mendenhall and little Miss Mendenhall are doing nicely.

Threshing Machine For Sale.

Owing to the fact that my work is in such shape that I will be unable to run my thresher this season, I have decided to offer the same for sale, and at a price that is right. This outfit consists of a 13 h. p. Gaar-Scott engine, one J. I. Case 32-52 separator, self feeder and wind stacker, also water tanks. This outfit will be sold at a bargain if taken soon.

HE MADE FOR THE ANGLE BETWEEN TWO DARK WINGS OF THE GREAT HOUSE.

I couldn't say you had no place to go. I wanted you, and I didn't think of anything that—that could remind me of—of your reputation—
"Mr. Craighead, tell your friend," went on Virginia, and her voice now faltered, "that I shall consider what he says and that I shall cease to be angry by ceasing to remember him. And now go!"
"We are here for no bad purpose," said Theodore firmly, "and we shall not fly."
"Foolish boy!" cried Virginia. "They will confine you at their pleasure through officers that can act legally and study the airship and steal your creation. Go, I beg of you—go!"
There were a knocking at the door and loud voices demanding admission. Virginia extended her hands imploringly as she spoke, and Theodore seized them.
"I will go," said he, "when you tell me when I may see you and make my explanations. I have the right, Virginia!"
"Oh, oh!" she cried. "You are cruel! You are putting the blame of your ruin on me! Go, go!"
"When may I see you again?"
"When you have won your fight for the Virginia," answered she, "when the fruits of your genius are saved to you—if you will go at once—or when you are completely ruined, maybe!"
"Hurry, old man!" cried Craighead. "They're putting up ladders."
Shayne's voice was heard outside the door, giving orders that it be broken in, and some person hurled himself against it unavailingly. A hat cap appeared above the roof, and as the man under it mounted the ladder, carrying a pistol, Craighead seized an overturned chair and, screwing its legs into the breast and face of the scaler as he fired a shot, dumped him neatly into the arms of three or four servants in the court, after which he examined the chair leg, shouting, "No meat on it; I shall starve!" and threw the chair down after the man. Leaping into the car, he shouted to Carson to come or he would have to walk.

The discharge of the pistol admonished Theodore of the seriousness of his situation and emphasized Virginia's pleading. He clasped her in his arms. She feebly pushed him off, but yielded to overpowering force.
"I shall come again—for your love."
