DOES NOT BELIEVE HUNTER IS GUILTY

Hunter Was at Work for McMaken & Son at Clarinda Up to Last Thursday Morning

From Saturday's Daily.

The story of Alex Hunter's wife to the Council Bluffs police after the woman was arrested, in company with an old junk dealer, with whom she had left her home at Pacific Junction, is not credited in some quarters. Guy McMaken, for whom Alex Hunter has been working ever since the death of John Wagner, came over from Clarinda, Iowa, yesterday morning, having left the workmen Thursday evening. Alex Hunter was there when he left, and unless the Mills county sheriff went after him yesterday, he was yet working for McMaken & Son on their Clarinda contract.

Guy does not believe Alex had anything to do with the Wagner tragedy, and says that Hunter has not given any evidences of guilt, or guilty knowledge of the crime of murder. Hunter came to the job Tuesday, October 17, and on Wednesday evening asked Guy for $2 to be applied on his wages, as he stated that he had left but little cash with his wife to get supplies for herself and the children. The money was paid him and he at once procured a post-office order for the amount and sent it to his wife, showing Guy the receipt. On the following Saturday Hunter went to Guy again, this time with a letter in his hand from a friend, informing Hunter that his wife had deserted his home and children, going away with an old junk dealer from Council Bluffs, and telling Hunter he had better come over and get the children.

Guy let Hunter have $5 and he at once left for the Junction and Guy did not see him again until last Monday, when he returned to his work, where he remained, and, as stated above, was still on the job when Guy left Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Phillip Harrison received a letter yesterday announcing the death of her stepmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hollister, which occurred at Ely, Nevada, on October 16. Mrs. Hollister was quite well known in this city, having lived here a great many years, where Mr. Hollister held the position of baggagemaster for the Burlington, later removing to Lincoln, where Mr. Hollister died about four years ago.

After the death of her husband Mrs. Hollister went to Ely, Nevada, to make her home with her daughter, at whose home her death occurred. The following account of her death is taken from the Ely (Nevada) Mining Expositor:

"Mrs. Elizabeth Hollister, mother of Mrs. H. A. Code, whose husband is baggageman on the main line passenger train, died very suddenly this morning at 9:30 of heart trouble, at her daughter's home in Central Ely. Mrs. Hollister had just finished dressing when she fell to the

TRIBUTE TO A GRAND GOOD MAN AND RECTOR

Receives Floral Offering on Behalf of Missouri Valley Association of Michigan Alumni.

Canon Burgess, rector of St. Luke's church, was the recipient of a beautiful floral gift yesterday afternoon, presented to him by Hon. R. B. Windham, vice president of the Alumni Association of the University of Michigan, as a representative of the association.

Canon Burgess graduated at the University of Michigan in 1858, and on account of illness was unable to attend a recent meeting of the alumni association, which met in Omaha, and to express the high regard of the association for Canon Burgess this floral token was sent to him by Mr. Windham. The following note was appended to the flowers:

"October 27th, 1911. Rev. H. B. Burgess, Plattsmouth, Nebraska: My Dear Brother—At the request, and on behalf of the Missouri Valley Association of Michigan Alumni, I deliver to you this floral offering, and with it a full expression of the sympathy of each of its members in this hour of affliction. They hope and pray that you may again be restored to health, that your life may continue to be a blessing to others for many years to come. Sincerely and affectionately,

"R. B. Windham, Vice President."

A Pleasant Caller. From Saturday's Daily.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McNurlin and their daughter, Miss Dora, came in this morning from their home in Mt. ## W. L. BAKER, A STRANGER, ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF TAKING COAT AND VEST

R. L. Propst, of Mynard, Owner of Property, Misses Same, Telephone Constable G. P. Barton at Union to Arrest Baker on Arrival of Train at That Place, Which Was Done.

From Saturday's Daily.

Constable George P. Barton came in last evening from Union, bringing with him one W. L. Baker, who was charged with purloining a Sunday coat and vest from R. L. Propst of Mynard. The prisoner is a stranger in the community and had worked for Mr. Propst for a day or two, but left suddenly yesterday on a south-bound freight. The young man had not been gone long before Mr. Propst discovered his loss and immediately suspected the stranger.

On his way to the depot at Mynard Mr. Propst accosted Don Rhoden and informed him of what had happened and of the unfortunate circumstance of losing his good clothes. Mr. Rhoden had seen the stranger going to the train and had interviewed him, learning that he was in quest of a job, and gave Baker a letter of introduction to a grading foreman at Weeping Water, who was seeking drivers. Mr. Rhoden advised Mr. Propst to phone Constable Barton at Union, and on the arrival of the freight, place

Baker under arrest, which was done, and later he was brought before Judge Archer, who advised the officers to take the matter to the county attorney. Mr. Taylor being absent from the city, Baker was lodged in jail until today.

The county attorney took the matter up this morning and found that nothing could be done until afternoon, when R. L. Propst would be in and identify his property and make a complaint. It could not be determined until Mr. Propst was interviewed whether the charge against the prisoner would be petit or grand larceny or burglary. The value of the garments taken would determine the first, and the fact of whether or not he broke into the house to secure the coat and vest would determine the crime of burglary.

The chances are that Baker is up against a term at Lincoln, as no farmer, considering the present price of wheat and corn, would have a Sunday coat and vest that cost less than $35, the amount required to constitute grand larceny.

MRS. H. H. HOLLISTER DIES IN ELY, NEVADA

The Wife of Ex-Baggagemaster of This City—Lived Here Many Years.

From Saturday's Daily.

Mrs. Phillip Harrison received a letter yesterday announcing the death of her stepmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hollister, which occurred at Ely, Nevada, on October 16. Mrs. Hollister was quite well known in this city, having lived here a great many years, where Mr. Hollister held the position of baggagemaster for the Burlington, later removing to Lincoln, where Mr. Hollister died about four years ago.

After the death of her husband Mrs. Hollister went to Ely, Nevada, to make her home with her daughter, at whose home her death occurred. The following account of her death is taken from the Ely (Nevada) Mining Expositor:

"Mrs. Elizabeth Hollister, mother of Mrs. H. A. Code, whose husband is baggageman on the main line passenger train, died very suddenly this morning at 9:30 of heart trouble, at her daughter's home in Central Ely. Mrs. Hollister had just finished dressing when she fell to the floor. Dr. Gleason was called, but life was extinct when he reached the home.

"Mrs. Hollister was 75 years of age and was apparently in the best of health when she retired last evening. The funeral will be held from the Code residence tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock."
