A DREADFUL DIS- EASE OF CHILDREN

Infantile Paralysis is Baffling
Medical Science.

It is asserted on medical authority that infantile paralysis is spreading. Medical men are not agreed as to the cause of this new disease nor as to the proper method of treating it. It is certainly a baffling question for scientific men to solve. In October of last year the disease became epidemic in Kansas City and since that time it has spread almost over the entire country. Dr. Simon Flexner of the Rockefeller Institute of New York, took up the question and the first tests proved that it was not a blood disease. A portion of the spinal cord of a child that had died of the disease was transplanted into the vertebra of a monkey. Almost immediately the animal fell ill. Its leg began to shrivel and it grew more and more helpless, just as a child does when seized by the disease. Finally the monkey died of anterior poliomyelitis and its brain and spinal tissues were studied under powerful microscopes for the purpose of discovering, if possible, a distinctive microbe. There was no trace of any such to be found. Further experiments, however, disclosed the fact that some germinal agent existed in the nervous membranes, and although too small for the microscope, it was actively infectious. As soon as a bit of the spinal column of one paralyzed monkey was transferred to another, that monkey invariably fell ill.

The disease is essentially one of childhood, although adults occasionally contract it. The average age of those attacked is between two and three years of age. The youngest age in last year's epidemic in Kansas City was eight months and the oldest was thirty-one years.

The latest theory concerning this disease is that the buffalo gnat carries it and causes its spread. This is only a theory that is in process of development. Certain it is that it comes from somewhere.

In the event of any child showing symptoms which are usual to the beginning of an attack of poliomyelitis, such as fever, pain, constipation, vomiting, etc., remember that while these symptoms may mean only a passing disturbance, yet they may be the first stage of infantile paralysis. Call a physician at once, and meantime keep the child quiet. If the child seems to recover almost wholly in two to four days, do not permit watchfulness, for in poliomyelitis the initial symptoms, after lasting two to four days, often disappear for a day or two to be followed then by a return of the symptoms and paralysis.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of disease, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

PLANS INCREASE IN PEN- SIONS OF OLD VETERANS

An increase in pensions for the civil war veterans is the object of an organization which is to be backed by all the veterans in Douglas county. Representative of 600 old soldiers met in Baright's hall Tuesday night and endorsed the measure known as the National Tribune Pension bill. W. H. Green was elected chairman of the meeting and Curtis C. Guild secretary, and a committee of Colonel Green, Charles Allen and J. H. Penson was appointed to write to the senators from Nebraska and to candidates to enlist their support. A mass meeting will be held in two weeks.

The bill endorsed provides for a pension to be paid all veterans of the civil or Mexican wars; $15 a month for those over 62 years old, $20 for those over 65, $30 for those over 70 and $40 for those over 75. If this act is passed it will not prevent a soldier from drawing any pension that he may now draw if he prefers it to the new claim, but none will be allowed two pensions. Widows of veterans who married them since 1899 will not be allowed pensions and questions of rank will not be considered. —Omaha Bee.

Wahoo Democrat: Some of these newspaper men who are working over time to defeat Dahlman by saying all sorts of discreditable things about him, are giving him the boost of the campaign. The American voter is an individual that takes early exception to vituperation, and his sympathies are universally with "the under dog." This sort of a campaign, if continued to election day, will give Dahlman 20,000 majority, if he should finally be the nominee.

Mrs. Steve Barker Recovers Slowly

From Wednesday's Daily.
John McNurlin was in the vicinity of Mynard yesterday and near the home of Mr. Steve Barker, whose wife was injured Monday by being thrown from a buggy and met the doctors Brendel who had been to see Mrs. Barker. The doctors told Mr. McNurlin that they could not determine yet whether Mrs. Barker would recover, as her condition had not changed but little since their first visit Monday. They were unable to say at this time what the extent of Mrs. Barker's injuries were.

