THE HOME OF SATISFACTION

BUYS ANOTHER QUARTER SECTION BEFORE LEAVING

Gust Bomeister, of near Pocasset, Oklahoma, who has been visiting the Goos and Soennichsen families and other relatives in Platts mouth and vicinity for two weeks, departed for his home this morning.

The relatives here regretted to see Grandpa Bomeister depart so soon, as all enjoyed his visit immensely, but he had become so accustomed to his Indian neighbors down there that he became quite lonesome away from them. He did not depart, however, until he had purchased another quarter section of fine land from Ed Gansemer. The land lies near Mr. Bomeister's farm, and he thought himself fortunate in securing this addition to his Oklahoma possessions. Mr. Bomeister is well pleased with the new country and has much confidence in its future.

LITTLE DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. BOETEL DIES

Edna May, the thirteen-months-old daughter of Mr. Claus Boetel, died this morning after an illness of three weeks or more. The little tot was first attacked with a severe case of whooping cough which later developed into capillary bronchitis, from which the little one passed away at about 6:30 this morning.

The anxious parents had nursed the little one with a great deal of care, and yesterday morning thought her condition slightly improved, but last night the disease seemed to be sapping away the little life, and this morning the end came. The funeral will probably occur tomorrow afternoon from the residence. Mr. and Mrs. Boetel have the sympathy of the community in their sad loss.

The funeral will occur tomorrow, Friday, afternoon at the Christian church at 2 o'clock. Rev. Ratcliffe conducting the service.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES ACTIVE IN EFFORT TO GET LAWS PASSED

Several Important Bills Said to be Backed by Them Have Already Been Offered in the Lower Branch of the Legislature.

The assertion is now made by those interested in preventing legislation against the railroads that four or five bills can be directly charged to their efforts. With railroad managers the feeling is growing that they are being made to stand a cross fire, coming from the labor unions who insisted recently on an increase in pay and made the demand from the organizations of all the roads in the west on the managers of all the roads; and from these same forces from another quarter asking for legislation that will affect the roads, some say seriously. Four or five bills now before the legislature are said to be backed by trainmen and other organized employees of the Nebraska roads.

Bill No. 33 is designed to fix the kind of freight caboose cars used. The bill fixes the minimum length of such cars at 24 feet exclusive of platforms; the strength as equal to that of 60-ton capacity freight cars; platforms not less than 24 inches wide suitably equipped with rails and grab irons and steps; car to be 12 feet in height, equipped with cupola and necessary closets and windows. The date at which this bill shall become effective is fixed at June 1, 1914, and the railway commission is given power to make such extension of time as may be deemed necessary.

In behalf of the railroads it is said that caboose cars are being equipped with closets and other needed conveniences, and that the standard of size is being raised as rapidly as these cars go into the shop. Very few cars of the 4-wheel "bouncer" type are used by Nebraska roads. It is claimed the basis of complaint comes from two recent seasons of rush business when the number of trains run was greater than equipment could be provided for and the roads impressed into service improvised cabooses made from box cars. During the seasons of rush business Nebraska roads frequently ran passenger coaches attached to freight trains where cabooses could not be provided.

House roll No. 53 relates to service letters from employing railroads, making it necessary to give employees letters showing service record and cause for discontinuance in the service.

Railroad authorities say this would be a dangerous law for them. Men are let out of the service occasionally for drunkenness, short changing the company and violation of the rules. It is held that such letters might involve the company in costly legal proceedings, and that service letters are refused only for good cause. On the other hand employees say that men are sometimes let out without just cause and they desire some protection.

House roll No. 71 relates to the hours which railway employees may work, fixing sixteen as the maximum and providing that employees working this number of hours must have ten hours' rest before going on duty again. The provision is made that in case of unavoidable accident or casualty resulting from an act of God the law shall not be operative. It is made the duty of the railway commission to enforce the law.

It is said this law is very much like the national law applying to hours of labor for railway men. The railroads of the west are now living up to the law and are reporting violations of it by its employees to the interstate commerce commission.

House roll No. 135 is designed to prevent railway trainmen from taking orders from a train dispatcher direct over the telephone. At many places on the lines in this state operators are not maintained at all hours of the day. When a train arrives at one of these stations it is often convenient in the expedition of train movements for the dispatcher to give the conductor an order that will permit him to move his train to the next station ahead of a following train, or in the face of an opposing train.

In behalf of the railroads it is claimed that a trainman not competent to receive and receipt for such an order is not competent to run a train; that the opposition comes from trainmen who do not want to assume this responsibility and from operators who desire to see more of their fellows employed. It is said that the passage of this law would increase the cost of railway operation in the state without corresponding benefit.

CHANGES ASKED FOR IN NEBRASKA GAME LAWS

Dan Gellus, state game warden under the administration of Governor Shallenberger, has secured the introduction of bills embodying the recommendations made in his biennial report. Most of these are changes in the game laws which have already received hearty indorsement from the sporting fraternity.

One provision is for a universal sportsman's license of $1.10, the 10 cents to be retained by county clerks. The proposed law provides that all persons must have such a license to hunt anywhere in the state except upon their own land.

The use of nets is restricted to overflow ponds and such waters as fish cannot survive in. The game warden is authorized to permit selling for fish destructive of game fish. He is also authorized to permit the killing of beaver, where the animals are cutting down trees and doing other serious damage.

The storage of game, unlawful for anyone to have in his possession, is made unlawful. The sale of all fish, but carp, buffalo, suckers, hickory shad and gar is prohibited. The open season on bass is changed to extend from April 1 to November 15. Open season on game birds is as follows:

- Prairie Chicken and Grouse—September 1 to November 30.
- Quail—The month of November.
- Ducks and Geese—September 1 to April 5.
- Plover and Doves—July 15 to August 31.
- Snipe—September 1 to May 1.

It is made unlawful to have in one's possession more than ten prairie chickens at any time or to kill more than twenty-five other game birds in a day or have more than fifty in one's possession.

New Interest.

We feel, sometimes, as if we had lost interest in everything, even in life. We hate society, we do not enjoy anything. This is a serious symptom of sickness, which, in most cases, has its seat in the digestive system, and which should be attended to at once. We can sincerely recommend you to take Triner's American Elixir of Bitter Wine, which will clean out the whole system, strengthening it at the same time. The brain will receive new nourishment in the form of pure, rich blood, the mind will become clear, you will have energy and a new interest in life. Use this remedy, when nervous, despondent, when without appetite or easily tired out, constipated or when you have difficulties after eating, eructations, pain in the stomach or bowels, headache or backache. At drug stores. Jos. Triner, 1333-1339 South Ashland avenue, Chicago, Ill. medical advice by mail gratis.

Threatened With Appendicitis.

Miss Catherine Doney was seized with an attack of appendicitis last evening, and for a time her physician, as well as her parents, were very solicitous as to the outcome. This morning her symptoms were not so alarming and it is hoped that she may be brought through it without going to the hospital for an operation.
