FALLS ON SIDEWALK AND BREAKS ARM

James Williams the Unfortunate Person, Who Will Be Laid Up for Some Time.

James Williams, who has been driving delivery wagon for Zuckweiler & Lutz for a number of years, had the misfortune last night to fall and fracture the bone of his left arm. The accident occurred about 7 o'clock, when Mr. Williams was returning from the barn, where he had just fed his team. He had reached his own premises and fell on the walk in front of his home.

Dr. Cummins was summoned and dressed the injury. Mr. Williams rested but very little last night, so great was the pain. It will be some time before he is able to resume his duties again. Mr. Williams is 65 years of age and the fracture will not knit as rapidly as for a younger person.

District Contests Going On.

Miss Mary Foster, county superintendent, returned from Union and Nehawka Saturday, where she held most interesting contests. At Union, on Thursday, a very interesting contest was had, participated in by the schools adjacent to the village, as well as the Union school. The oral arithmetic and ciphering contest was won by Elma Hall of district No. 11, and the spelling contest was won by Hallie Dowell of district No. 12. At Nehawka on Friday an enjoyable meeting was also had, and an interesting time with the pupils. In this contest Justin Strum won the ciphering contest and Pearl Schlichtemeier won in spelling.

You Can Get Tickets.

The Fiddlers' Contest is the next big event for Plattsburgh local talent to display its genius. This will occur in the Parmele theater February 16, and if the applications for participants continue to come in, as the indications seem to point, there will not be sufficient room on the stage to accommodate all of the show. Tickets can be purchased this week from John Nemetz, J. C. York, John Cory or L. G. Larson, and reserved later. There will be a big rush for seats and the capacity of the house is limited. You will be lucky if you get in.

Special Train on B. & M.

The Burlington will run a special train from Plattsburgh to Louisville Thursday, February 8, leaving Plattsburgh at 6:30 p. m., and returning, leaving Louisville at 11:30, or after the wrestling match is over. This train will stop at Cullom and Cedar Creek, going and returning. 2-5-5td.

A TRIBUTE.

(Written for the Journal.)
Murdock, Neb., Feb. 1, 1912.

Although our court officials are paid a reasonable compensation for services rendered, and most people might regard this as all the consideration they should have, yet a public recognition and appreciation of the same may not be out of place. The writer was a careful observer of the official conduct of all those connected with the present term of the district court of Cass county, and had I any enemies to punish or any favors to curry, what I may say would be out of place. But since either is not the case, I may be pardoned for a few complimentary remarks regarding the various court officials.

Your Honor, the presiding judge, has been known by the writer for more than a quarter of a century, and it has been with pleasure we have noted his steady advancement in his chosen profession and the marked fairness he has shown in his judicial decisions and the uniform courtesy he has displayed toward all who had business in his court.

The county attorney, whose geniality is contagious, is deserving of a goodly degree of credit for the efficiency he has manifested in securing the conviction of the violators of the law, and certainly the county is to be congratulated in having chosen to look after its legal business a gentleman possessing such sterling qualities as are embodied in the legal defender of the county's rights. We bespeak for Mr. Taylor a bright future in the profession upon which he has entered. A goodly degree of praise is due the sheriff for his alertness in ferreting out and securing evidence against criminals and the uniform efficiency he has shown in the discharge of the duties connected with his office.

It would be superfluous for me to offer any words of adulation to the clerk of the district court. His fifteen or more years of continuous service in this capacity is more of an encomium than I could render to his ability to fill this office to the general satisfaction of the entire county.

The court is favored by a very competent reporter, who discharges his duty with dispatch and accuracy. We would not omit in our commendation the bailiffs, who had the disagreeable duty of watching the jurors and other suspicious characters.

Of the jurors I am too modest to speak, allowing their verdicts to assign them that degree of commendation or approbation which they deserve.

An Optimist.

Court Reporter Earl Travis accompanied his father, Judge Travis, to Nebraska City this morning, where court convenes today for Otoe county.

Watch It Grow.

At the call of C. A. Rawls, chairman of the committee to take subscriptions to the Y. M. C. A. and sell membership tickets for the same the committee met at Mr. Rawl's office last week and mapped out the territory and allotted the work, and on Monday morning of this week the committee began the campaign to raise the required $2,000.

A careful estimate has been made of the necessary outlay to get the necessary working material to carry on the enterprise as it is done elsewhere, and the completion of the enterprise will reflect credit on the town and those who reside in Plattsburgh. The Journal will print the list from day to day and we will all be interested in watching the list grow. Two of the leading fraternal organizations of the city have started the list with nice contributions as follows:

Coming Soon.

President of the Plattsburgh Commercial Club T. H. Pollock has just received a letter from E. V. Parrish, manager of the Omaha Commercial club, informing Mr. Pollock that the seed corn special will start on its tour of the state February 26. Mr. Parrish asks for the hearty co-operation of local commercial clubs and business men, as well as farmers, so as to secure the largest possible attendance of farmers of each community on the arrival of the train. As soon as the train schedules are made up the gentlemen having charge of the field work will visit Plattsburgh and take the matter up with Messrs. Pollock and Tidd, president and secretary of the Plattsburgh Commercial club, and arrange to advertise the date the special will be in Plattsburgh. The services of the Omaha Commercial club are tendered Mr. Pollock, to be available in any manner possible to aid in the good cause. Good seed corn is what the farmers want next season, and a great deal of money can be saved to the farmers and to the country by this movement looking to a careful selection of seed for the coming planting season.