GOOD MOVE FOR COMMERCIAL CLUB

Put Ban on Advertising Fakery
and Fly-by-Night Program Men.

One of the worst evils encountered by the newspaper or job offices in the average mid-west town, is the loss of business given to fly-by-night advertising fakery by the merchants of the place. For years protests and appeals have gone up from newspapers and trade publications against this evil, pointing out that if the merchants of the city desired to advertise, they should patronize the newspapers and job offices of their home town first.

That the merchants of Beatrice have finally woken up to the injustice of this long common practice, and at a recent meeting of the commercial club of that city, passed the following set of resolutions:

Appreciating the large amount of money wasted on doubtful advertising schemes, we hereby agree that hereafter we shall decline to patronize all such so-called advertising. Among the things which we will not patronize or support under any circumstances are the following:

The city directory, unless it published in Beatrice.

Hotel registers, desk cards, card cases, room cards and similar devices.

Cook books, society or church programs, blank books, time cards and other similar devices.

Race track programs, base ball score cards, etc.

Newspaper schemes of every character when presented by traveling promoters or agents other than those regularly employed by Beatrice papers.

Irregular publications and circulars issued wholly or chiefly for the purpose of selling advertising space. This paragraph shall not be interpreted to prohibit circulars issued by the merchants themselves.

When programs or announcements in connection with local charities, or meetings, conventions or assemblies held in or near Beatrice are presented to us, we will refer them to the secretary who will present each proposition to the advertising committee for approval or rejection.

In the case of programs, etc., for meeting held in the vicinity of Beatrice, preference shall be given to those where the local association in charge of the meetings gets the full benefit of the profits from the advertising, and we recommend that the amount of advertising be limited to simply cover the cost of publication.

We will also refer to this committee all propositions which appear to be questionable, whether they are named in this agreement or not.

The foregoing resolutions could be made just as applicable for Plattsmouth as they are for Beatrice, and if the commercial club of this city would pass similar regulations for use among the merchants, justice would only be done the newspapers of this city, who at all times are working for the interest of the merchants themselves.

Death of C. W. Close.

From Wednesday's Daily.
C. W. Close who had been for twenty-three years connected with the Voegel & Dinning confectionery manufacturing company and a resident of the city for twenty-five years, died last evening in the Stoker house 821-825 South Twenty-fourth street, aged 51. The body will be taken Thursday to Fremont, O., for interment. Mr. Close is survived by his widow, two sons and two daughters, one of the sons, Robert, being a traveling man for the Voegel & Dinning company.—Omaha Bee.

The deceased was well known in this city where he has been coming for many years, representing various wholesale houses, and where he has many friends who will regret his demise.

J. C. AYER COMPANY, Lowell, Mass.

UNIVERSAL 'PHONE BILL WILL BE THE RESULT

From the attitude expressed by attorneys on both sides in the argument in supreme court Monday on the modification of the injunction now existing against the Bell company and from the questions asked by members of the court, it seems certain a universal telephone physical connection bill will be introduced in the next legislature and will take near the top of the list of important measures.

Both interests have tried to attach their toll lines to opposition exchanges. The connection of a toll line with an exchange gives the line a terminal of no less value in the telephone business than good terminal facilities are to railroads. With a compulsory connection law every exchange in the state would offer its patrons toll service over two toll lines, extending long distance service to the territory occupied by both telephone systems.

The telephone men will demand that a provision be inserted in the proposed law that the wishes of the subscriber shall determine over which of the two toll lines a message shall be routed.

It is asserted that such a law would tend to quiet conditions in the telephone world as it would take away the incentive for much of the harsh and fierce competition that now exists between the two interests for the possession of terminals.

A referee will be appointed to take testimony in the suit whereby the state hopes to oust the Bell company from the state, but there is yet no hint of who this referee will be. The supreme court has said that it will appoint the referee itself unless the state and the defendant attorneys agree upon some one. The position is one well worth going after, stenographic ability and some knowledge of the law being required in the referee.

The Nebraska Bell company filed its answer to the injunctive proceedings Monday night, setting forth nothing new, however, than what had been adduced during the Bell arguments in supreme court during the day. It is asserted that the state does not allege facts sufficient to constitute a cause for action and asserts that if the complainant is injured that damages can be secured in a court of law.

The court did not decide today whether it would grant the modification sought by the Bell company, the members of the court failing to meet. The Bell interests want the injunction so modified that they can make toll lines connection with the Plattsmouth, Papillion and Nebraska City exchanges.

The Lash of a Fiend would have been about as welcome to A. Cooper of Oswego, N. Y., as a merciless lung-racking cough that defied all remedies for years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes, "nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now." Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lungs, la grippe, asthma, hemorrhage, whooping cough, hay fever or croup. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. Doing a Big Business.

From Wednesday's Daily.
W. A. Lindsay of the Hilde and Tallow Supply company of Council Bluffs, Ia., was in the city yesterday and sold the popular firm of Kunsman & Range a large bill of supplies for their extensive meat trade. Mr. Lindsay says this firm buys like a packing house. Enough sausage casings were sold to the firm yesterday to make a string of sausage end to end reaching from Council Bluffs across the state of Iowa to Davenport. There was a bill or lard palis that would last an ordinary shop for two years. Speaking of the quality of the sausage, Mr. Lindsay says he uses only the sausage made by this firm, as he has been about the sausage room and knows that it is all right.

IOWA TRUCK VENDOR GETS TOO MUCH BUG JUICE

C. M. Kidder, vegetable vender from Iowa, was in the city last evening with a load of produce and after supper having imbibed a bit of Glenwood whiskey and afterwards mixed the drinks with Plattsmouth beer, had visions of wealth, and going to the Patterson & Thomas garage, stated that his wife was dying in an Omaha hospital and that it would be worth $50 to him to be landed in Omaha as speedily as possible. An auto was speedily brought forth, oiled and shined, ready for the race. All of this occupied but a short time but when the machine was ready for the spurt, the passenger did not show up. Mr. Thomas had an inkling that his customer had gone to the M. P. depot and he determined to see him at least, and in company with Chief Rainey and Night Police Trout, he started for the M. P. station but overhauled Mr. Kidder on the way and found him in the act of attempting to pull down the telegraph wires, probably intending to send a message to his dying wife. The man acted otherwise singularly and the police brought him in and threw him in the city prison. This morning he was taken before the police judge who heard the evidence and from the symptoms, the judge concluded it was a plain drunk with hallucinations, for which for the first offense, the precedent of $5 and costs was followed. Mr. Kidder was released on his own recognizance with the understanding that as soon as he had realized sufficient on his load of produce, to pay the fine and costs, he should do so. The night's loading was donated to him.

Auto Causes Runaway.

From Wednesday's Daily.
This forenoon while Peter Kell's team was tied in front of Bach's store at the foot of Main street, an auto rushed from the east through the viaduct coming on up Main street, causing Mr. Kell's team to take fright and break their halter straps, and take a spin about the street. The frightened team ran across Main street, turned in front of the Bach ware rooms and dashed north between the Burlington station and the park on the west, and were stopped by some bystanders near the station, doing no damage except giving the animals a scare. Fortunately no one was in the rig or a serious accident would likely have happened.

Mrs. L. A. Newland Very Sick.

Miss Blaine Newland went to Bartlett, Ia., on the morning train today to see her mother, Mrs. L. A. Newland who is very low from an illness which she has had for some time. Mrs. Newland is staying with a daughter at Bartlett, and for the past three weeks has been bedfast, and for a week has not been able to help herself in the least.

In Making Flour

there is just as much difference as there is between mills and millers. Some mills are equipped to make poor flour, others good flour, and a very few such flour as "Forest Rose."