Walter Speck in Town.

Walter Speck of Council Bluffs, who was seriously injured while switching in the yards in that city for the Great Western on Christmas morning, was an over Sunday visitor at the home of his mother yesterday. Walter returned to work this morning, the first time since the accident, which was caused by the railway company's train backing upon him. He was knocked down, his head severely cut and was otherwise bruised and battered. Walt says the company settled with him by giving him $500 cash and a lifelong job.

Died in England.

Mrs. Harry Johnson is in receipt of a letter from her sister in Skipton, England, informing her that their mother, Mrs. Mary Lawn, passed away at her home on the 15th of January. Mrs. Lawn was 75 years of age. Mrs. Johnson had not seen her mother for twenty-eight years, but she had hoped to go to England this summer and see her before she died. The deceased leaves three daughters and one son, all of whom reside in Skipton, England, except Mrs. Johnson.

OLD HOME WEEK AT THE GAYETY

Omaha's Own Comedian, Ed Lee Wroth, at the Popular Gayety All Week.

There has been much speculation regarding the "Futurity Winners," that much-talked-about racing play, which will be the prominent feature of the "Ginger Girls," scheduled for the week of February 4 at the Gayety, Omaha.

Fear was expressed that it would be almost impossible to carry a number of horses, machinery and mechanical devices in conjunction with the already heavy equipment of the "Ginger Girls," and the expense of an additional crew of twenty clever mechanics has likewise been taken into careful consideration. However, it is a Hurtig & Seamon attraction, which means that obstacles and excessive expenditures are unknown, if it is a matter of enriching an attraction. So the master builders of extravaganzas went to work, and created out of the original twenty-minute sketch a gorgeous spectacle, a hilarious hodge-podge of thrilling, stirring and most animated scenes, so true to the real happening on Futurity day that the audiences make books and place bets among themselves, while the bewildering racing scene is occupying every corner of the stage.

"Janitor Higgins" will certainly accompany the "Ginger Girls" again, but he will appear in an entirely new makeup, polished up for the new season and supplied with new store-batteries of fun. Of course, everybody knows that there is but one "Janitor Higgins" and that is Ed Lee Wroth, Omaha's native son, who is the particular star of this famous group of merrymakers. In his company are Jane la Beau, America's most foremost prima-donna in extravaganza; Frank Wakefield, to well known to require any special introduction; Beatie Evans, Winifred Green, Owen Martin, Frank C. Carson, Al Weston, Lew Elber, Gus, Roeber, Al Dwinell and others.

Those who are regular patrons of the Huhtig & Seamon attractions do not have to be told that the chorus ladies selected by that enterprising firm for their road shows must have all the requirements of feminine loveliness. The thirty young women of the "Ginger Girls," who will be seen in the score of musical and dancing ensembles to best advantage, represent every type of beauty from loveland. Ladies' dime matinee every week day.

Governor Morehead.

Governor Aldrich was out of the state several days last week, during which time it was Governor Morehead. But with characteristic modesty the acting governor did not put in appearance at the executive office, having no desire to appear officious, or make any show of authority. Governor Morehead has pursued this same policy on other occasions of Aldrich's absence, only once having been called in for some special service. In this connection it might be well to remark that Governor Morehead has never drawn salary but for two days of all the days of Aldrich's absence from the state, as the records at the state house will show, though he is entitled to every day of it. This has been left for Aldrich to draw and there is no evidence that he shed any juicy tears for the dear down-trodden taxpayers while attaching himself to unearned salary. His ideas of economy were evidently overcome for the time being by his craving hankering to encompass the state's simoleons. The Herald prints this little story to show in a measure the bigness of the man Morehead and the corresponding littleness of our noisy four-flush governor.—Lincoln Herald.

Will Sell Durock Hogs.

Every farmer and stock raiser should be interested in good hogs, and the Durock-Jersey breed is one that cannot be excelled in many of the vital points of what it takes to make a good hog for the farmer. The Durock hog is hardier and will withstand the diseases to which swine are subject better than any other breed, and they are by long odds the most prolific hog and will raise more pigs to the litter than any hog on the market. V. E. Perry, residing five miles southwest of Mynard, has been raising this breed of hogs for years and has some fine individuals of these hogs which he will put in his sale of February 26. Mr. Perry will sell at this time 85 head of Durock-Jersies, and anyone raising hogs cannot afford to miss his sale. The sale will commence at 1 o'clock and will be cried by Col. William Dunn of Weeping Water.

In Judge Archer's Court.

Judge Archer entered judgment this morning in favor of the plaintiff in the forcible detainer case of Harry C. Todd vs. John Gray, giving plaintiff a right to a writ of restitution for the dwelling house occupied by defendant last season.

The little child of Robert Wells, which has been sick for some time, was better yesterday, but was reported not so well again today.
